The Mixers: One of the CBA's expansion teams who has gotten off to a respectable start both on the court and in the stands. They are averaging around 1800 fans in Lima, Ohio as well as fighting for a first place spot in the Central Division.

John Nillen was an assistant coach and scout with the Denver Nuggets before taking the Mixers here this past summer.

Leading the Mixer charge this year is guard Dwight Anderson, the leagues number two man in assists. He is also top ten in steals with 2.7 per game and is number 14 in the scoring department with a 22.7 average. Big man Horace Wyatt ranks 6th in rebounding hauling down 10.7 per game. Recently acquired Steve Trumbo has been a pleasant surprise. Trumbo started the season with the Utah Jazz before being released.
