LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

DAVID A. ANDREWS

PRESIDENT & CEO,
AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

TheAHL.com

Dear Fans,

It is my pleasure to once again welcome you to a new American Hockey League season, the latest chapter in a tradition of excellence that dates back to our founding in 1936.

The AHL remains proud of its role in developing the vast majority of players, coaches, executives, trainers, broadcasters and officials who you see throughout the National Hockey League. Since 1936, our great fans have been able to cheer for blossoming NHL stars, future Stanley Cup champions, and more than 100 eventual members of the Hockey Hall of Fame.

We are coming off of a record-setting year on and off the ice, capped by the Toronto Marlies' memorable run to the Calder Cup championship. And the 2018-19 season is sure to be another exciting one, as we drop the puck in an all-time high of 31 cities across North America.

Welcome to our new fans in Colorado, and thank you to all of you for your continuing support of the AHL.

Sincerely,

DAVID A. ANDREWS
PRESIDENT & CEO | AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

David A. Andrews President and Chief Executive Officer

Entering his 25th season as President and CEO of the American Hockey League in 2018-19, David Andrews remains one of the most influential executives in hockey and all of minor professional sports. He has guided the AHL into unequaled times of prosperity, seeing record levels of attendance and exposure while expanding its geography across the United States and Canada.

Under Andrews' leadership, the AHL has redefined itself as the sole primary development league for the National Hockey League, serving all 31 NHL organizations. Nearly 90 percent of all NHL players and every current NHL referee have now come through the AHL. Andrews continues to manage countless relationships with cities, owners and NHL affiliates to grow and maintain the AHL through challenging economic times: In 2001, he led one of the largest expansion efforts ever in pro sports -- a complex enterprise of bringing six new cities into the AHL as the rival International Hockey League folded, and in 2015, Andrews brought to a successful outcome the complex process of relocating teams into five markets in California, an enterprise which will continue to develop and strengthen the game on the Pacific coast.

Andrews has also contributed to the growth of hockey by working closely with the NHL on rules innovations -- such as hybrid icing and 3-on-3 overtime play -- and player safety initiatives including mandatory visors for all skaters.

The AHL's footprint has grown dramatically during Andrews' tenure, with successful franchises throughout North America and in major markets such as Chicago, Toronto, Cleveland, San Antonio, Charlotte, Austin, San Diego, Milwaukee and San Jose. Andrews has also worked to ensure the league's continuing success in smaller historical and traditional markets like Rochester, Springfield, Hershey, Syracuse, Providence and Binghamton.

League attendance has climbed dramatically under Andrews' leadership, more than doubling from 2.9 million in the final season before his term began in 1994 to an all-time record of more than 7.1 million in 2015-16.

The league and its teams -- in the regular season and in marquee events like outdoor games, the annual AHL All-Star Classic and the Calder Cup Playoffs -- have been showcased to audiences worldwide during Andrews' tenure on television (through the years airing on national networks such as Sportsnet, CBC, TSN, NHL Network and ESPN2), on satellite radio and on the Internet through live on-line video streaming. Andrews was instrumental in re-introducing the All-Star Classic in 1995 after a 35-year absence, and coordinated the unique 2014 event that saw the AHL's best host renowned Swedish club team Färjestad BK.

As a result of Andrews' direction and leadership, the AHL boasts an impressive list of corporate partners who have used the growing AHL as an effective tool for marketing their products and services, highlighted by a historic partnership with Reebok that has become the foundation for the league's marketing, licensing and on-ice branding strategies.

In recognition of his accomplishments, Andrews was named a 2010 recipient of the prestigious Lester Patrick Trophy, presented annually for contributions to hockey in the United States. He has also been honored with induction into the British Columbia Hockey Hall of Fame in 2005, and the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame in 2006.

A native of Nova Scotia, Andrews assumed his duties as AHL President in July of 1994. He came to the league office with a first-hand knowledge of the AHL, having served as the Edmonton Oilers' director of AHL operations for seven years, building the Cape Breton Oilers franchise into one of the most successful AHL clubs both on and off the ice. The Oilers captured the 1993 Calder Cup championship and missed the playoffs only once in six seasons. The Oilers set a league record with 36 sellouts during the 1990-91 season, and they sold out 118 games in a four-year span from 1989-93. Andrews received the 1990 James C. Hendy Award as the AHL's outstanding executive.

Prior to joining the Oilers, Andrews was employed by the government of Canada as a senior consultant with SportCanada. In that position, he was responsible for providing direction to five national Winter Olympic sport organizations in the development of the national team for the 1988 Winter Olympic Games in Calgary. Andrews' hockey background includes serving as head coach and director of hockey operations for the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League from 1982-84, and he served as an assistant coach for the Cougars when they represented the WHL in the 1981 Memorial Cup. He has also served as head coach of the 1982 Canadian National Under-18 Program.

Andrews was the Hockey Development Coordinator for the Province of British Columbia from 1975-80. He served 10 years on the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's Developmental Council and was chairman of the coaching committee for CAHA during that time. During his playing days as a goaltender, Andrews was a conference all-star and MVP at both Dalhousie University and the University of British Columbia. He played four years professionally for RAAK in the Dutch first division.

Andrews also currently serves as Vice-Chair of the Hockey Canada Foundation and as chairman of the selection committee for the Order of Hockey in Canada. He and his wife, Marleen, have three children -- Chrissy, Brad and Jeff -- and six grandchildren.

THE BEGINNINGS

Marking its 83rd season of play in 2018-19, the American Hockey League is continuing a tradition of excellence that began in 1936 when the Canadian-American Hockey League merged with the International Hockey League to form what is today known as the AHL. Eight teams hit the ice that first season, playing in Buffalo, Cleveland,

New Haven, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Providence, Springfield and Syracuse.

Frank Calder, the National Hockey League's president at the time, was instrumental in the forming of this new league, and his name would be given to its championship trophy. The first Calder

Cup was won by the Syracuse Stars in 1937; the most recent championship was captured by the Toronto Marlies last spring.

From those roots, the American Hockey League has grown into a 31-team league that provides fans with exciting, high-level professional hockey while preparing thousands of players, coaches, officials, executives, trainers, broadcasters and more for careers in the NHL

▶ THE PLAYERS

In today's National Hockey League nearly 90 percent of the players are AHL alumni, including 2018 Hart Trophy recipient Taylor Hall of the New Jersey Devils, Vezina Trophy winner Pekka Rinne of the Nashville Predators and Lady Byng Trophy winner William Karlsson of the Vegas Golden Knights. The 2018 Stanley Cup champion Washington Capitals were stocked with AHL graduates, including former Calder Cup winners Braden Holtby, John Carlson and Jay Beagle.

During the 2017-18 season, a total of 856 AHL alumni played in the National Hockey League. There were 328 players who skated in both leagues last year alone, including Nashville's Juuse Saros, Philadelphia's Travis Sanheim, Toronto's Travis Dermott and Vegas's Shea Theodore.

In addition, nearly 230 former first- and second-round NHL draft picks developed their skills in the AHL last season, including Dylan Strome, Alex Nylander, Filip Chytil, Colin White, Luke Kunin and Jack Roslovic.

▶ THE LEGENDS

For the past eight decades, the American Hockey League has been home to some of the greatest players in the history of our sport.

In fact, more than 100 honored members of the Hockey Hall of Fame have been affiliated with the AHL during their careers.

All-time greats like Johnny Bower, Toe Blake, Gump Worsley, Terry Sawchuk, Glenn Hall, Brad Park, Ken Dryden, and Brett Hull came through the AHL ranks and now find themselves enshrined in Toronto, and the coveted Calder Cup is inscribed with the names of legendary AHL alumni like Patrick Roy, Larry Robinson, Gerry Cheevers, Andy Bathgate, Tim Horton, Al Arbour, Emile Francis, Doug Harvey, and Billy Smith.

▶ THE COACHES

At the start of the 2018-19 season, the National Hockey League featured 23 head coaches who were former AHL bench bosses, including 2018 Stanley Cup winner Barry Trotz, two-time champion Mike Sullivan and 2016 Calder Cup winner Jared Bednar. Tampa Bay's Jon Cooper, Detroit's Jeff Blashill, Minnesota's Bruce Boudreau, Toronto's Mike Babcock and Columbus's John Tortorella also spent time in the AHL before making the jump.

IN THE AHL...
I WOULDN'T TRADE
IT FOR THE WORLD.”

- P.K. SUBBAN | NASHVILLE PREDATORS

Gary B. Bettman
Commissioner,
National Hockey League

On behalf of our entire National Hockey League family, I extend best wishes to the American Hockey League's clubs, players and fans for another successful season in 2018-19.

For more than 80 years, the AHL has been the premier development league for future NHL players, coaches, officials and executives. Nearly 90 percent of the players who compete in the NHL each year developed their skills in the AHL. In 2017-18 alone, nearly 350 players who participated in NHL games had also played in the AHL.

We are extremely proud of our relationship with the AHL and we thank you for continuing to support our great game in AHL cities across North America.

Enjoy the 2018-19 season!

Calder

Calder Cup (AHL Playoff Champion)

The Calder Cup, the American Hockey League's ultimate prize, is named after the National Hockey League's first president, Frank Calder.

Mr. Calder was instrumental in the formation of the AHL in the mid-1930's and served as president of the NHL until his death in 1943.

The Calder Cup, which gained its current design in 2001, is awarded annually to the AHL playoff champion.

The names of the players, coaches and support staff from the 20 most recent winners adorn the base; the plaques containing all previous years' champions are on display at the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. For a complete list of winners, see the Calder Cup Playoffs section of this guide.

Canning

Richard F. Canning Trophy (Eastern Conference Playoff Champion)

Richard Canning served the AHL for over 50 years and is best remembered as the "father" of the league's Constitution, By-Laws and Regulations.

He began his hockey career in 1938 as a legal advisor to long-time friend and owner of the Providence Reds, Louis A.R. Pieri. He then joined the League in 1957 as executive vice president.

The following year, Mr. Canning was named President of the AHL, a position he held until 1961. In 1974, he returned as vice president and general counsel, where he worked until 1990.

Established in 1990, the Richard F. Canning Trophy was originally awarded to the Northern Division (1990-95) and Northern Conference (1996-97) playoff champions, and has gone to the Eastern Conference playoff champions since 1998.

Mr. Clarke became involved with the American Hockey League itself when he was appointed Chairman of the Board of Governors in 1967, a post he held through 1994.

In recognition of his achievements, Mr. Clarke received the James C. Hendy Memorial Award in 1972 and 1993 as an outstanding league executive.

The Clarke Trophy has been awarded to the Western Conference playoff champions since 1998.

Foegele, who went on to lead the entire AHL with nine GWG and rank second among rookies with 28 goals overall, earned a trip to the 2018 AHL All-Star Classic in January and made his NHL debut with the Carolina Hurricanes in March.

All-Star Teams

From the 1937-38 season through 1944-45, AHL All-Star teams and coaches were selected in a league-wide poll of players. Starting with the 1945-46 season, All-Star teams were selected solely by the media. Beginning in 1996-97, an AHL All-Rookie Team was selected as well.

From 1972-2007, two ballots, one representing the media and one representing the vote of the players, were submitted by each AHL city and weighed equally. Since 2007-08, a third ballot, representing AHL coaches from each city, has also been submitted.

History of the American Hockey League

The Canadian-American Hockey League and the International Hockey League merge in 1936, forming the International-American Hockey League (the "International" would be dropped from the name in 1940).

The IAHHL begins with franchises in Providence, New Haven, Philadelphia, Springfield, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Buffalo. Maurice Podoloff, who would later serve simultaneously as president of the National Basketball Association, is named the league's first president, a position he will hold for 16 years.

The Buffalo Bisons last just 11 games into the league's first season after their rink burns down, forcing them to suspend operations. The Syracuse Stars go on to capture the first Calder Cup championship.

In 1937-38 Fred "Bun" Cook earns the first of his seven Calder Cup titles as a head coach by leading the Providence Reds to the championship. The Hershey Bears join the AHL in 1938, followed by Indianapolis in 1939. Another notable newcomer that year is future Hall of Famer Eddie Shore, an active player with the Boston Bruins, who buys the Springfield Indians and manages to play for both teams. Cleveland Barons owner Al Sutherland carries out a bold promotion by giving away an automobile at each home game, and the arena on Euclid Avenue is soon packed to the rafters.

Buffalo returns to the AHL when the Auditorium is constructed in 1940. The Cleveland Barons win the 1941 Calder Cup led by Les Cunningham, the league scoring champion and a five-time AHL All-Star.

In February 1942, the AHL holds an All-Star Game to raise funds for the war efforts in the United States and Canada. Springfield is forced to suspend operations in 1942-43 because its arena is taken over by the United States Quartermaster for use during World War II. Eddie Shore moves his players to Buffalo and takes control of the franchise. Buffalo goalie Gordie Bell posts nine shutouts and leads the Bisons to the Calder Cup in 1943, their first of two straight titles.

Eddie Shore severs his partnership with Buffalo and operates a team in New Haven in 1945-46, then returns to Springfield in 1946-47. Cleveland Barons sniper John Holota becomes the first player in AHL history to score 50 or more goals when he nets 52 during the 1946-47 season. A year later, Carl Liscombe (118) and Cliff Simpson (110) become the first pro players ever to top the 100-point mark.

Cleveland and Buffalo dominate the 1940's each winning three Calder Cup championships. The Barons win six division titles and go to the Calder Cup Finals five times in the decade.

Cincinnati joins the AHL in 1949-50, but it is the Indianapolis Capitals who are the talk of the league. Led by future Hall of Fame goaltender Terry Sawchuk, the Capitals roll through the playoffs unbeaten to claim their first Calder Cup championship.

A young Johnny Bower leads Cleveland to the 1951 Calder Cup. Bower will win three consecutive AHL MVP awards prior to his Hall of Fame NHL career. Tim Horton and Frank Mathers lead Pittsburgh to the Calder Cup in 1952. Eddie Shore moves his Springfield team to Syracuse to the new Onondaga County War Memorial, only to return to Springfield in 1954.

The All-Star Game returns in October 1954, with a team of AHL stars facing the defending champion Cleveland Barons. The Rochester Americans take the ice in 1956-57 and promptly go to the Calder Cup Finals where they lose to Cleveland. Frank Mathers moves from Pittsburgh to Hershey and leads the Bears to consecutive championships in 1958 and 1959. When the Quebec Aces join the league in the fall of 1959 the AHL has its first Canadian-based team.

The Springfield Indians open the 60's by winning three straight Calder Cups and star center Bill Sweeney wins three straight AHL scoring titles, two feats that have yet to be duplicated. Pittsburgh returns to the AHL in 1961, then leaves again to join the NHL in 1967. The Cleveland Barons win the last of their nine Calder Cup championships in 1964. Jack Riley becomes AHL president in 1964; two years later he will leave to run the Pittsburgh Penguins. His successor in the league office is Jack Butterfield, general manager of the Springfield Indians; Butterfield will serve as AHL president until 1994.

Rochester wins three titles in a four-year span, with future NHL coaches Al Arbour, Don Cherry and Gerry Cheevers leading the way on the ice. The Pittsburgh Hornets prevent Rochester from winning four straight titles when they beat the Amerks in the 1967 Finals, but Rochester bounces back to end their run with a Calder Cup in 1968.

Following the 1967-68 season, Fred Glover retires to take over as head coach of the NHL's Oakland Seals. At the time, Glover leaves the AHL as the league's all-time leader in games played, goals, assists and points and with five Calder Cup championships to his credit.

In 1969, under the direction of Montreal GM Sam Pollock, the Canadiens become the first NHL team to buy an AHL franchise (Montreal Voyageurs).

The Buffalo Bisons win their fifth and final Calder Cup in 1970, then give way to the NHL's Sabres. The 1970-71 Springfield Kings, led by Butch Goring and Billy Smith, become the first team in league history to win the Calder Cup after posting a losing record during the regular season. In the summer of 1971, the Montreal Voyageurs move to Halifax, N.S., where they capture the Calder Cup in 1972. Willie Marshall eclipses Fred Glover's four major league records and retires as the AHL's all-time leading scorer in 1972, with 523 goals, 852 assists and 1,375 points in 1,205 games over 20 seasons.

The Cincinnati Swords are the class of the league, rolling to the 1973 Calder Cup. The Springfield Kings become the Indians again in 1974-75 and go on to win another championship. Nova Scotia rebounds to win back-to-back titles in 1976 and 1977, and with the Montreal Canadiens winning consecutive Stanley Cups, it marks the first two times an organization captures the Calder and Stanley Cups in the same season.

President Jack Butterfield guides the AHL through difficult times in the decade, and the league survives NHL expansion and the appearance (and disappearance) of the World Hockey Association. After just six teams play in 1976-77, the AHL adds franchises in Portland, Binghamton, Philadelphia, Hampton Roads, Moncton, Glens Falls and Syracuse over the next three years. The Maine Mariners win the Calder Cup in 1977 and 1978, becoming the only team in AHL history to win the title in each of its first two seasons.

The Adirondack Red Wings win the Calder Cup in just their second season (1980-81). Under head coach Mike Keenan, Rochester defeats Maine for the 1983 Calder Cup; a year later, Maine defeats Rochester for the Calder Cup giving the Mariners three championships in their first seven seasons. The Sherbrooke Canadiens capture the 1985 title behind 19-year-old rookie goaltender Patrick Roy.

In 1986, Paul Gardner becomes the first player in over 20 years to win consecutive AHL scoring titles, while Adirondack, led by Adam Oates and head coach Bill Dineen, captures its second Calder Cup. Brett Hull explodes into the AHL with Moncton in 1987, scoring 50 goals and winning the Dudley "Red" Garrett Award as AHL's top rookie. The AHL employs a shootout to break ties in 1986-87. The Hershey Bears win the 1988 Calder Cup, rolling through the postseason unbeaten (12-0).

The 1988-89 Sherbrooke Canadiens help rewrite the league's scoring records, thanks to rookie Stephan Lebeau, who posts 134 points and 70 goals. Lebeau's linemate Benoit Brunet sets a rookie record with 76 assists. But Adirondack closes out the decade with its third championship in nine years, along the way becoming the second team in AHL history to erase an 0-3 deficit to win a best-of-seven playoff series.

The Springfield Indians win back-to-back championships, first as the New York Islanders' affiliate in 1990 and then as the Hartford Whalers' affiliate in 1991, with Jimmy Roberts at the helm both times. Adirondack wins its fourth Calder Cup in 1992, defeating the first-year St. John's Maple Leafs in a memorable seven-game Finals series in which the road team wins every game.

The Binghamton Rangers establish an AHL record with 124 standings points (57-13-10) in 1992-93, while Rangers forward Don Biggs sets the AHL single-season scoring mark with 138 points and rookie goaltender Corey Hirsch dazzles with a 35-4-5 record and a league-best 2.79 GAA. But Bill McDougall smashes Calder Cup records by posting 26 goals and 52 points in just 16 games to lead the Cape Breton Oilers to the 1993 Calder Cup championship.

The AHL returns to Providence in 1992 and to Portland in 1993, where the Portland Pirates win the Calder Cup in their first season behind playoff MVP Olaf Kolzig. After 28 years as league president, Jack Butterfield retires from the position and is replaced by David Andrews, GM of the '93 champion Cape Breton Oilers.

The 1994-95 season marks the return of the AHL All-Star Game, the first such event in 35 years. Albany wins the '95 Calder Cup, sweeping Fredericton in the Finals. The AHL is aligned into four divisions and two conferences for the first time in 1995-96, and teams receive a point for an overtime loss, a policy later adopted by the NHL. The All-Star Classic is held in Hershey as the league adds a Skills Competition to the All-Star Game. Rochester captures its sixth Calder Cup, defeating Portland in a seven-game Final.

The first-year Philadelphia Phantoms compile the league's best record in 1996-97, but Hershey claims the eighth Calder Cup in team history by defeating Hamilton in the Finals. A year later, Philadelphia's Peter White becomes the first player in 12 years to win back-to-back scoring titles and leads the Phantoms to a Calder Cup championship of their own.

Under rookie head coach Peter Laviolette, the Providence Bruins master an incredible 70-point turnaround in 1998-99, winning 56 games in the regular season and capturing the Calder Cup just one season removed from a 19-54-7 outing. The AHL tests a four-on-four format in regular-season overtime, and adopts the policy the following year.

The Hartford Wolf Pack, who moved into Connecticut's capital when the NHL's Whalers departed in 1997, capture the city's first-ever pro hockey championship in 1999-2000 as John Paddock becomes the first head coach to win Calder Cups with three different teams. A year later, the Saint John Flames capture the Calder Cup, bringing the title back to Canada for the first time since 1993.

The 2001-02 season is one of the most memorable in league history for a wide range of reasons. The year begins on a tragic note, as AHL alumni Ace Bailey and Mark Bavis are among the victims of the 9/11 terrorist attacks in New York City. Membership jumps to 27 teams and the geography of the league changes dramatically with the additions of nine teams, including six from the now-defunct International Hockey League. An incredibly competitive regular season ends with the top 17 teams separated by just 12 points, and the Chicago Wolves, 16th overall in the regular season standings, capture the Calder Cup in their first season in the AHL.

Bolstered by a dual affiliation with Montreal and Edmonton, the Hamilton Bulldogs dominate the 2002-03 regular season before being derailed by the Houston Aeros in a classic seven-game Finals series. Springfield Falcons captain Rob Murray becomes the sixth player ever to skate in 1,000 AHL games. In 2003-04, a record number of shutouts (210) highlights the "year of the goaltender," and Hartford backstop Jason LaBarbera claims the Les Cunningham Award as the AHL's MVP. Milwaukee finishes first overall in the regular season and then captures the Calder Cup with a convincing sweep of Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, the first league championship in franchise history.

The NHL's lockout of 2004-05 provides the AHL with some of its brightest young talent ever. Jason Spezza rolls to the scoring championship racking up 117 points for Binghamton, while Rochester's Ryan Miller becomes the AHL's first 40-game winner in four decades. The shootout is re-introduced to decide a winner of games tied after overtime. And the league experiences its largest numbers ever at the gate, with more than 7.1 million fans attending games throughout North America, including several contests in NHL arenas. Philadelphia, which set an AHL record with a 17-game winning streak earlier in the season, sweeps Chicago to win the Calder Cup championship, clinching the title before 20,103 fans at the Wachovia Center, then the second-largest crowd in AHL history.

Several facets of the NHL's new rules package are adopted by the AHL, which marks its 70th anniversary in 2005-06. Wilkes-Barre/Scranton storms out to the best start in league history by earning a point in its first 23 games (20-0-2-1). Donald MacLean and Denis Hamel tie for the league lead with 56 goals apiece. Hershey, which missed the playoffs the previous two seasons, captures its record-tying ninth Calder Cup with a six-game win over Milwaukee in the Finals.

The Bears seem destined to repeat as champions in 2006-07, finishing with a league-best 114 points in the regular season. Darren Haydar sets an AHL record by recording a point in 39 consecutive games, while Chicago teammate Brett Sterling scores 55 goals, the most by an AHL rookie in 16 years. But the Wolves and Bears both fall in the playoffs to the upstart Hamilton Bulldogs and Carey Price, who duplicates Patrick Roy's feat from 22 years earlier and leads Montreal's affiliate to a Calder Cup championship as a 19-year-old goaltender fresh out of junior hockey.

Chicago comes back in 2007-08 and wins its second Calder Cup, holding off Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in six games in the Finals. Wolves forward Jason Krog becomes just the third player to lead the AHL in goals, assists and points in the same season, then duplicates the feat in the playoffs. After leading Hershey to back-to-back Finals appearances, Bruce Boudreau is promoted by the Washington Capitals in mid-season and goes on to capture the Jack Adams Award as the NHL's coach of the year.

Hershey reaches the Calder Cup Finals for the third time in four years in 2008-09 and wins its record 10th championship with a six-game series victory over Manitoba. Bears forward Alexandre Giroux sets a league record by scoring a goal in 15 straight games, and winds up the fifth AHL player ever to score 60 in a season. Head coach Dan Bylsma is promoted from Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in February and leads the Pittsburgh Penguins to the Stanley Cup.

The first-ever outdoor game in AHL history highlights the 2009-10 season, as the Syracuse Crunch draw a league-record 21,508 fans to the New York State Fairgrounds for a meeting with the Binghamton Senators. The Hershey Bears set records with 60 victories and a 24-game home winning streak in the regular season, and Bears forwards Keith Aucoin and Alexandre Giroux are the league's top two scorers for the second year in a row. In the playoffs, the first-year Texas Stars reach the Finals but fall to Hershey as the Bears become the AHL's first repeat champions since 1991.

While the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins cruise through the 2010-11 regular season with 58 wins, the rest of the league engages in several tight races down the stretch. The Binghamton Senators qualify for the playoffs via the crossover as the fifth-place team in the East Division and earn a historic first-round win over Manchester, erasing a 3-1 series deficit by taking each of the final three games in overtime. The Sens would go on to take out Portland, Charlotte and Houston to earn the first championship in 29 seasons of AHL hockey in Broome County.

The Norfolk Admirals put together one of the greatest seasons in AHL history in 2011-12, garnering headlines around the world with their professional-hockey record 28-game winning streak. The Adirondack Phantoms and Hershey Bears battle outdoors at Citizens Bank Park in Philadelphia and more than double the AHL's single-game attendance record when 45,653 fans watch the game. Hamilton hosts Toronto outside at Ivor Wynne Stadium before the largest crowd ever to watch AHL hockey in Canada. Norfolk's Cory Conacher claims both MVP and top rookie honors, and the Admirals roll to their first Calder Cup with a 15-3 playoff record, sweeping Toronto in the Finals.

The first three months of the 2012-13 AHL season are headlined by an even greater influx of young talent in the wake of an NHL work stoppage. Justin Schultz's record pace with the Oklahoma City Barons earns him the Eddie Shore Award as the AHL's outstanding defenseman, and fellow Edmonton Oilers budding stars Jordan Eberle, Taylor Hall and Ryan Nugent-Hopkins also turn hockey's attention to OKC. Abbotsford's Barry Brust breaks Johnny Bower's 55-year-old record for longest shutout streak. Following an affiliation switch to Syracuse, Tampa Bay's top prospects make a second consecutive trip to the Calder Cup Finals, but the Grand Rapids Griffins -- led by playoff MVP Tomas Tatar -- bring West Michigan its first championship by prevailing in a thrilling postseason run.

Several standout performances highlight the 2013-14 season, including Chicago's Jake Allen leading the league in all four major categories (wins, GAA, save percentage and shutouts) and Toronto's T.J. Brennan scoring 25 goals and totaling 72 points from the blue line. But Travis Morin earns both regular-season and playoff MVP honors and wins both scoring titles as the Texas Stars go wire-to-wire, finishing with the best record in the league before capturing the franchise's first Calder Cup.

Wilkes-Barre/Scranton rookie Matt Murray sets several records during the 2014-15 season, including the longest shutout streak ever by an AHL goaltender (304:11). The AHL adopts a new overtime format that includes time played at 3-on-3, bringing even more added excitement to the extra period. The Syracuse Crunch set an all-time attendance record for an indoor pro hockey game in the U.S. as 30,715 fans watch their game at the Carrier Dome. The Lehigh Valley Phantoms are a hit with fans in their first season in Allentown, selling out 22 games at the beautiful new PPL Center. The Utica Comets have a storybook second season in the AHL, from hosting the All-Star Classic in January to reaching the Calder Cup Finals in June. Brian O'Neill wins the regular-season scoring title and MVP honors before helping the Manchester Monarchs capture a bittersweet Calder Cup in their final season in the Queen City.

The AHL's geography changes dramatically in 2015-16 with the formation of a Pacific Division and the addition of five teams in California. The Manitoba Moose also return to the fold, playing out of the MTS Centre as the Winnipeg Jets' top affiliate. Two long-standing league records fall, as San Jose's Roy Sommer passes Bun Cook to become the winningest head coach in AHL history, and Rockford's Michael Leighton surpasses Johnny Bower's mark for career shutouts. Ontario's Peter Budaj wins 42 games, the most by an AHL goalie in 55 years, and leads the league in wins, GAA, save percentage and shutouts. The AHL's 80th-anniversary season ends with a Finals matchup between two of the league's most tenured cities, and the Lake Erie Monsters complete a 15-2 postseason run with a sweep of Hershey to bring the Calder Cup to Cleveland for the first time since 1964.

Kenny Agostino runs away with the AHL scoring title and earns MVP honors in 2016-17, helping the Chicago Wolves to a division title. Wilkes-Barre/Scranton finishes with the best regular-season record in the AHL while continuing to develop Stanley Cup champions: 2016-17 AHL All-Rookie forward Jake Guentzel leads the NHL with 13 playoff goals as Pittsburgh wins its second straight title. For the second time in five seasons, the Grand Rapids Griffins defeat the Syracuse Crunch in six games to capture the Calder Cup.

In 2017-18, the AHL welcomes fans in Laval and Belleville to the league. Several AHL players represent their countries at the Olympics in PyeongChang, South Korea, including Stockton's Cody Goloubef, Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's Christian Thomas and Belleville's Chris Kelly, who win bronze with Canada. The Toronto Marlies set the pace from start to finish, leading the league with 54 wins and 112 points during the regular season before outlasting Texas in the first seven-game Calder Cup Finals since 2003.

American Hockey League Hall of Fame

Located online at www.ahlhalloffame.com, the American Hockey League Hall of Fame was established in 2006 to recognize, honor and celebrate individuals for their outstanding achievements and contributions specifically in the American Hockey League. Induction ceremonies are held annually as part of the festivities at the AHL All-Star Classic.

The Class of 2018 was inducted in Verona, N.Y., on January 29, 2018.

Class of 2018

Jim Bartlett

Never a flashy scorer or high-profile superstar, Jim Bartlett spent a majority of his 21-year professional career in the American Hockey League and was one of the most consistent performers of his era.

Nicknamed “Rocky” for his feisty style of play, Bartlett debuted in the NHL with his hometown Montreal Canadiens in 1955 and then made his first AHL appearance with Providence the following season, racking up 28 goals and 110 penalty minutes in 50 games and helping the Reds to the 1956 Calder Cup championship. It would be the first of a dozen 20-goal seasons for Bartlett in the American League.

Bartlett would spend five up-and-down seasons between the AHL and the New York Rangers, and on Jan. 5, 1958, he tied an AHL record when he scored two goals in a span of just five seconds against Rochester and goaltender Gerry McNeil; the mark still stands six decades later. In 1959-60, Bartlett played most of the year in the NHL but averaged a point per game for the Springfield Indians in the postseason en route to another Calder Cup.

Bartlett played the entire 1960-61 campaign with the Boston Bruins, his final taste of the NHL before spending most of the next 12 years exclusively in the AHL. Returning to Providence, he set career highs with 31 goals in 1961-62 and 66 points in 1962-63, famously playing on the “B” Line with Stan Baliuk and Pierre Brillant. And although his career was nearly ended by an errant stick to the eye, he came back and led the Reds in scoring in 1964-65.

Bartlett joined the Baltimore Clippers in 1966 and became a member of the AHL’s exclusive 300-goal club in 1970. He made one more trip to the Calder Cup Finals in 1972, and retired in 1973 following a 24-goal season at the age of 40.

Bartlett played 955 regular-season games in his AHL career, good for 10th on the league’s all-time list. He ranks ninth with 360 goals and 21st with 742 points.

Don Biggs

Don Biggs may have been small in stature but he certainly played big, becoming one of the dominant American Hockey League scorers of the late 1980’s and early 1990’s.

A late-round draft pick by the Minnesota North Stars in 1983, Biggs, listed at 5-foot-8, broke into the pro ranks with the Springfield Indians at the end of the 1984-85 season, and in his first full campaign as a professional he tallied 60 points in 75 AHL games split between Springfield and Nova Scotia.

Biggs’ breakthrough season came in 1987-88 after signing as a free agent with the Philadelphia Flyers. Biggs led the Hershey Bears with 38 goals in the regular season and tied for the team lead with 16 points in the postseason.

That Hershey team, considered by many to be among the best in AHL history, won 50 games before going a perfect 12-0 in the playoffs en route to the Calder Cup championship.

That year would prove to be just the beginning for Biggs, the first of six consecutive 30-goal seasons in the AHL. He finished fifth in the league scoring race in both 1988-89 – putting up 103 points in 76 games with the Bears – and 1989-90, with 92 points in 66 contests. Then with the Rochester Americans in 1990-91, Biggs paced the team with 88 points in the regular season and notched a league-high 23 points in the playoffs as the Amerks reached the Calder Cup Finals.

Biggs was acquired by the New York Rangers in 1991, and with Binghamton in 1992-93 he authored the most prolific season the AHL has ever seen. In 78 games, Biggs scored 54 goals and added 84 assists for 138 points, the highest total in the history of the American Hockey League. He was the offensive catalyst for a Rangers team that went 57-13-10 – the best regular-season record ever in the AHL – and he was a runaway winner of the Les Cunningham Award as the league’s most valuable player.

Biggs would play six more years of professional hockey, but the 1992-93 season was his last appearance in the AHL. Despite skating in just 597 games and eight full seasons, Biggs is tied for 24th on the league’s all-time scoring list with 692 career points (273 goals, 419 assists), ranking seventh in points per game among members of the 500-point club.

Brian Kilrea

Before he became a Hall of Fame coach and a hockey icon, Brian Kilrea had an illustrious playing career as a forward in the American Hockey League.

Kilrea spent 10 seasons in the AHL, mainly skating for owner Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians during their heyday of the 1960's. His arrival in Springfield in 1959 coincided with the team's unprecedented (and since-unmatched) run of three consecutive Calder Cup championships. Kilrea did not miss a single regular-season game over four years from 1961 to 1965, and in 1961-62 he led the entire league with 73 assists and established a career high with 93 points in 70 contests for the Indians.

The Ottawa native put together five straight seasons of at least 75 points and hit the 20-goal mark six times. He got his first extended taste of the National Hockey League in 1967-68 with the Los Angeles Kings – scoring the first goal in the expansion franchise's history – before finishing the season back in Springfield. Kilrea would skate in 33 games for the Rochester Americans in 1968-69 to conclude his AHL career.

A 2003 inductee into the Hockey Hall of Fame, Kilrea totaled 624 points in his 623 career AHL games. And in a history of AHL hockey in the city of Springfield that spans eight decades, he is the all-time leader in assists (442) and ranks third in both points (611) and games played (590).

Glenn Merkosky

A consistent scorer throughout his 10 AHL seasons, Glenn Merkosky was one of the league's leading point-getters during the 1980's.

Merkosky made his pro debut with the Binghamton Whalers in 1980-81 and finished second on the team in scoring with 61 points while skating in all 80 games. The following season, he upped his totals to 29 goals and 69 points and helped the Whalers reach the 1982 Calder Cup Finals.

Merkosky joined the New Jersey Devils organization and following another successful regular season in 1983-84, he erupted for 11 goals and 21 points in 17 postseason contests as the Maine Mariners captured the Calder Cup championship. He then had a 38-goal season for Maine in 1984-85, and was named a Second Team AHL All-Star.

The reliable left wing signed with Detroit in the summer of 1985 and in his first season with the Adirondack Red Wings, Merkosky put up 24 goals and 57 points in 59 games before helping the club to a Calder Cup title.

Merkosky's best numbers came in 1986-87, when he scored 54 goals and finished fifth in the AHL with 85 points. He was named a First Team AHL All-Star and claimed the Fred T. Hunt Award for sportsmanship, determination and dedication to hockey. He then led Adirondack back to the top of the league in 1988-89, collecting 31 goals and 77 points in 76 games and adding 19 postseason points as the Wings won the Calder Cup, the third of Merkosky's career.

Merkosky spent two more seasons in Glens Falls, including a 1990-91 season in which he captured his second Fred T. Hunt Award. After scoring at least 24 goals in each of his 10 AHL seasons, Merkosky retired with 325 goals, a total that still ranks 13th in league history. He is also among the AHL's all-time playoff leaders with 39 goals (T-9th), 51 assists (T-13th) and 90 points (T-9th) in 107 games (13th).

Merkosky served one season as an assistant coach in Adirondack, helping the club to yet another Calder Cup championship in 1992. He returned to Glens Falls as head coach for the Red Wings' final three seasons (1996-99), and as a long-time scout for Detroit, he has helped the organization claim two more Calder Cup titles in Grand Rapids.

Josh Currie

A mainstay from the Condors' ECHL days, Josh Currie earned a two-year NHL contract from the Edmonton Oilers during the offseason after leading Bakersfield with 46 points in 2017-18. Currie leads all Condors over the past three seasons with 52 goals and ranks second in assists (54) and games played (188).

Ethan Bear

Ethan Bear's rookie season had a little bit of everything, as he tied for the Condors' team lead in scoring among defensemen despite playing in just 37 games. His strong work on the blue line earned him an NHL call-up to Edmonton, where he played 18 games with the Oilers and scored his first NHL goal on Mar. 25 vs. Anaheim.

DID YOU KNOW?

Brad Malone's Teddy Bear Toss goal last November sent a team-record 10,549 stuffed animals onto the ice. All time, the Condors organization has collected and donated more than 121,000 teddy bears to local charities.

XL Center

The XL Center, managed by Spectra, celebrated 40 years of operation in January 2015 after opening a new chapter in its history by undergoing a $35-million renovation in the summer of 2014. The home of the Hartford Wolf Pack and University of Connecticut men's Hockey East games, and home-away-from-home for the UConn men's and women's basketball teams, sports fully re-done concourses as well as a new "fan club" restaurant/sports bar, scoreboard and club seating areas. Those recently-added features complement the XL Center's over 45 executive suites and Coliseum Club, as Connecticut's premier entertainment destination continues to host more than 1 million guests a year for a wide variety of local, national and international sports and entertainment events, in addition to trade shows, meetings and conferences.

Troy Grosenick

Acquired by Nashville on Feb. 25, 2018, Brookfield, Wis., native Troy Grosenick joined his hometown team to become the first Admiral ever born and raised in the greater Milwaukee area. Grosenick won his debut with the Admirals, stopping 36 of 37 shots against Grand Rapids on Mar. 3.

UW-Milwaukee Panther Arena

The Admirals returned to the UW-Milwaukee Panther Arena in 2016, the place they called home from the early 1970's until 1986. One of the first TV-friendly venues in the nation, the building originally known as Milwaukee Arena came of age with rock and roll and later gained fame as the MECCA, a house of champions with a reputation for unparalleled fan intensity and an audacious pop-art basketball floor. A major 1998 renovation readied the building for the 21st century with new technology and enhanced accommodations for both patrons and productions, while retaining its fervor-inducing geometry and super-strong, ready-to-rig ceiling.

Overtime Games

NOTE - In 1995-96, the AHL began awarding one point for an overtime loss. During the 1998-99 season, the league tested the 4-on-4 overtime format and subsequently adopted the policy beginning with the 1999-2000 season. In 2004-05, the AHL added a shootout to resolve regular-season games that were still tied at the end of overtime. In 2014-15, the AHL introduced a 7-minute overtime period that included 3-on-3 play. Starting in 2015-16, overtime was played for 5 minutes at 3-on-3.

Charlotte's Alex Nedeljkovic became the 13th goaltender in AHL history to score a goal when he sent a shot down the length of the ice and into the empty Hartford net to cap a 7-3 Checkers win on Mar. 10, 2018.

Garret Sparks

Garret Sparks captured the Baz Bastien Award as the AHL's outstanding goaltender in 2017-18, posting a record of 31-9-2 in 43 appearances with the Toronto Marlies and leading the league in wins (tied), goals-against average (1.79) and save percentage (.936). For his AHL career, Sparks owns a dazzling 80-28-7 record (2.12, .927) in 121 games, all with the Marlies.

Rudolfs Balcers

Rudolfs Balcers turned in a stellar rookie campaign in 2017-18, leading the San Jose Barracuda in points (48), goals (23) and power-play goals (8) while also representing the club at the AHL All-Star Classic. # The Story of the Calder Cup

The coveted Calder Cup has been a motivational force for American Hockey League teams throughout the League's 82-year history. It is one of our sport's greatest challenges and ultimate honors to hoist the Calder Cup in victory.

The trophy is named for Frank Calder, who served as the National Hockey League's first President from 1917 to 1943. During the 1920's, Mr. Calder was instrumental in guiding hockey into the mainstream of America's major cities including Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago, while helping in the formation of the American League.

The Calder Cup trophy itself was actually first awarded in 1938 to the Providence Reds for winning the second International-American Hockey League championship. (In 1996, George Parsons of the Syracuse Stars was presented the Calder Cup in a ceremony at the Onondaga County War Memorial, as it is believed the Stars never received a trophy for their 1937 championship.)

In 2001, the trophy's base was changed to include two tiers of plaques, which feature the rosters of each of the last 20 Calder Cup champions; the plaques from all previous champions are on display in the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. The entire Calder Cup trophy now stands 24 inches tall and weighs 28 pounds. The bowl, made of sterling silver, is 12 inches high and eight inches in diameter. The hardwood base is made of Brazilian mahogany.

A total of 32 different cities have had their AHL member club win the Calder Cup, led by Hershey with 11 and Cleveland with 10. Springfield (seven), Rochester (six), Providence (five), Chicago (two) and Grand Rapids (two) are the other active cities with more than one title.

Twenty-nine members of the Hockey Hall of Fame have won the Calder Cup in their careers, including Johnny Bower, Terry Sawchuk, Emile Francis, Gerry Cheevers, Al Arbour, Andy Bathgate, Larry Robinson, Doug Harvey, Patrick Roy and Fred Shero.

Not only have great players won the Calder Cup, but outstanding coaches have also hoisted the AHL's championship trophy. Hall of Famer Fred "Bun" Cook holds the distinction of winning seven Calder Cups in his career; no other AHL head coach has ever won more than three. Current NHL head coaches with Calder Cup titles on their resumes include Barry Trotz (Portland, 1994), John Tortorella (Rochester, 1996), Peter Laviolette (Providence, 1999), Todd McLellan (Houston, 2003), John Stevens (Philadelphia, 2005), Bruce Boudreau (Hershey, 2006), Jon Cooper (Norfolk, 2012), Jeff Blashill (Grand Rapids, 2013) and Jared Bednar (Lake Erie, 2016).

More than 100 players and coaches have won both the Calder Cup and Stanley Cup in their careers, including Ace Bailey, Brian Engblom, Dick Gamble, Butch Goring, Adam Graves, Peter Mahovlich, Kirk Maltby, Ab McDonald, Patrick Sharp, Fred Shero, Brian Skrudland, Jeff Carter, Mike Richards, Eric Fehr, and 2018 Washington Capitals Braden Holtby, John Carlson and Jay Beagle.

Two-time Calder Cup champion Darren Haydar is the AHL's all-time leader in playoff goals (63) and points (143), and three-time winner Bryan Helmer has played in more Calder Cup Playoff games (159) than anyone else. Marcel Paille's 49 playoff victories are the most ever by a goaltender, and Bill McDougall set single-season records that may never be broken when he tallied 26 goals, 26 assists and 52 points during the 1993 postseason with the Cape Breton Oilers.

Four men share the honor of having won the most Calder Cups during their playing careers: Bob Solinger, Les Duff, Fred Glover and Mike Busniuk each skated to five titles.

Calder Cup-winning teams have impacted significantly on the success of their NHL parent clubs. On three occasions an AHL club and its NHL affiliate won their league championships in the same year: In 1976 and 1977, the Montreal Canadiens won the Stanley Cup while their AHL affiliate, the Nova Scotia Voyageurs, won the Calder Cup, and in 1995, the Stanley Cup champion New Jersey Devils saw their AHL affiliate, the Albany River Rats, win a title as well. In 2008, the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins and their parent club in Pittsburgh both reached their respective league Finals before bowing out, and in 2015, both the New York Rangers and Hartford Wolf Pack reached the conference finals.

Only one team in 82 years has been able to win the Calder Cup in three consecutive seasons: the Springfield Indians, under the leadership of AHL and Hockey Hall of Famers Eddie Shore and Jack Butterfield, skated to Calder Cup championships in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Tie In Standings

Between Two Teams

In case of a tie in points percentage in the standings (for any position regardless of division) between two teams at the conclusion of the Regular Schedule of Championship Games, the method for determining the order of standings shall be as follows:

- The team having won the greater number percentage of games excluding games won in the Shootout in the Regular Schedule of Championship games (regulation and overtime wins divided by total games played).
- The team having earned the greater number of points in the season series between the teams tied.
- The team having the greater goal differential (goals against subtracted from goals for) in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- The team having more goals for in the series between the teams tied.
- The team having the higher points percentage (points earned/points available) within its respective conference in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- Conference call - Board of Governors.

Among Three or More Teams

In case of a tie in points in standings (for any position regardless of division) among three or more teams at the conclusion of the Regular Schedule of Championship Games, the following method for determining the order of standings shall be applied successively:

If the following method results in only two teams tied, at any time during the listed criteria, those remaining teams shall be subject to the original tie breaking system.

- The team having won the greatest number percentage of games excluding games won in the Shootout in the Regular Schedule of Championship games (regulation and overtime wins divided by total games played).
- The team with the highest points percentage (points earned divided by points available) versus the teams tied.
- The team having the greatest goal differential (goals against subtracted from goals for) in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- The team having the highest goal differential percentage (goal differential divided by games played) versus the teams tied.
- The team having the highest points percentage within its respective conference in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- Conference call - Board of Governors.

Overtime Play

In the event of a tie at the end of the regulation playing time, a 15-minute intermission shall be taken followed by 20-minute "sudden death" periods with 15-minute intermissions between each of the periods, which shall be played until the tie is broken. The ice shall be resurfaced during each intermission unless mutually agreed upon to the contrary. Intermissions during regular time shall be the same as during the regular season.
