DIAMOND CREDIT UNION WALL OF HONOR

In the summer of 2006, the Royals created a permanent and historic display in the concourse walkway of the Sovereign Center which is dedicated to honoring members of the Royals' organization who have made distinctive contributions to the success of the team. The first person so honored was former team captain, Larry Courville, who was not only inducted into the Wall of Honor on October 22, 2006; but also played an instrumental part in the Royals' 5-3 win over the Pensacola Ice Pilots, scoring an empty net goal to ice that victory.

LARRY COURVILLE

Date of Induction: October 22, 2006

In a career replete with accomplishments, Larry Courville's life in hockey might be best described by the nature of the award he received at the conclusion of the 2005-06 season with the Royals: the "Heart Award". Through ten pro seasons and over 600 regular season games, Larry scored 125 goals and 310 points in the NHL, AHL, and ECHL. But the essence of Larry's career cannot be accurately represented in statistics. That's not to say that Larry didn't score some big goals—including an epic marker for Team Canada in the 1995 World Junior Championships and a 'twisted-wristed' while playing in one of his 33 NHL games for Vancouver. Nonetheless, Larry's role as a hockey player is perhaps best summed up by one word: leadership. A team captain in no fewer than seven of his ten pro years, Larry's leadership was perhaps no more evident than during the final stretch of the 2005-06 season with the Royals—his third season with Reading—when he virtually put the Royals on his back and gave fans hope, as he racked up eleven goals and twenty four points in the final sixteen games of the season—a stretch during which he had a mind-numbing eight multi-point games. Larry Courville: Heart, Leadership, and Pride—Personified.

RYAN FLINN

Date of Induction: January 19, 2007

By the time Ryan Flinn arrived for his first pro season in 2001—the Royals inaugural year—he had already racked up over 1000 penalty minutes in 250 games in the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League. It didn't take Ryan long to make his mark in the pro game, either, as he registered the first fighting major in Royals' team history on October 19, 2001. Ryan went on to play twenty games for the Royals that season, scoring a goal, assisting on three others and compiling 130 pims. That season, Ryan also earned the first in an ongoing series of call-ups in his pro career—initially to the Manchester Monarchs of the AHL and then to the NHL's Los Angeles Kings. To date, Ryan has played 31 NHL games—all with the Kings over parts of three seasons. Unfortunately, early last year, Ryan sustained an injury that cut his season short. But Ryan's back in action this year, playing with the San Antonio Rampage of the AHL where he has scored a goal, assisted on two others, and, yes, picked up 56 pims in his first 29 games—and hopefully, he's on his way back to the Show!

BRIAN GROGESKY, A.T.C.

Date of Induction: March 2, 2007

Although during his six year tenure as the Royals' athletic trainer Brian Grogesky has never sought to be the center of attention, it is an inescapable fact that his efforts have been central to the continuing success of the team. Born and raised in eastern Pennsylvania, 'Grogs' has been behind the Royals' bench for virtually every game the team has ever played, working his 400th consecutive game on Saturday, January 20, 2007. In a collision sport where playing with—and through—injuries is a way of life, Grogs and the Royals' medical staff spend untold thankless hours responding to the challenges of keeping the boys playing at their best through the rigors of pro hockey season, as well as rehabilitating those who sustain more serious injuries. The second longest tenured athletic trainer in the ECHL, Grogs was recognized by his peers when he was selected this year to serve as the trainer for the American Conference in the ECHL All-Star game.

Tonight, the Royals honor Brian for his sacrifice, hard work, and dedication to the Royals' organization.

JON FRANCISCO

Date of Induction: January 12, 2008

Jon Francisco, who is without question one of the all-time fan favorites ever to play pro hockey in Reading, grew up in Hermantown, Minnesota, home to one of the premier youth hockey programs in all of North America. Francisco's game blossomed while at Hermantown High School, where he served as the team captain and was selected as the county's Player of the Year in his senior season. In that same year, Francisco was selected as a member of the All-Tournament Team in the Minnesota High School State Tournament, while also earning all-state honors. From there, Francisco was recruited to the University of Minnesota at Duluth where he had a stellar four year career, scoring forty-two goals, assisting on sixty-two others (104 points), and picking up 161 penalty minutes in 154 games. While at UM-Duluth, Francisco was selected as a Western Collegiate Hockey Association All-Star in his junior season and served as the team's captain in his senior year.

Francisco's transition to pro proved a smooth one, as he scored twenty-two goals, assisted on twenty-eight others (fifty points), and picked up 89 penalty minutes in 70 games with the Quad City Mallards of the United Hockey League in his rookie season. That year, Francisco also earned his first call up to the American Hockey League, playing two games for a Milwaukee Admirals' team that would ultimately win the Calder Cup Championship. In 2004-05, Francisco joined the Royals and played in all seventy-two regular season games and seven of the team's eight playoff games, missing only the final game of the year—a 4-3 win by the Trenton Titans that eliminated the Royals from the playoffs (three games to one). During that season, Francisco scored nineteen goals, assisted on twenty-one others (forty-points) and picked up ninety-six penalty minutes, which included fights against Leon Hayward and Matt Zultek of the Trenton Titans. During that season, Francisco represented the Royals in the ECHL All-Star game which the organization hosted at the Sovereign Center. At the Fan's Choice Awards Banquet at the conclusion of the season, Francisco not only received the team's Iron Man Award, but also received confirmation regarding how the fans of Reading felt about him when he was bestowed with the Fan's Choice Award.

In 2005-06, Francisco returned to the Royals where, after a bit of a slow start, he went on a nine game tear in mid-November through early December, during which he registered thirteen points (6g-7a=13pts). After the Royals' successful western road swing in late-December and early-January of that year, Francisco was called up to the Manchester Monarchs of the AHL, where early in his first game with the Monarchs he suffered a substantial knee injury that would plague him throughout the remainder of his playing career. Francisco valiantly rehabbed his knee and returned to the Royals' line-up in mid-March when the team needed him most; but, unfortunately, he was only able to play in seven games before re-injuring his knee and ending his season.

After a summer of hard work and rehabilitation on his knee, Francisco returned to Reading last season for his third year with the team. Unfortunately, once again, Francisco re-injured his knee in the second game of the season. Characteristically, he went back to training room and, for the third time in less than a year, undertook a strenuous rehabilitation program to get back into the Royals' line-up. Shortly after returning to the team in early January, Francisco experienced a "golden stick" moment in a 6-3 win over the Charlotte Checkers when he registered his first pro hattrick, which was capped off with an empty net goal to the delight of his fans in Reading. Although his numbers may not have been spectacular (7g-12a=19pts, 49 pims in 36 games), Francisco's gutsy re-hab and emotional leadership down the stretch (as the Royals fought an unsuccessful battle to earn a playoff spot) led the fans to select him as the team's Unsung Hero at the Fan's Choice Awards banquet at the conclusion of the season.

CODY RUDKOWSKY

Date of Induction: January 16, 2009

It should not be surprising that, if you look through the Royals' record book, you will probably notice one name more than any other: goaltender Cody Rudkowsky. After all, the Willingdon, Alberta, native was an anchor member of the Royals for three consecutive seasons (2003-06), during which he established a number of team records, particularly with respect to longevity, e.g. games and minutes played, shots faced and saved. But the one team record that says more about Cody Rudkowsky's performance and personality than any other is the one stat that is most important for anyone associated with the team: WINS. And Cody's fifty-six career regular season victories for Reading is almost twice as many as any other goaltender in team history.

But with Cody, it wasn't just the number of wins that was important, it was also the timing of those victories—it seemed, the more pressure packed the game, the more likely it was that Cody would be at his best. For instance, his 2-1 victory over the Johnstown Chiefs in the Northern Division win-or-go home "Play-In Game" in the 2004 playoffs that kick-started the Royals' deepest playoff run in team history—one game short of the Kelly Cup Finals—a run during which Cody played every game but one. In 2005-06, Cody's final season with the Royals, his twenty-four regular season wins led the team to the playoffs where you could almost palpably feel the team's chances for post-season success crumble when he went to the ice with what proved to be a season ending injury five minutes into Game One of the North Division Semi-Finals against the Wheeling Nailers. It's a testament Cody's skill and character that he not only holds the Royals' team record for career wins, but he also proved to be one of the most stingy opponents that the Royals have ever had to face. In fact, in the seven games that Cody played against the Royals as a member of some other team in the ECHL (Peoria Rivermen, Trenton Titans, and Cincinnati Cyclones), the Royals never beat him (6-0-1) (1.71) (.933). And, thus perhaps it was appropriate that in Cody's last game at the Sovereign Center (April 4, 2008), which he played as a member of the Cincinnati Cyclones, he made twenty-nine saves to register—what else?—a dramatic overtime win.

REGAN ROME

Date of Induction: January 15, 2010

Regan Rome, a defenseman who played in four separate seasons with the Royals beginning in 2003 and ending in 2007, registered 12 goals and 61 assists (73 points) and 398 penalty minutes and played to a collective (+23) in his 176 regular season games as a Royal. Known as a rugged leader, Rome's career 398 pims, which included 15 fighting majors, is second only to Malcolm MacMillan as the most ever for a member of the Reading organization. Rome, who was acquired by the Royals from the Cincinnati Cyclones during the 2003-04 season, was an integral part of that team's dramatic (if somewhat unexpected) playoff run to the National Conference Finals. Rome, who was perhaps the best shut-down one-on-one defender in Reading team history, set his career offensive output with the 2005-06 Royals, when he racked up 30 points (6g-24a) in 49 games for Reading.

TEN YEAR SEASON TICKET HOLDERS
Date of Induction: February 4, 2011

EQUIPMENT MANAGER PAT NOECKER

Date of Induction: February 10, 2012

Serving as the equipment manager for a professional hockey team can be a thankless position. The demands of the position include long hours and an indescribably wide variety of tasks—each of which needed to be completed yesterday—often for players who can be as demanding as they are superstitious. Since joining the Royals for parts of the 2003 and 2005 seasons—and beginning full-time in January of 2006—Pat Noecker has been a critical anchor on the team's bench and in the locker room. A native of West Reading and a graduate of Wyomissing Area High School, Pat developed his love of hockey as a pro roller hockey goalie, an in-line hockey referee, and a pro shop manager at the 'old' Timberline Ice Arena just outside of Reading. Pat's knowledge of the game combined with his extensive background in multiple levels of hockey give him the ability to relate to professional athletes while applying the skill of a 'master craftsman' when dealing with the team's equipment needs. As of his induction date into the Reading Eagle Wall of Honor, Pat was twice selected as the ECHL's Equipment Manager of the Year (2008 & 2009) and served as an equipment manager in three different league all-star games—twice in the ECHL and once in the United Hockey League when he was with the Missouri River Otters. Pat's versatility and ability is such that he has on numerous occasions served as an emergency back-up goaltender for the Royals—and he actually was assessed with two penalty minutes in a game during the 2006-07 season—something he proudly acknowledges. 'Patty,' as he's known around the Royals locker room (which he designed himself) has been a critical component of the Royals' success, and for his outstanding contributions to the organization, he was recognized with this induction into the Royals' Reading Eagle Wall of Honor.

GOALTENDER JONATHAN QUICK

Date of Induction: January 19, 2013

The 72nd overall pick by the Los Angeles Kings in the 2005 NHL draft, Jonathan Quick, or 'Quickie' as he was known by his Royals' teammates and fans, could not have been a better selection for a team in 'Tinseltown'. After all, with some of the entertaining saves that 'Quickie' displayed in Reading, there was no doubt he was going to be a success in Los Angeles. Jon's acrobatic and athletic net-minding ability left many Royals' fans 'in awe,' while leaving the opponents frustrated and shaking their heads. Jon began his professional career with the Royals in 2007-08 coming out of college at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst. In 38 games with the Royals, Jon was 23-11-3 with a 2.79 goals against average and a .905 save percentage. He even notched a goal while earning a shutout in Pensacola on October 24, 2007, in a 3-0 Royals' win. 'Quickie' was called up to Los Angeles from Reading in December of 2007. He made a start against the Buffalo Sabres on December 6, 2007, and earned his first NHL win in an 8-2 Kings' victory. Jon began the 2008-09 season with Manchester in the AHL and was recalled to the Kings on December 6, 2008. He recorded his first NHL shutout on December 28, 2008 in Columbus against the Blue Jackets. A native of Camden, Connecticut, Jon was a goaltender on the Silver Medalist U.S. Olympic Team of 2010. Recognized as one of the top net-minders in the NHL, Jon was atop hockey's zenith after the 2011-12 season being selected as a finalist for the Vezina Trophy and earning the Conn Smythe Trophy as the NHL's playoff most valuable player in helping Los Angeles capture the organization's first Stanley Cup.

FORWARD CHRIS BALA

Date of Induction: January 17, 2014

If the story of Chris Bala's hockey career had a title it might be 'Local Boy Makes it Big in the Big Time'. To be fully accurate, however, you'd probably need a second volume entitled '...But He Comes Back Home and Makes it Bigger—and Better'. To be sure, Chris, who as a youngster honed his burgeoning hockey skills in the local rinks near his childhood home in southeast Pennsylvania before attending The Hill School, went about as Big Time as you can get in his college of choice, Harvard University, where his exceptional talent and athletic skill led the NHL's Ottawa Senators to select him as their second round pick in the 1998 NHL Entry Draft. After four years of Ivy League hockey, Chris' first professional season included a six game stint under the bright lights in the NHL with Ottawa, during which he would notch what would prove to be his lone point in the 'Show'. From there, Chris would string together four successful seasons in the American Hockey League, where he undoubtedly could have remained for several additional years. But instead (and this may say all you really need to know about Chris), in order to be closer to his wife and budding family, he chose to ply his trade closer to home—and Royals' fans became the immediate beneficiaries of that decision. From the moment he arrived in Reading, one element Chris' game immediately caught your eye—and took your breath—his electric speed. Another element may have taken us all a bit longer to appreciate: his solid character. Chris essentially spent two full seasons with the Royals 2005-06 and 2006-07, and his statistics are impressive: 91 points (36g-55a) in 110 total games. But the value of a player like Chris Bala can never be fully measured in a number, a fact which is reflected in his selection as the team's captain in 2006-07. Although Chris would periodically re-join the Royals through the 2008-09 season for limited 'as needed' stints, his pro career essentially came to a close on one of the most hotly disputed goals in Royals' team history. In a winner-goes-to-the-playoffs game against the Johnstown Chiefs in the final game of the 2006-07 regular season, Chris employed his uncanny hand-eye coordination to bat a puck out of mid-air and into the net to apparently tie the critical regular season finale. Although virtually everybody in the then-Sovereign Center (including Chris) felt that the goal should have counted, the one guy who actually mattered—the referee—didn't, and he waived the goal off. Chris handled the disputed call with typical grace and professionalism, traits that he's taken with him as he's moved on in his life to pursue his life-long passions: his family, his community, and, as a coach deep in knowledge and experience, his efforts to help the next young and upcoming local whiz kid make it big in the Big Time—and, more importantly, to do good in his or her life.

FORWARD Malcolm MacMillan
Date of Induction: January 10, 2015

It would be easy to glance at the stats that Malcolm MacMillan amassed while he was with the Royals and conclude that he was a one-dimensional player. After all, as of his induction into the Royals' Wall of Honor, Malcolm is the all-time career penalty minute leader (539) and has had more major penalties than any player in the history of the team (35). To be sure, a part of Malcolm's game included considerable edge—and, it's probably an understatement to say that he was always ready, willing, and able to take on any and all opponents who were inclined to engage in a tilt. But to classify Malcolm as one-dimensional 'tough guy' would be to overlook the many other elements that made him a special player—and person. Included on that side of the equation would be the deft skill that Malcolm exhibited in scoring thirty-goals and assisting on fifty-six others during his 162 games with the Royals. But even that wouldn't account for some of Malcolm's strongest attributes on the ice, including a deceptively agile skating ability and an uncanny capacity to block shots and win critical battles for loose pucks. It also wouldn't account for another one of Malcolm's strongest traits—a quiet, determined resolve that made him a natural leader amongst his teammates, who probably all felt as if they were about two inches taller and ten pounds heavier when they were on the ice with him. This would certainly account for Malcolm earning the team's Unsung Hero and Heart Award during his time with the Royals. But one thing that's impossible to capture in numbers or even awards is the warmth and humor which with Malcolm engaged our fans, which is another one of the many reasons that Malcolm will always be considered one of the most popular players to ever don the purple, silver and black.

FORMER GENERAL MANAGER Gordon Kaye
Date of Induction: January 23, 2016

There is perhaps no more appropriate inductee into the Royals' Wall of Honor than Gordon Kaye, who served as the team's general manager from 2005 through 2010. After all, the Wall of Honor, which is dedicated to those who have made outstanding contributions to the Royals' organization, is one of the many innovative ideas that originated with Gordon, whose enduring legacy includes so many important hallmarks of the Royals' fan experience: Pink in the Rink, Battle of the Badges, St. Hattrick's Day, and the telecast of Royals' road games on community television to name a few. At times, it seemed the only thing that could match Gordon's commitment to the success of the team, the growth of the organization, and the improvement of our community was his seemingly boundless creative energy. Not everyone always agreed with every decision made by Gordon, but no one could claim that Gordon wouldn't listen to a countervailing view. He certainly wasn't hard to find—whether it was front and center on the concourse during every home game or behind the scenes tirelessly working into the wee hours of the morning. It's true that Gordon was recognized for the quality of his performance when he was named the ECHL's Executive of the Year in 2009, but it never seemed that Gordon was driven by a desire for recognition. His true motivation was an overriding passion for "R-Team" and "R-Town". But as we honor Gordon on the Wall that he "built", we could probably sum up all of our collective feelings with what may have been his most heart-felt promotional slogan: "Proud to be a Royal".

FORWARD Ryan Cruthers
Date of Induction: March 3, 2017

When remembering Ryan Cruthers' time with the Royals, it would be easy to become mesmerized by the numbers—and one number in particular: 273, as in the number of points that Ryan amassed during his 278 games with the team. After all, at the time of his retirement at the conclusion of the 2014-15 season, Ryan was far and away the most prolific scorer in Royals' hockey history. But as anyone who was fortunate enough to be around during his five seasons in Reading can attest, it's not really a number that you associate with Ryan Cruthers, it's more probably a letter—"C". Because after all, Cruthers was the team's prototypical captain during his time in with the Royals: fiercely competitive and unequivocally loyal, a leader by example who was willing to battle through the pain, and, yes, from time-to-time get just a bit boisterous when the situation called for it. And, as with many great captains in hockey history, Cruthers was at his best when it mattered most. He thrived in the pressure. You don't earn a nickname like "Captain Clutch" without living for the big moments. His double-overtime series clinching goal in the 2011 playoffs in Cincinnati avenging the bitter disappointment of a gut-wrenching loss in the Conference Finals one year earlier in that same city would be a case in point. But during his tenure with the team, those close to the Royals also had a chance to observe something just as important with Ryan: his growth, evolution, and maturation into something much more than just a hockey player: a husband, a dad, a friend, and an integral leader within the Reading and Berks County communities. And even though he made his name as a professional athlete in this community, with Ryan you always have the feeling that there could be something much bigger on the horizon...maybe even the logical progression from captain of the club to mayor of the city.

FORWARD Yannick Tifu
Date of Induction: March 17, 2018

You cannot tell the Reading Royals' story without Yannick Tifu. He was the Royals' Captain three times (2011-14) and wore the "C" during the 2012-13 Kelly Cup championship season. Tifu, who is the third all-time leading scorer for the Royals with 222 points (84g, 138a) in 245 regular season games, was the first Royals player to touch the Kelly Cup after the team triumphed over the Stockton Thunder in five games on May 25, 2013.

He was chosen as the team's most valuable player twice—including the 2012-13 championship season—and is the only player in team history to receive the Fans' Choice Award on four separate occasions. The native of Brossard, Quebec began his professional career with the Rockford IceHogs (UHL) in 2005, learning the ropes of the professional game that would become so important to lead Reading's talented group seven seasons later.

Royals fans were initially skeptical of Tifu when he played for the rival Elmira Jackals and had four major penalties against Reading in the 2010-11 campaign. When the Royals acquired Tifu from the Chicago Express midway through 2011-12, Head Coach Larry Courville said, "Yannick is the type of player who is always difficult to play against. He is a tough competitor with a great combination of skill and grit. We look forward to having him bring his competitive fire to our team." That's exactly what the Royals received.

In his first Reading campaign, Tifu was given the "C" and had 59 points in 52 games. The next season, Tifu inspired the Royals to the Kelly Cup, registered a point a game (72) and topped the ECHL with 12 goals and 25 points in the playoffs. He played in all 94 games that season en route to the championship. During Game 4 of the Eastern Conference Finals vs. Cincinnati, Tifu scored a tie-breaking goal with 11 seconds to go on a broken play with a shot from outside the right-wing circle to place Reading a win away from its first Kelly Cup Finals berth. The Royals clinched a spot in the Final the next night and Tifu had an assist in Game 5. He started the Kelly Cup Finals with his most-prolific postseason performance, recording four points (1g, 3a) to put the Royals in control of the series.

Reading held a 2-0 series edge as the series shifted to Stockton. In Game 3, the Captain scored two goals, including the game-winning strike in the third, to grab Reading a 3-0 series edge. At season's end, Tifu had combined for 39 goals in the regular season and Kelly Cup Playoffs, tied for the most in team history.

It was only fitting Tifu returned to lead the Royals as team captain again for his third straight season in 2013-14, leading the squad to the postseason. After a season playing in France and a brief stint with Brampton, Tifu brought his all-out skill set back to Reading in 2015-16 for his fourth season in purple. In his final ECHL season, he tied for fourth on the Royals with 43 points (18g). Throughout his career, he placed a premium on being involved in the community and meeting the fans that came out to support the team. 700 Penn Street will always be a second home for this Reading legend.

ROYALS MANAGEMENT BIOGRAPHIES

TEAM PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

SHAWN HACKMAN

Shawn Hackman is entering his first season as Reading Royals President and General Manager and brings more than two decades of business, ticket sales and corporate sponsorship experience to Berks County. In his role and President and General Manager, Hackman is responsible for leading the Royals' business operations, overseeing front office activities and driving ticket revenue.

Prior to joining Reading, the Penn State graduate served as Chief Revenue Officer of IRG Sports & Entertainment and was responsible for the commercial operations of four race tracks and the International Hot Rod Association.

Originally from Saylorsburg, PA, Hackman has had two prominent experiences working in hockey. In 2014-15, the Phoenix Coyotes placed him as an on-site corporate sponsorship and business development leader while he served as a vice president at Front Row Marketing. In 2009-10, the Quad City Mallards were named IHL Franchise of the Year when Hackman was the team's Executive Vice President, General Manager and Alternate Governor. The Mallards were the IHL affiliate of the Philadelphia Flyers.

"We are excited to have Shawn with the Royals," said Royals Owner Mr. Jack Gulati. "Shawn has shown a clear expertise in leading hockey teams and sports organizations throughout his career and this made him the perfect candidate for the position. His wealth of business skills will be essential in helping us fill Santander Arena and keeping Royals games fun and family-friendly."

Hackman has a well-rounded background in sports business operations, serving as Chief Revenue Officer of IRG Sports & Entertainment in 2016-17, Senior Director of Business Development for the Kentucky Speedway (2015-16) and Vice President of Motorsports for Front Row Marketing Services from 2012-15. Among notable successes at Front Row Marketing, Hackman steered the Phoenix Coyotes' corporate sponsorship team as the NHL franchise developed new partnerships with companies that had never worked in sports or entertainment.

Hackman graduated from Penn State with a Bachelor of Arts in Business and Managerial Economics in 1993. In 1988, he graduated from Pleasant Valley High School.

He lives in Pen Argyl, PA with his wife, Lisa, and son, Luke.

HEAD COACH AND DIRECTOR OF HOCKEY OPERATIONS
KIRK MacDONALD

Age: 34 (12-18-1983) | Hometown: Victoria, British Columbia

Kirk MacDonald, 34, enters his second full season as Reading Royals Head Coach and Director of Hockey Operations. During his first full season at the helm, MacDonald navigated Reading to a third-place finish in the North Division at 39-24-9-0 (87 points). From Dec. 28 to the end of the regular season, the Royals boasted a 25-11-7-0 mark. Manchester defeated Reading in four games in the 2018 North Division Semifinals. Under MacDonald's direction, leading scorer Matt Willows (32g, 74 pts.) finished third in the league in points. Reading completed 2017-18 sixth in team defense (2.76 GA/GM). MacDonald was named Head Coach and Dir. of Hockey Operations on May 24, 2017. He is the seventh coach in the team's 17-year history. Originally tabbed the Royals interim Head Coach in April 2017, MacDonald led the team to wins in the final three regular season games of the 2016-17 season, plus two victories in the Kelly Cup Playoffs vs. Brampton

MacDonald joined the Royals as an assistant to Coach Larry Courville in July of 2014. During his tenure as assistant, the Royals compiled a record of 119-72-14-8 in 213 regular season games (.610 win percentage). The team qualified for playoffs in all three seasons during which MacDonald served as an assistant. MacDonald served as the sole bench coach for the Royals in a 5-1 win over the Adirondack Thunder on January 27, 2017, when Coach Courville was serving a one-game suspension.

Prior to joining the Royals as an assistant coach, MacDonald served for one season as an assistant at his alma mater, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (R.P.I.) in Troy, New York, where he returned upon completion of his pro playing career, which concluded after he and his Reading teammates captured the 2013 Kelly Cup.

As a pro player, MacDonald recorded 217 points (96g) and 358 penalty minutes in 406 games over seven-plus seasons. He played 272 of those games in the AHL and 24 Calder Cup Playoff games. In the ECHL, MacDonald had two stints with the Royals and one was during the 2012-13 Championship season. MacDonald racked up 38 points (16g) and 57 penalty minutes during the regular season, then played every playoff game (22 GP, 4g, 8a). Two of MacDonald's playoff goals were short-handed, one of which proved to be the game-winning mark in the series-deciding Game 5 of the Eastern Conference Finals vs. Cincinnati.

Prior to turning pro, MacDonald had a stellar four-season and five-year career at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. After leading R.P.I. in goals (16) and points (36) and being selected the team's MVP in his junior season (2004-05), MacDonald was diagnosed with testicular cancer. The diagnosis kept him out of action the following year. In 2006-07, MacDonald returned for his senior season, leading the team in goals (12) and tied for the team lead in points (27). For his efforts, MacDonald, who served as the team captain that season, was voted as R.P.I.'s Most Inspirational Player. That year, MacDonald received the Livingston W. Houston Citizenship Award at RPI honoring the 'First Citizen of the College,' for character, leadership, scholarship and athletic ability and was also a finalist for the Hockey Humanitarian Award, which is awarded to college hockey's finest citizen.
