Hometown: New Orleans, LA
College & Degree: University of South Carolina, B.A. in Management & Marketing
Year moved to Charlotte: 2015
Neighborhood currently living in: Myers Park
Favorite local coffee shop: Hot green tea is the way to go. I like to throw some pomegranate in there.
One thing on your bucket list: I'd like to attend a World Cup Final at some point. That's one of the greatest, if not THE greatest, championship in the world. So few people get the opportunity to experience something like that in their life.
Best book you've read this year: I'm currently in the middle of both Questlove's autobiography, "Mo' Meta Blues: The World According to Questlove," and Roman Abramovich's biography, "Abramovich: The Billionaire from Nowhere." I'll have to let you know my choice when I'm finished, as they have completely different tones.

Patrick joined the team in February 2015, and is responsible for ensuring that all of the fans have the best experience possible. He wants to make sure everyone is not just satisfied but ecstatic about our games. Patrick is here to help bring fans out and keep them coming back with new friends, family members, and co-workers. He always wants to ensure that our fans are getting an experience tailor made to them and will not attempt to push someone to packages that don't fit their wants or needs.

Born in Greensboro, NC, Patrick has since lived in New Orleans, LA, Chattanooga, TN, Columbia, SC, and Blaine, MN. While he has moved around quite a bit, Patrick has always had a connection to the Carolinas. His mom grew up in Charlotte and his grandparents lived in Rock Hill. The opportunity to move to Charlotte and help build two great teams was an exciting opportunity that Patrick jumped to get on board with. Prior to joining the the Hounds, Patrick worked with Major League Soccer's National Sales Center, which helped prepare him for a role in a growing sport. That experience allowed him to see the unique ways that each team handles their organization and their fans. Patrick is excited to bring that knowledge to Charlotte as we continue to grow lacrosse in the Queen City.

When not in the office, Patrick enjoys playing Ultimate Frisbee, watching any soccer that happens to be on TV, playing soccer, exploring Charlotte (he's still new here) and sitting in his giant foof chair (which is basically a couch sized bean bag chair with foam instead of beans).

She spent the past summer/fall traveling the country as part of a College Football mobile tour for Advantage International, a brand experience and consulting company. HOUNDS 2015 MEDIA POLICIES & PHOTOGRAPHY GUIDELINES

The Charlotte Hounds organization strives to maintain a professional work environment for media at Major League Lacrosse events. We require that all credentialed journalists help us maintain this atmosphere. Credentials are granted at the discretion of the Charlotte Hounds communications staff. By applying for a credential for a Charlotte Hounds event, you indicate that you have read, fully understand and are in agreement with the following professional journalism policies:

1. Media credentials are issued to working journalists and photographers from recognized news outlets in the business of news gathering as their primary source of revenue. The types of media eligible for credentials include: newspapers, magazines, wire services, lacrosse specific publications, television, radio, collegiate sports information directors and the websites affiliated with such outlets.
2. Media credentials will not be issued to coaches, scouts, program directors, advertisers, sponsor representatives, businesses or corporations.
3. Each credentialed media member must be on a specific assignment as an employee for the organization to which the credential is issued. Credentials are non-transferable. Resale or attempted resale is strictly prohibited.
4. The Charlotte Hounds do not credential freelance reporters or photographers without specific assignment. Any freelance reporter or photographer must submit an assignment letter from a news outlet along with their credential application if they would like to cover a Charlotte Hounds event.
5. Credentials for website-only outlets reporting for news and editorial purposes shall be granted at the discretion of the Charlotte Hounds communications staff provided they meet the following requirements and pending available space at the venue:
 - A. The dissemination of editorial content must be the primary purpose of the site and the site must demonstrate a record of sustained, original news on lacrosse and/or professional sports.
 - B. If a local news site, the site must demonstrate a record of sustained, original news content on local sports and/or news.
 - C. Credentials will not be issued to representatives whose sites exist solely as a platform for posting unoriginal content (press releases, etc.).
 - D. While their use is encouraged in covering Charlotte Hounds events, solely the use of social media accounts does not constitute news and editorial coverage.
6. Any commercial or non-editorial use of any picture, audio, film/tape/digital image or drawing of MLL events is strictly prohibited without prior, specific, written authorization from the Charlotte Hounds.
7. Members of the media are granted access to the media areas strictly for the purpose of serving as a journalist. Media members are not permitted to pitch other media or place publicity materials in any media area without expressed permission from Charlotte Hounds staff.
8. Internet usage in the media area is for work-related purposes only. Media members who do not follow the proper internet procedures may have their internet access revoked for the remainder of the competition, event or season.
9. We ask that all media respect the work environment of their colleagues by maintaining a quiet and professional atmosphere in the media work room and all other media areas of the venue. There is no cheering allowed in media work areas.
10. Locker rooms and athlete seating areas are off-limits to the public and accredited press. Interviews must be conducted exclusively in designated media areas, during designated times, unless special arrangements are made through the Charlotte Hounds communications department.

The Charlotte Hounds reserve the right to enforce the above rules, including denial, revocation or suspension of accreditation. If you have any questions about any of the above policies, please contact a member of the Charlotte Independence communications staff.
