The General Managers of the California League

"The Most Demanding and Important Position in Minor League Baseball"

The General Managers in the California League are a diverse group of individuals, but they all strive to achieve the same goals while serving three different factions of minor league baseball.

First, they are responsible for the game day experience for the fans. In essence, they are in the entertainment field providing pre-game festivities, in game amusement through games and contests and post-game fireworks extravaganzas.

Secondly, they are accountable to the major league affiliates, its players and the coaching staff to provide not only facilities for them to play and practice in, but to help with housing.

Finally, they must answer to their ownership groups and for them, most importantly turn a profit.

"The Voices of the California League"

Not only has the California League, over its 77 years of operation, developed over 2,846 players for the major leagues, it has been the training ground for major league broadcasters. Currently four former Cal League broadcasters are actively involved in bringing major league action over the airwaves to millions of fans.

1991 High Desert radio broadcaster Matt Vasgersian will be the play-by-play announcer for Fox Sports on its Major League Baseball telecasts. In addition he is a studio host for the MLB Network. Previously he has broadcast for both the Milwaukee Brewers and the San Diego Padres.

2000 Visalia Oaks announcer and Assistant General Manager Dave Flemming has been a radio and television announcer for the three time World Champion San Francisco Giants since 2004. In addition he does national broadcasts for ESPN in college basketball and has done the Little League World Series.

1984 Redwood Pioneers broadcaster Ken Korach has been announcing Oakland A's games since 1996 and has been their lead Radio announcer since the 2006 season. 2019 will mark his 24th year as a major league announcer.

2007-2009 Director of Broadcasting/Media Relations for the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes, Jeff Levering has been the full time play-by-play broadcaster for the Milwaukee Brewers since 2016. He began in 2015 filling in for Hall of Fame announcer Bob Uecker with the Brewers.

All eight current California League teams have almost all of their games broadcast on radio or online. The Dean of California League broadcasters is Sean McCall of the Lake Elsinore Storm, beginning his 24th year of painting the canvas with word pictures to the Storm's fans listening on the radio or online. Listed below are the 2019 Cal League play-by-play announcers in order of years broadcasting.

Sean McCall (Lake Elsinore Storm)

Years Broadcasting in the California League: 24 Years

Other Teams Broadcasting For: Boise Hawks (Northwest League 1991-1995)

College/University: Pepperdine University

Favorite MLB Team: San Diego Padres (and any other team that has a former Storm player on the roster)

California League Highlights: Championship moments are indelible, record setting games as well (perfection, no-hitters, 30-0 win in Lancaster, but personally the highlight that stands out is the joy of broadcasting over 3,000 California League games.

Zack Bayrouty (Stockton Ports)

Years Broadcasting in the California League: 14 Years

Other Teams Broadcasting For: University of the Pacific's Men's Basketball

College/University: Northeastern University

Favorite MLB Teams: Boston Red Sox/Oakland A's

California League Highlights: Calling the 2008 North Division Championship Series versus San Jose featuring an incredible collection of future big leaguers.

Mike Lindskog (Rancho Cucamonga Quakes)

Years Broadcasting in the California League: 13 Years (2001-2003 High Desert Mavericks)
(2010-2019 Rancho Cucamonga Quakes)

Other Teams Broadcasting For: Spokane Indians (Northwest League)
El Paso Diablos and Springfield Cardinals (Texas League)

College University: Eastern Washington University

Favorite MLB Team: Seattle Mariners

California League Highlights: In 2015 I broadcast Rancho's first championship since 1994. And then in 2016, I was able to call the final game of the Championship Series on behalf of High Desert, their final game ever in the Cal League. Very special considering I started my Cal League career there.

Joe Ritzo (San Jose Giants)

Year Broadcasting in the California League: 13 Years

Other Teams Broadcasting For: San Francisco Giants Spring Training (2017-Present)
Santa Clara University Women's Basketball (2017-Present)

College/University: Santa Clara University

Favorite MLB Team: San Francisco Giants

California League Highlights: 2009 record breaking Championship Season (93-47 regular season swept Championship Series, 18 major leaguers on team). Extra inning Game 5 victory at Rancho Cucamonga in 2010 to win Championship. Calling a 10-9 18 inning win over Stockton in 2011 (scored 4 in bottom of 18th to win game).

Jason Schwartz (Lancaster JetHawks)

Years Broadcasting in the California League: 8 Years

Other Teams Broadcasting For: Tri-City Dust Devils (Northwest League), Wenatchee Apple Sox and Corvallis Knights (West Coast League), Long Beach State 49ers Men's Basketball, USC Women's Basketball.

College/University: University of Southern California

Favorite MLB Team: Los Angeles Dodgers

California League Highlights: 2012 (Lancaster's first ever) and 2014 Championships along with no-hitters in 2013 and 2014.

Keaton Gillogly (Modesto Nuts)

The History of the California League:

The California League of Professional Baseball is a leader in developing players for its major league affiliates, and providing Green Cathedrals for affordable family entertainment each spring and summer. It is a League with one eye on the future and one eye on its rich tradition of baseball lore dating back to the mid-twentieth century. Over the years 2,846 former California League players have made it to the major leagues. In 2018, 247 players made their major league debuts, more than one third of them, 35% (a decade best 87 players) having previously played in the California League. The future big league stars of tomorrow will be playing in the California League this summer.

On a Friday night, April 18, 1941, the Santa Barbara Saints defeated the Anaheim Aces 7-3 at Laguna Park in front of 2,500 fans in the first ever California League game. 2016 was a milestone year for the California League as it celebrated its 75th Diamond Anniversary year. It began with the induction of two former players, Ken Griffey, Jr. (1988 San Bernardino Spirit) and Mike Piazza (1991 Bakersfield Dodgers) into the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown in January. On June 20th, 2016 the California-Carolina League All-Star Game held its home run hitting contest on the deck of the historic U. S. S. Midway Aircraft Carrier in San Diego that drew national coverage. A day later on June 21st, 2016 the California-Carolina League held their 20th All-Star Game with the highlight being the unveiling of the California League's Inaugural Hall of Fame class. Accepting their awards in person were Major League Hall of Famer Rickey Henderson, Gary Sheffield, Jose Cruz, Jr. and Xavier Nady. The Lake Elsinore Storm hosted the festivities, receiving rave reviews.

The 2018 season was highlighted by the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes' historic season as they compiled the second best Second Half Record (52-18 .743) in the 77 year history of the California League. In addition to running away with the Second Half, the Quakes won five of their last seven games in the First Half to win both halves of the Southern Division. After losing their playoff opener to the Lancaster JetHawks, Rancho Cucamonga reeled off six straight wins for their third California League Championship. In the three game sweep of Visalia in the Finals, the Quakes outscored the Rawhide by a 23-8 margin. The mid-season spotlight was on Lancaster which hosted a concert, the All-Star Game and Roberto Alomar and Lenn Sakata accepting their plaques into the California League Hall of Fame.

The California League was founded in 1941 by a combination of Major League and Pacific Coast League clubs. The charter members were the Anaheim Aces, Bakersfield Badgers, Fresno Cardinals, Merced Bears, Riverside Reds, San Bernardino Stars, Santa Barbara Saints and the Stockton Fliers. Only six teams were able to complete the inaugural campaign as Riverside and San Bernardino ceased operations mid-way through the season. The California League was classified as a "C" League by Minor League Baseball and would remain as such through 1962.

The league dropped to four teams the following year as the Bakersfield Badgers, Fresno Cardinals and the Santa Barbara Saints continued on to year two with the addition of the San Jose Owls. League operations were suspended for the duration of World War II on June 29, 1942.

At the conclusion of World War II, the league resumed play with six teams. The Bakersfield Indians, Fresno Cardinals, Modesto Reds, Santa Barbara Dodgers, Stockton Ports and the Visalia Cubs took the field in 1946. The San Jose Red Sox and the Ventura Yankees joined the circuit in 1947. Bill Schroeder, who had organized the league, served as President through 1947. At that time, six franchises were owned by Major League teams and two, Modesto and Stockton, were independent.

Under the leadership of Jerry Donovan, California League President from 1949 to 1955, attendance skyrocketed after the war. Attendance reached a peak of 789,940 in 1949. The Bakersfield Indians, Fresno Cardinals, Stockton Ports and San Jose Red Sox all drew over 100,000 fans for the season. In the mid-1950's, one of the league's most colorfully named teams, the Channel Cities Oilers, represented Santa Barbara and Ventura.

With the increased popularity and availability of television and home air-conditioning in the 1950's, attendance throughout Minor League Baseball began to dwindle. In the middle of the 1955 season, the Channel Cities Oilers franchise moved to Reno, Nevada and would remain a league member for 37 years. Former Major League infielder, Eddie Mulligan, became league President in 1956 and served until his retirement in 1975. The California League retained its eight-team structure until 1959 when it dropped to six teams for three years.

In 1963, Minor League Baseball reorganized and the California League became reclassified as an "A" League. Attendance reached an all-time low in 1965. The following six teams, the Bakersfield Bears, Fresno Giants, Salinas Indians, San Jose Bees, Santa Barbara Dodgers and the Stockton Ports drew only 128,836 fans for the entire season, an average of 21,743 per club, or 333 per opening. The San Jose Bees led at the gate with 34,517 for the whole year.

Interest in Minor League Baseball increased slowly from that point on and grew steadily through the decade of the 1970's. During the Presidency of Bill Wickert, 1976-1981, financial stability became the goal. The California League began to gain momentum as it operated with ten teams for the first time in 1979.

Joe Gagliardi became League President in 1981. Under his leadership, the California League reached new heights. Steady increases in attendance and profitability became the benchmark of Gagliardi's reign from 1981 through 2009. The Rancho Cucamonga Quakes set a single season attendance mark, as 446,146 fans flocked to The Epicenter in 1995.

In 1997, the California League set a new all-time attendance record for the seventh time in eight years. A total of 2,061,889 fans, or an average of 2,988 per game, passed through team turnstiles in that record setting year. On July 4, 1998, the Lake Elsinore Storm set a single game attendance record as 12,876 fans packed The Diamond for an Independence Day fireworks extravaganza against the San Bernardino Stampede.

Gagliardi's most outstanding achievement was opening up the lucrative Southern California markets for the California League. In 1986, for the first time since 1941, there was a California League team south of the Tehachapi's, the Palm Springs Angels. Under the marketing genius of General Manager Bill Shanahan, the San Bernardino Spirit shattered single season attendance records with the San Bernardino Spirit debuting in 1987.

The 1990's saw the opening of five new ballparks in the southland. High Desert, under the inspirational leadership of Bobby Brett was first, with the 1991 opening of Mavericks Stadium in Adelanto, California. High Desert became the first California League team in history to draw over 200,000 fans in a year in their inaugural campaign. The Epicenter opened up in Rancho Cucamonga in 1993. Lake Elsinore debuted The Diamond in 1994. The Hangar was launched in Lancaster in 1996. And finally in August of 1996, the San Bernardino Stampede opened the Arrowhead Credit Union Park.

1996 found the two premiere High "A" Minor Leagues, the Carolina League and the California League holding an All-Star game. 1997 saw all California League teams with full Player Development contracts for the first time in fifteen years. 1997 also saw the successful renovation of John Thurman Field in Modesto.

The 2005 season marked the first new stadium in the north in over 50 years as Banner Island Ballpark made its California League debut in Stockton under the guidance of Team CEO, Tom Volpe. 2009 saw a newly renovated ballpark in Visalia and a new team name as the Oaks became the Rawhide and Recreation Park set a new single season franchise attendance mark in the smallest ballpark in Minor League baseball.

2010 ushered in a new era for the California League as the long time and respected Los Angeles Dodgers executive, Charlie Blaney took over the reigns as California League President. The league has continued to flourish under his leadership.

Modesto holds league seniority as the city is hosting a California League franchise for its 73rd year in 2019. Stockton begins its 70th California League season, San Jose its 69th and Visalia its 68th. In the South, 2019 will mark Inland Empire's 33rd consecutive year in San Bernardino and 34th year in the California League.

Over the years, the California League has produced nineteen Hall of Famers beginning with the 1954 Bakersfield Indians' Don Drysdale. Joe Morgan, of the 1963 Modesto Colt 45's, a Houston Colt 45's farm team, was the second inductee to Cooperstown. Rollie Fingers and Reggie Jackson were teammates on the 1966 Modesto Reds and remain teammates in the Hall of Fame. Don Sutton hurled for the 1965 Santa Barbara Dodgers.

George Brett couldn't even hit .300 playing in San Jose's Municipal Stadium for the Bees in 1972. Hall of Fame Manager, Sparky Anderson played for the 1953 Santa Barbara Dodgers and then managed the 1967 Modesto Reds. Kirby Puckett patrolled the outfield in Recreation Park in Visalia for the Oaks in 1983. It took Dennis Eckersley two years to get out of the California League as he hurled for the Reno Silver Sox in 1972 and 1973. Hall of Fame Manager, Dick Williams, played in the California League in its infancy in 1948 for the Santa Barbara Dodgers.

Rickey Henderson, the Major League all-time stolen base and runs scored leader, plus a member of the 3,000 hit club, led the California League in stolen bases with 95 while playing for the Modesto A's in 1977. In 2010, former California League umpire, Doug Harvey (1958-1960) became the ninth Umpire enshrined in Cooperstown. 2011 saw two more former California League players, Roberto Alomar, the league batting champion for the 1986 Reno Padres and 1959 Stockton Ports hurler, Pat Gillick honored with induction into the Hall of Fame. Alomar was a lifetime .300 hitter over 17 seasons. He helped lead the Toronto Blue Jays to consecutive World Championships in 1992-1993. Gillick was a successful major league Executive, whose 1992-1993 Toronto Blue Jays and 2008 Philadelphia Phillies won World Series titles.

In 2014 two of the greatest managers in baseball history, Tony LaRussa, 1966 Modesto Reds and Bobby Cox, 1960 Reno Silver Sox were inducted into the Hall of Fame. Both won World Series titles and are in the top four of career victories, each winning over 2,500 games. 2015 saw the induction of the 1991 Bakersfield Dodgers' Pedro Martinez, a three time Cy Young Award winner. A year later, in 2016, Martinez' 1991 Bakersfield battery mate, catcher Mike Piazza and Ken Griffey, Jr., a 1988 San Bernardino Spirit, were enshrined in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown. Griffey, Jr., elected in his first year of eligibility was voted in with the greatest percentage (99.3%) in Hall of Fame history as he was named on 437 of the 440 ballots.

In addition to these baseball legends, the California League has produced nineteen Most Valuable Player winners, the latest being 2017 American League MVP Jose Altuve (2010/2011 Lancaster JetHawks) of the Houston Astros.

Former California League hurlers swept the Cy Young Awards in 2017, with Max Scherzer (2007 Visalia Oaks) winning his third Cy Young Award with the Washington Nationals, while Corey Kluber (2008/2009 Lake Elsinore Storm) won his second with the Cleveland Indians. Twenty-one former Cal League pitchers have won the prestigious Cy Young Award. Included as consecutive year Cy Young award winners are Pedro Martinez who was a perfect 8-0 for the Bakersfield Dodgers in 1991 and Tim Lincecum who was 2-0 with the San Jose Giants in 2006.

Thirty-five former California League players have won the Rookie of the Year Award with Cody Bellinger (2015 Rancho Cucamonga Quakes) winning the 2017 National League honor with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The California League has become the premiere Class "A" League in Minor League Baseball. Not only does the sun shine in California, but so do the stars that take the field for 140 games each year from April to September. See today's Minor League stars on their way to becoming tomorrow's Major League legends taking the field for the Inland Empire 66ers of San Bernardino, Lake Elsinore Storm, Lancaster JetHawks, Modesto Nuts, Rancho Cucamonga Quakes, San Jose Giants, Stockton Ports and the Visalia Rawhide.

Lenn Sakata.

1989 Modesto A's/2012/2013 Modesto Nuts
1999/2001/2004-2007/2014 San Jose Giants
2000 Bakersfield Blaze

11 year major league career with the Milwaukee Brewers, Baltimore Orioles, Oakland A's and the New York Yankees. Six years spent with the Orioles and a member of the 1983 World Championship team where he earned the nickname, "Sudden Death" Sakata for a pinch hit walk-off home run that helped win the pennant for Baltimore.

Greatest manager in California League History. Holds Cal League records for:

1. Most Seasons Managed (11).
2. Most Career Wins (757).
3. Most Consecutive Winning Seasons (8).
4. Most Consecutive Winning Half Seasons (13).
5. Most California League Championships (Playoffs) (3).
6. Most Playoff Appearances (8).
7. Most Playoff Series Wins (10).
8. Most Playoff Games Won (33).
9. Most Half Season Titles (7).
10. Most Consecutive Best Regular Season Records (Tie 2).

Many people feel his greatest season as a manager was in 2000 when he led the Bakersfield Blaze into the playoffs. That year the San Francisco Giants had two teams in the California League, the San Jose Giants and the Blaze. San Jose was the "A" team, the Blaze the "B" team. With a roster that sent only two position players and no pitchers to the major leagues for a total of only 53 games, Sakata led Bakersfield to the second best record in the California League.

A great teaching manager, perhaps the greatest compliment paid to Sakata was by 2005 relief specialist Justin Hedrick who said, "I'd rather play for Lenn in San Jose (A Ball) than for anyone else in Double AA."

BASEBALL AMERICA'S ANNUAL BOB FREITAS AWARDS

Baseball America's annual Bob Freitas Awards are presented to the franchises that show sustained excellence in the business of minor league baseball.

They were first presented in 1989, shortly after the death of Freitas, a longtime minor league operator, promoter and ambassador for the game of baseball. Franchises must be in operation for at least five seasons before they become eligible to win.

Baseball America columnist, Will Lingo, wrote in 2006,

"What they represent is, quite simply, the best of the minor leagues.....the Freitas Awards seek to recognize the enduring spirit of the man, which we hope is something that will remain in the fabric of the minor leagues no matter how big the business becomes."

"That means we aren't necessarily looking for the team that draws the most fans or does the flashiest promotions, but rather those franchises that are on a path of long-term excellence and are true parts of their communities."

Congratulations to the following five California League teams that have won this most coveted and prestigious honor six times.

California League Triple Crown of Pitching Winners:

Only three times in the 70 year history of the California League has a pitcher won the “Triple Crown” of Pitching, leading the league in Wins, Strikeouts and Earned Run Average. In 1970, Albert Dawson of the Bakersfield Dodgers became the first hurler to turn the trick. San Jose’s Rick Huisman, in 1991, became the second hurler to win the coveted trifecta. Five years later, another San Jose Giant, Darin Blood added his name to the record book in 1996. In each case, their respective teams compiled the best overall record in the California League that year. Bakersfield won both halves and were declared California League champions. San Jose failed miserably in the Playoffs in 1991, losing in the first round to Stockton, a team they were 21 games ahead of in the standings in the regular season. In 1996 the Giants lost in the fifth and final game of the Championship Series to Lake Elsinore.

Following is a comparison of their records:

Pitcher:	Year:	Team:	Won-Lost	Pct.	SO	ERA
Albert Dawson	1970	Bakersfield Dodgers	17- 6	.739	244	2.47
Rick Huisman	1991	San Jose Giants	16- 4	.800	216	1.83
Darin Blood	1996	San Jose Giants	17- 6	.739	193	2.65

+Due to poor scheduling Inland Empire was scheduled for only 69 games in the first half. Therefore their first game of the second half (vs: High Desert) counted and the 66ers won. Thus the Mavericks and 66ers tied for the first half title and their next meeting in the second half determined the winner. Inland Empire won the next day.

Rancho Cucamonga Quakes: It was an historic season for Rancho Cucamonga as they compiled the second best Second Half Record (52-18 .743) in the 77 year history of the California League. In addition to running away with the Second Half, the Quakes won five of their last seven games in the First Half to win both halves of the Southern Division. The Quakes always started slowly, losing their first two games of the season, their first game of the Second Half and their first game of the post-season, but boy did they ever finish strong! In the three game sweep of Visalia in the Cal League finals, the Quakes outscored the Rawhide by a 23-8 margin.

150 Influential California League Alumni:

Following is a list of 150 influential California League players, managers, umpires, team executives and league officials. It is not titled "the most" influential, rather in one person's opinion a list of 150 individuals who have left their mark on the history and tradition of baseball.

The one common theme with all 150 individuals is that they spent time in the California League. Some were stars both in the major leagues and in the California League. Hall of Famer Don Sutton, a 300 game winner in the big leagues was 8-1 with a 1.50 ERA on the last place 1965 Santa Barbara Dodgers. Others became stars after they left the California League. Six time major league All-Star Bobby Grich hit only .228 for the 1968 Stockton Ports, striking out 126 times in 426 at bats. Many played different positions such as 1974 Cy Young winner, Mike Marshall who led the league in errors as a shortstop for the 1962 Bakersfield Bears.

1955 Stockton Port Pumpsie Green was a post-season California League All-Star, but more importantly he was the first African-American to play for the Boston Red Sox in 1959, twelve years after Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier in 1947. 1964 Fresno Giant Masanori Murakami was the first major league player born in Japan, debuting in 1964, a generation ahead of Hideo Nomo.

All Hall of Fame members, League MVP's, Cy Young and Rookie of the Year winners comprise 71 of those on the list. 79 additional players, managers, team and California League executives and officials and Umpires have also been included.

It is the purpose of this list to share with others who love baseball the names and achievements of 150 diverse individuals who have helped to make the California League one of the premiere minor leagues in all of professional baseball.

Chris R. Lampe

The First:

1. Damon "Dee" Phillips

1941 Riverside Reds

1957-1958 Modesto Reds

On July 19th, 1942, 23 year old Damon "Dee" Phillips became the first former California League player to appear in a major league baseball game. At Cincinnati's Crosley Field, Phillips faced the New York Giants managed by future Hall of Famer Mel Ott. Phillips went 1-4 in his first major league game, a second inning single in his first major league at bat that enabled him to record his first major league RBI. Heroes:

126. Billy Hebert

1941 Merced Bears

On October 21, 1942 Billy Hebert succumbed to injuries suffered at Guadalcanal a week earlier in an attack by battleships of the Japanese Imperial Navy during World War II. He became the first professional baseball player to make the ultimate sacrifice during the second World War. He was 21 years old at the time of his death.

"The Stockton, Cal. lad won't answer the umpire's call when it sounds again throughout the land. But his memory will be cherished long in the annals of the game as the first to lay down his life so that both his country and sport to which he dedicated himself might survive." ---Sporting News 11/19/1943.

On the following Memorial Day a bronze plaque made by his father was placed in centerfield at Stockton's Oak Park. Ten years later, in 1953 the ballpark was renamed Billy Hebert Field, in his honor. It served as the home field for the Stockton Ports through the 2004 California League season.

In his one season of play in the California League, Hebert compiled the fourth highest batting average (.328), scored 99 runs on 166 hits and slammed 31 doubles, 17 triples and 12 home runs to drive in 68 RBIs. In the field he led all second basemen in double plays, compiling the second highest fielding average among all second basemen. He was a member of the mid-season All-Star team and the first ever post-season All-Star Second baseman in the California League.

127. Bert Shepard

1941 Anaheim Aces/1955 Modesto Reds

On August 4, 1945, Bert Shepard took the mound for the old Washington Senators in the second game of a doubleheader versus the Boston Red Sox at Griffith Stadium in the nation's capital. It was the only major league game he would ever pitch in. In 5.1 innings he held the powerful Red Sox to one earned run, three hits, and one walk, while striking out two. What made Shepard's outing so inspirational was that he became the only amputee to ever appear in a major league baseball game! Shepard was a pilot in World War II and was shot down by the Germans during a bombing run near Berlin. To save his life his right leg had to be amputated 11 inches below his knee. He was fitted with a wooden leg in a German prison camp and immediately began playing catch with a cricket ball. Due to a prisoner swap he returned to Washington D.C. and was fitted with an artificial leg at Walter Reed Hospital. His goal was to return to playing baseball and the owner of the Washington Senators, Clark Griffith gave him the opportunity. The rest was a dream come true for a true American hero.

In 3 games, Shepard pitches 11 innings and goes 0-1 for the Aces in 1941. In 3 games for the Modesto Reds, he closes out his professional career by compiling a 1-1 record.

Managers:

128. Bruce Bochy

California League Manager of the Year in both 1979 and 1980. Guides the Visalia Oaks into the playoffs both years, winning the first half Southern Division title in 1979 and the second half Southern Division title in 1980 where Visalia loses in the California League championship finals.

130. Joe Maddon

1977/1978 Salinas Angels

1979 Santa Clara Padres

Leads the Chicago Cubs to the 2016 World Series Championship, ending 108 years of frustration. Cubs lead the major leagues with 103 wins. 2008 American League Manager of the Year for leading the Tampa Bay Rays to their first ever winning season. Maddon's Rays win the American League East title with a 97-65 (.599) record. In the post season, the Rays beat the White Sox in four games and win the ALCS by defeating Boston 4 games to 3 to capture the 2008 American League pennant. They lose to the Philadelphia Phillies in the World Series in five games. Guides Tampa Bay to the 2010 American League Eastern Division Title with the best record in the junior circuit at 96-66 (.593). Rays averaged almost 90 wins a year for the past seven seasons under Maddon (2008-2014) making the playoffs four of the years. In his first season managing the Chicago Cubs in 2015 earns the second Wild Card spot, the first post-season appearance for the Cubbies since 2008. Cubs 97 wins are the third best in all of major league baseball. Maddon's teams have won 90 or more games seven of the past nine years and in that time span he has had only one losing season.

Maddon hits .250 with 3 home runs and 24 RBIs in 58 games for Salinas in 1977. Hits .261 in 48 games for Salinas in 1978 and in only 20 games hits .250 for the Santa Clara Padres in 1979.

Umpires:

131. Ted Barrett 1990/1991 California League Umpire
Begins his 25th year as a Major League Umpire in 2019. Only Umpire in Major League History to work home plate for two Perfect Games (David Cone 1999 and Matt Cain 2012). Worked home plate for longest game in World Series History, the 18 inning, seven hour and twenty minute marathon between the Dodgers and the Red Sox in 2018. Crew Chief since 2013.
Barrett must have enjoyed overtime hours as he worked the famous 22 inning, two day Game # 1 of the 1990 Cal League Championship Series between the Bakersfield Dodgers and the eventual champion Stockton Ports.
132. Ed Montague 1972 California League Umpire
33 year career as major league umpire. National League umpire from 1974 to 1999 and from 2000 to 2009 worked both the American and the National League. Only the 4th umpire in major league history to serve as crew chief for 4 World Series and home plate umpire for 3 All-Star games. In 2004 he became the first umpire in major league history to work home plate the entire All-Star game and serve as crew chief in the World Series during the same season. Most senior active Umpire in the major leagues at the time of his retirement in 2009.
His father, Ed Montague, Sr. played for the Cleveland Indians from 1928 to 1933 and later served as a scout for the New York/San Francisco Giants and is credited with having signed Willie Mays.
133. Paul Runge 1965-1966 California League Umpire
National League umpire for 25 years from 1973 to 1997. Worked numerous World Series, All-Star Games and playoffs. His father, Ed Runge and his son, Brian Runge were also big league umpires. Famous for a controversial “interference call” on Brett Butler that saved Orel Hershisier’s 1988 scoreless inning streak, nullifying a run by Jose Uribe.

The Entertainment Industry:

134. Mark Harmon San Bernardino Spirit
Star of the top-rated CBS hit program “NCIS.” The noted TV actor provided the majority of the financing to bring San Bernardino back to the California League in 1987 after a 46 year absence.
135. Robert “Buzz” Knudson 1946 Fresno Cardinals
Won three academy awards for sound production and nominated for seven more. Oscar winner for "E. T." and "Who Killed Roger Rabbit?"
The left handed hurler goes 2-5 (.286) in 15 games with the next to last place Fresno Cardinals with a 7.39 ERA. In the era before the DH he hits .318 as a batter.

136. Ron Shelton 1967-1969 Stockton Ports
 Wrote and directed the classic sports movies “Bull Durham” and “White Men Can’t Jump.”
 In 48 games in 1967 he hits .213. In 97 games in 1968, Shelton hits .240 with 20 stolen bases and leads the second basemen in fielding with a .974 fielding average. Has a stellar 1969 season, hitting .277, scoring 87 runs and stealing 32 bases while playing in all 140 games for the California League champion Stockton Ports.

California League Executives and Officials:

137. Bobby Brett Rancho Cucamonga Quakes
High Desert Mavericks
Riverside Red Wave
 Principal Owner of the Riverside Red Wave from 1988 through 1990. Principal Owner of the High Desert Mavericks from 1991 through 2010. Currently Principal Owner of the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes. Built the first new stadium in the south for the California League in 1991 when he moved the Riverside Red Wave to Adelanto, California and High Desert became the first California League franchise to draw over 200,000 fans in a season in 1991. Under Brett's stewardship, all three of his California League teams have won a total of six Cal League titles, the Riverside Red Wave in 1988, the High Desert Mavericks in 1991, 1993 and 1997 and the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes in 2015 and 2018.

138. Dave Elmore San Bernardino Spirit/Stampede
Inland Empire 66ers
 Along with Donna Tuttle, one of the two principal owners of the Inland Empire 66ers. Resurrected the franchise in San Bernardino. Purchased the Salinas Spurs and moved them to San Bernardino when the original Spirit moved to Rancho Cucamonga in 1993. Through his leadership the team was able to build a new downtown stadium in San Bernardino. Today the Inland Empire 66ers market themselves as a regional team and consistently draw over 200,000 fans a year. They have won six League Championships since Elmore moved the team to San Bernardino, including consecutive league titles in 1999 and 2000.

SEVEN HITS IN A MAJOR LEAGUE GAME BY A CAL LEAGUE PLAYER:

Only 5 players in Major League History have collected 7 hits in a game since 1900.

1. Cesar Gutierrez (1966 Fresno Giants) Detroit Tigers
 June 21st, 1970 (12 innings) vs. Cleveland Indians 7-3-7-1 (1 2B)
2. Brandon Crawford (2009/2010/2011 San Jose Giants) San Francisco Giants
 August 8th, 2016 (14 innings) vs. Miami Marlins 8-1-7-2 (1 2B, 1 3B, 1 HR)

139. Pat Filippone

Stockton Ports
Rancho Cucamonga Quakes

2019 marks his fourteenth consecutive year as the President and part owner of the Stockton Ports. He had an immediate impact with the Ports as the team set an all-time franchise attendance record as 218,497 fans jammed into Banner Island Ball Park in 2006. Nine of the ten Ports best attendance marks have been set under Filippone's leadership. In 2007 the Ports hosted the California League-Carolina League All-Star Game. In 2008, Stockton set the single game franchise attendance record on July 3rd with 6,285 fans packing the ballpark for an Independence Day celebration. The Ports won the 2008 California League Championship, a league tying best 11th title with Filippone running the team. In addition he created the charitable Anchor Fund, a foundation supporting many community projects with a focus on youth centers and youth sports. Finally he set up the Ports Alumni Club to preserve and share the rich tradition and history of the Stockton franchise. Pat's annual Alumni Night is always well attended by former Ports, an honor for the former ballplayers and a treat for the Stockton fans. He has been honored as the California League Executive of the Year in both 2003 and 2007.

From 2004 to 2006 he was the CEO of the Triple AAA Pacific Coast League Fresno Grizzlies and helped the team to its first operating profit in franchise history. From 1998 to 2003 he was the General Manager of the Rancho Cucamonga Quakes. He began his minor league career with the Prince William Cannons as Director of Operations in 1991, rising to the General Manager position in 1993. In 1994 he added Vice-President to his title and was appointed to the team's Board of Directors.

140. Bob Freitas

San Jose Bees

Former Business Manager of the San Jose Bees. Longtime minor league operator, promoter and ambassador. Today, Baseball America's prestigious annual awards are named after Freitas. They are presented to franchises that show sustained excellence in the business of minor league baseball.

141. Joe Gagliardi

California League President

The man did it all. Team owner and the longest reigning California League President from 1981 through 2009. Due to his inspirational leadership the California League became the premiere Class "A" league. Opened up the lucrative southern California market with the placement of teams in Palm Springs in 1986 and San Bernardino in 1987. By 1996 all the southern California teams played in new stadiums. Rancho Cucamonga set an all-time record with 446,146 fans in 1995. The league topped the 2 million mark with 2,061,889 in 1997, an average of 2,988 per game.

142. Gary Jacobs

Lake Elsinore Storm

The owner of the Lake Elsinore Storm since the 2001 season, he has overseen a team that is a winner on the field, at the box office and in the community. The Storm has finished first or second in attendance in the California League every year since 1995. The Storm were California League Co-Champions in 2001 and won the title outright in 2011. At The Diamond, they also led the California League in attendance in 2016 for the seventh consecutive year. The "Eyes of The Storm" logo has won nationwide acclaim for its creativity and is the number one selling logo in all of minor league baseball. In 2007, Lake Elsinore was praised by Baseball America for their environmental Going Green promotion night and for installing water efficient heads on all sprinklers and waterless urinals throughout the ballpark that save at least one million gallons of water a year.

143. Raj Narayanan

Lake Elsinore Storm
Inland Empire 66ers

The current General Manager of the Lake Elsinore Storm, Raj begins his sixth season leading the Storm in 2019 and his fourteenth year in the California League. He spent four years with the Inland Empire 66ers before joining Lake Elsinore. Born in Bombay, India, he spent most of his childhood in Madras, India and Chicago, Illinois.

Lake Elsinore has led the California League in attendance in four of the five years that Narayanan has been the General Manager.

His crowning achievement was organizing and hosting the 2016 California-Carolina League All-Star Game, celebrating the 75th Anniversary of the California League. The night before the game, the All-Star Game's Home Run Hitting Contest was held on the deck of the historic U. S. S. Midway Aircraft Carrier in San Diego. The Midway Classic drew national coverage. The next day was highlighted by the unveiling of the California League's Inaugural Hall of Fame Class. Accepting their awards in person were Major League Hall of Famer Rickey Henderson, Gary Sheffield, Jose Cruz, Jr. and Xavier Nady. The two day All-Star festivities received rave reviews.

In his first year with the 66ers he saw Inland Empire win the California League Championship. In his second year with the Storm he saw Lake Elsinore win the California League Championship.

144. Jennifer Reynolds Visalia Oaks/Rawhide
 The Rawhide have set franchise attendance records four of the last five seasons under the leadership of Reynolds. Joined the organization in 2007 as an Executive Assistant to President Tom Seidler. Responsibilities included helping with the stadium renovations and the the brand name change from the Oaks to the Rawhide. Promoted to the title of Assistant General Manager in 2009 and General Manager in 2013. 2017 saw Visalia host the California League All-Star Game for the first time in 28 years. The All-Star Game festivities were a huge success under the guidance of Reynolds. Monday's All-Star festival drew upon the area's agricultural roots and included a cow milking contest, a calf roping contest and a chicken chase. Tuesday's All-Star night was highlighted by the induction of the California League's second Hall of Fame Class, personally attended by Dave Duncan, Tony LaRussa and Tulare County's own Hall of Fame Umpire Doug Harvey.
 Reynolds has twice been honored by the California League as the Female Executive of the Year in 2013 and 2016.
 Teddy Roosevelt would have loved Reynolds for she speaks softly and carries a big stick as evidenced while playing for the Lee University Lady Flames in Cleveland, Tennessee she had her greatest sports highlight, "Hitting 3 bombs in a doubleheader against the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga Lady Moccasins when my family came to see me."
 The Rawhide have been to the California League Championship Series three times in the six years that Reynolds has been General Manager.
145. Tom Seidler Stockton Ports/Mudville Nine---Visalia Oaks/Rawhide
 Current President of the Visalia Rawhide, since the conclusion of the 2001 California League season when he swapped his Mudville Nine/Stockton Ports franchise for the Visalia Oaks franchise. Has been a miracle worker in the small central Valley town ever since. His tenure has brought stability, renewed community interest in the team and more importantly, a new spirit of cooperation with the city of Visalia that led to the first major renovation of Recreation Park since the 1960's. The newly renovated ballpark, along with the new team name (from the Oaks to the Rawhide) helped lead to new attendance records. The Rawhide were voted the California League Organization of the Year in 2012.
 Was the California League Executive of the Year in 1999 as President of the Stockton Ports. Showed great creativity and gained national notoriety when he renamed the Stockton Ports the Mudville Nine in honor of the famous poem, Casey At the Bat.
 Wearing two hats, Seidler, besides his involvement with the Rawhide is the Senior Vice-President of Community and Military Affairs for the San Diego Padres. In 2018 he was honored as the Big Brothers Big Sisters of San Diego County's Person of the Year.

146. Bill Shanahan

San Bernardino Spirit

The General Manager of the Spirit from 1987 thru 1990, Shanahan revolutionized the fan experience at California League Parks. With Fiscalini Field as his home base he became the pioneer of in-game entertainment long before the video boards and state of the art PA systems. He introduced walk-up music for batters, a restaurant with waitress service down the right field line and enthusiastic employees. When entering the ballpark, fans were greeted with "Welcome to Spiritland!" And that's what the ball park became, Spiritland!

While playing without a major league affiliation in its first season, the Spirit shattered the league's fifty year old attendance record by drawing 158,896 fans, almost 50,000 more than anyone else in the league. In his four seasons as the Spirits General Manager, Shanahan and his staff produced the top four seasons in attendance in California League history. He successfully hosted the 1990 California League All-Star Game and was voted California League Executive of the Year.

147. Harry Stavrenos

San Jose Bees/San Jose Giants

The man who saved minor league baseball in San Jose. Stavrenos was stuck with a San Jose Bees team without a major league affiliate in 1985. Finishing 8.5 games out of 8th place in a nine team league, attendance dwindled to 53,423 or less than 800 per game. In 1986 Stavrenos came up with the brilliant idea of the "Bad News Bees," a collection of ex-major leaguers, many who had washed out of the big leagues due to drug and/or alcohol problems. The fans came out to see the "Bad News Bees" and San Jose had the second best attendance in the league in 1986 at 87,235, more than a 60% increase over the previous year. In September of 2016, Tom Verducci wrote a feature article in Sports Illustrated on the thirty year anniversary of the 1986 Bees with a description of: "Weirdest. Team. Ever: Drug Users, has-beens and neverweres on 1986 San Jose Bees."

Stavrenos was President of the team when the Bees became the San Jose Giants in 1988, becoming affiliated with San Francisco. Under his leadership attendance increased to over 150,000 a season and the team won the 1998 California League title and shared it with Lake Elsinore in 2001.

148. Tom Volpe Visalia Oaks/Stockton Ports
 Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Stockton Ports. Originally entered the California League as one of the principal owners of the Visalia Oaks in 2001. A year later he swapped the Oaks franchise for the Mudville Nine team and restored the Stockton Ports name. Under Volpe's brilliant leadership the Ports unveiled the first new stadium in the Northern Division of the California League in over 50 years as Banner Island Ball Park made its debut in 2005. In addition the team became affiliated with the Oakland A's. The Ports have won two California League Championships under Volpe and finished second two other years.

149. Bill Weiss California League Historian
California League Statistician
 The greatest Minor League Historian ever. Weiss began his association with the California League in 1949 as the League Statistician. In 1951 he edited and published the first California League Record Book. He continued producing the Cal League Record Book for the next 54 years. In addition he published a weekly California League newsletter for a quarter of a century. At one time or another he was the Official Statistician for twelve different minor leagues, the American Association, Arizona-Texas League, the Far West League, the Longhorn League, the Northwest League, the Pacific Coast League, the Pioneer League, the Sunset League, the West Texas-New Mexico League, the Western League and the Western International League.

In 1998 Weiss and Marshall Wright were chosen by the National Baseball Association to rank the greatest minor league teams of all time. Their book, The 100 Greatest Minor League Baseball Teams of the 20th Century was published in 2001 and is a most coveted publication by minor league enthusiasts. Four California League teams made the list: 1961 Reno Silver Sox (#50), 1978 Visalia Oaks (#70), 1955 Fresno Cardinals (#79) and the 1947 Stockton Ports (#98).

No one individual knew more about the history and the traditions of the California League than Bill Weiss. He was a man who loved baseball and in return was revered by those in baseball. He passed away in 2011.

150. Mark Wilson San Jose Bees/San Jose Giants

Currently the Chief Operating Officer and the General Manager of the San Jose Giants. Began back in June of 1984 as an intern for the San Jose Bees. Slowly climbed the baseball ladder serving as an Administrative Assistant, Director of Promotions and Assistant General Manager. Promoted to General Manager in 1990 and has since added the title of Chief Operating Officer to his resume. Wilson is responsible for the California League's tie breaker procedures.

Wilson begins his 30th year as a General Manager in the California League in 2019, the longest tenure in the league. The San Jose Giants have captured five California League Championships and shared a sixth with Lake Elsinore in 2001 with Mark Wilson as General Manager.

Major League Baseball World Champion California League Players

In April of 1996, the Chicago Bulls had completed their historic NBA regular season with a record of 72-10. Bulls guard, Ron Harper commented, "72-10 don't mean a thing without the Ring!" The Bulls completed the greatest NBA season ever by defeating the Seattle SuperSonics to win the NBA Championship.

In all four major sports, the ultimate goal is the World Championship. In hockey it is the Stanley Cup. The winner of the Super Bowl claims the Vince Lombardi Trophy. In the NBA, it's the Larry O'Brien Trophy. And in major league baseball, the oldest American team sport, it is winning the World Series Trophy.

The California League has helped develop players over the past seventy-seven years that have been major contributors to World Series Championships. For many their journeys began on the ball fields of the California League, for others it was a temporary stopping off point on their way to the major leagues.

The inaugural year of the California League, 1941, saw four of the President's Cup winning Santa Barbara Saints, Bruce Edwards, Hal Gregg, Spider Jorgensen and Vic Lombardi, help the Brooklyn Dodgers capture the 1947 National League pennant. All four players started games in the 1947 World Series.

Tom Morgan, 1949 Ventura Yankees, became the first former California League player to win a World Series Championship in 1951 as the New York Yankees defeated the New York Giants 4 games to 2. Morgan made a relief appearance in Game # 1, throwing two shutout innings (the 8th and 9th innings), striking out 3, walking 1 and yielding 2 hits in a 5-1 Yankees loss. Morgan would win his second World Series Ring with the Yankees in 1956 as they defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers.

While Morgan won the first Ring and the four Santa Barbara Saints were the first four to play in a World Series, a total of 219 former California League players have won a total of 295 World Series Rings! Consider the following impressive facts:

- 1- Every World Series since 1965, 54 consecutive years, has seen a former California League player win a World Series Championship while playing in the World Series.
- 2- Every World Series since 1959, 60 consecutive years, has seen a former California League player play in the World Series.
- 3- Every World Series Champion since 1951, 68 consecutive years, has had a former California League player on their roster and play in a regular season game.

4- Every World Series since 1947, 72 consecutive years, has seen a former California League player on the World Champion's regular season roster playing in a regular season game or play in the World Series.

5- Of the past 72 World Series, a former California League player has played in 68 of them, all but four, the 1948, 1955, 1957 and 1958 World Series.

Five players have played on four World Series Championship teams. They are:

Paul Blair	1962 Santa Barbara Rancheros 1963 Stockton Ports	1966 Baltimore Orioles 1970 Baltimore Orioles 1977 New York Yankees 1978 New York Yankees
Reggie Jackson	1966 Modesto Reds	1973 Oakland A's 1974 Oakland A's 1977 New York Yankees 1978 New York Yankees
Chuck Knobloch	1989 Visalia Oaks	1991 Minnesota Twins 1998 New York Yankees 1999 New York Yankees 2000 New York Yankees
Jeff Nelson	1986 Bakersfield Dodgers 1987 Salinas Spurs 1988 San Bernardino Spirit	1996 New York Yankees 1998 New York Yankees 1999 New York Yankees 2000 New York Yankees
Javier Lopez	2000 High Desert Mavericks 2001 Lancaster JetHawks	2007 Boston Red Sox 2010 San Francisco Giants 2012 San Francisco Giants 2014 San Francisco Giants

Reggie Jackson actually won 5 World Series Rings, but did not play in the 1972 World Series as he had been injured in the final ALCS game with the Detroit Tigers.

Nelson is the amazing story as it is a miracle he ever got out of the California League, much less making it to the major leagues. With Bakersfield in 1986, he was 0-7 with a 6.69 ERA. The next year in Salinas he was 3-7 with a 5.74 ERA and finally in San Bernardino in 1988 he was 8-9 with a 5.54 ERA. Nelson pitched in 13 World Series games for the Yankees from 1996 to 2000, 12 of them holding the opposition scoreless.

Team wise, 72% of the 2014 World Champion San Francisco Giants World Series roster, 18 of 25, consisted of former California League players. 14 of the 18 were from the San Jose Giants teams from 1998 to 2013. The 2017 Houston Astros had 13 former California League players on their World Series roster, eleven from the Lancaster JetHawks. The 1991 World Champion Minnesota Twins and the 2002 World Champion Anaheim Angels each had 12 former California League players on their World Series rosters.

Six of the former California League players have helped to re-write the World Series Record Book. In the 2017 World Series, George Springer of the Houston Astros, the World Series MVP, set three World Series records: Most Total Bases with 29, Most Extra Base Hits with 8 and became the first player ever to hit a Home Run in Four Consecutive Games (in one world series). In addition he tied the World Series Record for Most Home Runs (5) in a World Series, originally set by Reggie Jackson (1966 Modesto Reds) in 1977 and later tied by Chase Utley in 2009.

Reggie Jackson (1966 Modesto Reds) became the first player to hit three consecutive home runs in a World Series game, driving in 9 runs in the 1977 World Series for the Champion New York Yankees and cementing his reputation as "Mr. October." Jackson was the 1977 World Series MVP.

Madison Bumgarner, over three World Series years with the San Francisco Giants, has earned the moniker as the "Greatest Pitcher in World Series History." His 0.25 ERA in 36 innings is the lowest in World Series history (minimum 25 innings). His World Series record is 4-0 with one Save. And that Save, 5 innings in Game # 7 of the 2014 World Series, is the longest in World Series history. Bumgarner was the 2014 World Series MVP.

Larry Sherry (1954 Bakersfield Dodgers) had one of the greatest World Series pitching performances in history with the 1959 Los Angeles Dodgers, responsible for all four Dodgers wins, winning 2 games in relief and saving the other 2 games. For the Series, Sherry pitched in 4 games, 12.2 innings with a 0.71 ERA. He saved Game #'s 2 and 3 and was the winning hurler in Game #'s 4 and 6. Sherry was the 1959 World Series MVP.

Billy Hatcher (1982 Salinas Spurs) compiled the highest Batting Average in a single World Series in the 113 year history of the World Series. Playing for the 1990 World Champion Cincinnati Reds, in their four game upset sweep of the defending World Champion Oakland A's, Hatcher hit an amazing .750 with 9 hits in 12 At Bats. He had 4 singles, 4 doubles and 1 triple, driving in 2 runs and scoring 6 times in the first three games of the Series. He was hit by a pitch in Game # 4 as a PH.

Darold Knowles (1962 Stockton Ports), in the 1973 World Series, while pitching for the World Champion Oakland A's, became the first pitcher in World Series history to pitch in all 7 games of the Series. Knowles pitched a total of 6.2 shutout innings, earning Saves in Games # 1 and # 7.
