PAULA WILLIAMS MADISON

Paula Williams Madison is Chairman and CEO of Madison Media Management LLC, a division of Williams Group Holdings LLC, a Chicago-based investment company wholly owned by her family. Madison Media Management LLC is a Los Angeles limited liability company which invests primarily in emerging media, entertainment and communication businesses.

Williams Group Holdings manages its significant investments in media (The Africa Channel), a sports franchise (WNBA's Los Angeles team, The LA Sparks), banking (LA's Broadway Federal Bank), and various real estate, consumer, financial and trading businesses.

Chairman of The LA Sparks, she's also a member of the WNBA Board of Governors.

Madison recently retired from NBCUniversal, where she had been Executive Vice President of Diversity as well as a Vice President of the General Electric Company (GE).

During her 22 years with NBCU, she held a number of successful leadership roles, including President and General Manager of NBC4 Los Angeles, Los Angeles Regional General Manager for NBCU's Telemundo TV stations and Vice President and News Director of NBC4 New York.

In 2007, she was appointed to lead diversity for NBCU. It was the first time a company officer assumed a full-time responsibility as the business-lead for diversity. That same year, Madison was named a Company Officer for GE, then the parent company of NBCU, now operated by the Comcast Corporation.

After Vassar College, her early career was spent as a newspaper reporter in New York and Texas, then a TV news manager and executive in Dallas, Tulsa and Houston. Finally, she returned to her native New York City as NBC4's Assistant News Director, becoming the station's Vice President and News Director in March 1996.

Her career as a journalist led to a 1996 Peabody Award for NBC4 New York's investigation, "A License to Kill." Madison's continued dedication to quality journalism helped NBC4 Los Angeles earn numerous Emmy, Golden Mike and Regional Edward R. Murrow Awards.

Honored for corporate leadership and community outreach, Madison was named one of the "75 Most Powerful African Americans in Corporate America" by Black Enterprise Magazine in 2005 and included in the Hollywood Reporter's "Power 100."

A marathoner, Madison also received the "Citizen of the Year Award" from the City of Los Angeles Marathon in 2004 and the AntiDefamation League's "2003 Deborah Award." Ebony Magazine listed her in the "Power 150 in Media."

In 2010, Los Angeles Mayor Antonio R. Villaraigosa appointed her one of five Library Commissioners for the nation's second largest public library system.

Madison is a Board Member of the Friends of the California African American Museum, Greater Los Angeles United Way, the Los Angeles Library Foundation, Chairman of the California Science Center Foundation, Vice Chair of National Medical Fellowships, the Center for Public Integrity, the Maynard Institute for Journalism Education, the Los Angeles Public Library Commission, Cardinal Spellman High School, Vassar College Board of Trustees and Chair of The Nell Williams Family Foundation.

EXECUTIVES

PRESIDENT MIKE LEVY

Entering his second full season as Team President of the Los Angeles Sparks is Mike Levy, who boasts over 26 years of experience in sports and entertainment marketing, sales, communications, operations and management

Levy joined the franchise in August 2010, bringing with him a wealth of knowledge from time spent in the National Basketball Association, Major League Baseball and the National Football League, among other sports leagues and organizations.

Early in his Sparks'tenure, Levy has already spearheaded the renewal of the Sparks'partnership with Farmers'Insurance, elevating it to a presenting partnership. He has also implemented several innovative ticket sales programs to help drive revenue, as the Sparks finished second in the WNBA in home attendance in 2011.

Prior to joining the Sparks, he served as Special Advisor, Business Development with the Cleveland Browns where he was responsible for transitioning the club's ticket sales and customer retention efforts in 2009 and 2010. Prior to the Browns, he was General Manager and COO for the Cleveland Gladiators of the Arena Football League, where he oversaw all business operations including marketing, advertising, communications, ticket sales and community relations.

Levy spent two years as Chief Marketing Officer with the International Tennis Hall of Fame where he oversaw business development and marketing. Before his tenure with the Tennis Hall of Fame, he served as Senior Vice President of Sales and Marketing for the NBA's Memphis Grizzlies, where he was responsible for overall ticket sales, tickets services and marketing including the relocation of the franchise to Memphis and the team's transition from The Pyramid to FedExForum.

Levy also spent 10 years in Major League Baseball including five seasons as both the Vice President, Marketing and Communications for the Kansas City Royals and Director of Sales for the Houston Astros.

Levy's other sales and marketing experience included overseeing the start-up and operations of a racetrack in Houston and working in his hometown of Pittsburgh for the Penguins (NHL), Spirit (MISL) and Pittsburgh Maulers (USFL).

Levy and his wife Bennie have two children, Madison and Michael. He enjoys playing tennis in his spare time.

VP/GENERAL MANAGER PENNY TOLER

Penny Toler has served as General Manager of the Los Angeles Sparks for the past 12 seasons, and since 2010 has held the dual title of Vice President. Her skill at roster-building - bringing some of the most talented female athletes in the world to Los Angeles - and keen sense of basketball operations are complimented by her years as a professional athlete. Through her experience she has assembled the rosters of two back-to-backWNBA championship teams with the Sparks in 2001 and 2002.

Toler's responsibilities include a variety of duties year-round, with overall attention to the day-to-day management of the team. Her areas of oversight include contract negotiations, salary cap relations and strategy, and the scouting of collegiate and international players. In addition to those tasks, she also works in various marketing, public relations and other management capacities.

Toler retired from playing professional basketball in November 1999 with a combined 13 years overseas/WNBA experience to become the second general manager in team history. In just two years, Toler became the fastest person in any men's or women's professional sports league to win a championship after transitioning from a playing career to general manager. Toler delivered the first WNBA Championship to the city of Los Angeles by dethroning the four-time WNBA champion Houston Comets (2001).

In her 12 seasons as General Manager, Toler has guided the team to the WNBA Playoffs 10 times (2000-06 and 2008-10), as well as three conference championships in 2001, 2002 and 2003, to go along with the pair of WNBA titles. In an effort to advance the women's game, Toler was a strong advocate in implementing the 24 second shot clock and turning the two, 20 -minutes halves into four, 10 -minute quarters.

Toler has also been a member of the USA Basketball Women's Competition Committee where she assisted in the selection of three gold medal winning teams: the 2002 World University Championship games, the 2004 Olympic team and the 2008 Olympic team.

Toler made history again in 2006 when her No. 11 Sparks jersey became the first female athlete's jersey to be retired at the STAPLES Center in recognition both of her playing and management career.

She scored the first basket in WNBA history on June 21, 1997 vs. the New York Liberty, and finished the inaugural season as the Sparks' second leading scorer with 13.1 ppg. Toler also shot $41.7 \%$ from three-point range in 1997 - ranking her second in the WNBA - while she finished fifth in the league in assists at 4.8 per game. Toler again ranked among the league leaders in assists and three-point accuracy in 1998, and retired after the 1999 season with WNBA career averages of 10.0 points, 2.8 rebounds and 2.0 assists in 88 games played.

Toler graduated from Long Beach State University in 1989 where she set several school records including career assists (513) and career free-throw percentage (.795). A member of two Final Four teams, (1987 and 1988) under Coach Joan Bonvicini, Toler earned Kodak All-America honors, Pacific Coast Athletic Association Player of the Year and Co-Big West Player of the Year recognition in 1988 and 1989. She scored 2,193 points in three seasons of play at LBSU (sitting out the 1985-86 season after transferring from San Diego State). Toler's impressive collegiate career was recognized with her induction into the LBSU Hall of Fame in 1995 and a jersey retirement ceremony in 2007 by the 49er Athletics Department.

Beyond the WNBA, Toler combined her sense of community and business savvy and began her "Points from Penny" program in 1998. The goal of the program is to teach youth in the Los Angeles and Las Vegas areas the fundamentals of basketball, the importance of teamwork and the value of competition. The program was nominated for several awards during its tenure, including the American Express Entrepreneurial Spirit Award. Since that time she has focused on bringing the same type of community-oriented programs to the Sparks front office. For the past six seasons, the Sparks players, coaches and staff have participated in the Academic Skills Basketball Clinic, a program created by Toler that emphasizes the importance of academics as well as athletic success.

Toler's hobbies include going to the movies, getting interior design tips from HGTV, and working with underprivileged youth and donating to battered women's programs. She also sits on the Long Beach State Advisory Committee for the Sports Management program. Raised in Washington D.C. with three brothers and four sisters, Toler currently resides in Los Angeles.

HEAD COACH

CAROL ROSS

Carol Ross was named Los Angeles Sparks head coach on January 5, 2012, bringing over 25 years of coaching experience to the STAPLES Center sidelines.

Most recently, she spent three seasons an assistant coach with the Atlanta Dream, WNBA Finalists in both 2010 and 2011. With Ross joining the staff in 2009, Atlanta enjoyed a 14-game turnaround from its inaugural WNBA season in 2008 and finished tied for second in the Eastern Conference. The Dream have posted 21-13 regular season records in each of the past two years, tying for first in 2011 en route to a second straight WNBA Finals appearance.

Prior to her tenure in Atlanta, Ross amassed a 324-161 (.668) record in 16 seasons as an NCAA Division I head coach in the highly-competitive Southeastern Conference, guiding her teams to 12 NCAA Tournaments and two WNIT appearances. Twelve of those seasons (1990-02) were spent at Florida where she coached current Sparks forward DeLisha Milton-Jones - before returning to her alma mater Mississippi from 2003-07.

During her four-year run at Ole Miss, Ross compiled a 77-50 (.606) record and guided the Lady Rebels to two NCAA Tournaments and a pair of WNIT appearances. In Ross'first season, 2003-04, she led Mississippi back to the Big Dance for the first time since 1995-96 and earned SEC co-Coach of the Year honors. In 2006-07, Ole Miss reached the 20-win plateau for the first time in more than a decade and advanced all the way to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament.

Ross also developed a reputation for developing WNBA talent at Florida, where she remains the winningest coach in school history with a 247-121 (.671) mark over 12 seasons and was a finalist for the Naismith National Coach of the Year in both 2001 and 2002. The Lady Gators - who had never received a bid to the NCAA Tournament before Ross' arrival in Gainesville - appeared in nine NCAA Tournaments over her last 10 years. Florida averaged over 20 victories per season during her 12 -year tenure, and almost 23 wins over the last 10 years.

Also active in USA Basketball, Ross has served as an assistant coach with the 2005 Under-19 World Championship team that won the gold medal as well as head coach of the 1998 USA Women's Select Team that went 7-1.

Ross earned her bachelor's degree in Education from Ole Miss in 1982. Ross was a four-year starter for the Lady Rebels from 1978-81, when Ole Miss logged a 93-50 record. She became the fourth women's basketball player ever to be inducted into the University of Mississippi Athletic Hall of Fame when she was honored on Sept. 1, 2001.

After earning her degree, Ross served as a volunteer assistant at Belhaven College in Jackson, Miss., for one year before returning to the SEC as an assistant at Auburn from 1983-90. During that time she advanced from graduate assistant to top assistant and chief recruiter. She played a key role in the school's development and maturation into a perennial NCAA Tourney team.

The Oakland, Miss., native has served as a board member for both the American Cancer Society and the Coaches vs. Cancer organization, which honored her as its 2000 Coaches vs. Cancer Champion Award winner.

ASSISTANT COACHES

SANDY BRONDELLO

JIM LEWIS

Entering her second season on the Sparks' coaching staff is Sandy Brondello, who boasts 12 total years of WNBA experience as a player and coach and has also competed internationally at the highest levels.

Brondello came to Los Angeles after serving as the San Antonio Silver Stars' head coach in 2010, guiding them to a Western Conference Semifinal berth. Previously she served as an assistant in San Antonio for five years (2005-2009), helping the team earn its first Western Conference Championship and trip to the WNBA Finals in 2008.

A WNBA veteran, she played five seasons with the Seattle Storm (2003), Miami Sol (2001-02) and the Detroit Shock (1998-99), averaging 11.4 points and 2.3 assists in 155 career games.
Brondello played in the inaugural WNBA All-Star Game in 1999, and ranks fourth in league history with her 41.0\% career threepoint percentage.

The native Australian played for the Australia National Team for 18 years and is a four-time Olympian. She is a two-time silver medalist (2000 and 2004) and took home a bronze medal at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta. She also represented Australia at the 1988 Olympics, while in 1992 Brondello was named the Australian International Player of the Year. She helped Australia bring home the bronze medal from both the 1998 and 2002 FIBA World Championships and also competed at the 1994 and 1990 World Championships and the 1990 Goodwill Games.

Prior to playing in the WNBA, Brondello played in the Women's National Basketball League (WNBL) in Australia from 1986-96, earning league MVP acclaim in 1995. She also played in Germany for BTV Wuppertal from 1992-2002, helping the team win 10 German Cup Championships. In 1996, Brondello was named the European Cup MVP after leading Wuppertal to the European Cup title and earned three European Cup All-Star selections1994, 1996 and 1997.

Brondello earned a degree in teaching from the University of Western Sydney in 1990. She and her husband Olaf Lange - a veteran basketball coach who served alongside Brondello in San Antonio last season - have a four-year-old son, Brody Max Lange, and welcomed Jayda Grace Lange to their family on May 31, 2010.

Joining the Sparks in 2012 as an assistant coach is Jim Lewis, a veteran of the WNBA and collegiate ranks with over 40 years of bench experience.Lewis comes to the Sparks from George Mason University, where he served as an assistant coach with the Patriots' women's basketball team in 2011-12. He previously led GMU for 14 seasons (1984-1997) and remains the winningest head coach in school history with 201 victories. While with the Patriots, Lewis also served as an assistant coach on four medal-winning USA Basketball teams in the mid- 90 's.

Lewis left George Mason to become the first head coach in Washington Mystics history, guiding the franchise during its inaugural WNBA campaign in 1998. He later served as an assistant with the Minnesota Lynx in 2006, and as the Indiana Fever's assistant coach/director of scouting from 2008-10. With Lewis on staff, Indiana captured the 2009 Eastern Conference title and reached the WNBA Finals. In Los Angeles, he's reunited with former Fever forward Ebony Hoffman.

Additional head coaching experience came at Fordham University (2001-06) and T.C. Williams High School (2007-08) in his hometown of Alexandria, Va. Prior to his most recent tenure at George Mason, Lewis served as an assistant coach at Georgia Tech in 2010-11, helping the Yellow Jackets reach the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

He began his coaching career as an assistant coach with men's programs at Tennessee State, Gannon College, Duke and Tulane before coaching the boy's team at South Lakes High School for three seasons. As a player, Lewis was a four-year letterwinner at West Virginia University - competing in two NCAA Tournaments and one NIT - and earning his Bachelor of Science degree in journalism in 1968.

Lewis and his wife Karen have two children, Jennifer and Christopher, who both reside in northern Virginia. Jennifer, a graduate of Columbia University, is a physical therapist and Christopher, who graduated from Harvard University and was a two-year letterwinner on the men's basketball team, is a political consultant.

"C" indicates a new career-high, "T" a tied career-high.
Numbers in parentheses indicate the number of games in which a player or team has reached a given total (if more than one).

Established in 1997 as one of eight original teams in the Women's National Basketball Association, the Los Angeles Sparks tipped off the WNBA's inaugural season on June 21, 1997 versus the New York Liberty at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, CA. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in league history, although the Liberty prevailed 67-57. Los Angeles compiled an impressive 45-17 record in four seasons at the Great Western Forum before following their NBA counterparts, the Los Angeles Lakers, to STAPLES Center, located in the heart of downtown Los Angeles.

Led by 2001 WNBA Coach of the Year Michael Cooper and MVP Lisa Leslie, the Sparks went on to tie a league record and franchise-best 28 wins in their debut season at STAPLES Center. Posting a record-breaking 9-0 start to the 2001 campaign, Los Angeles completed the regular season undefeated at home with a WNBA-best 16-0 mark. The Sparks also topped the League in points (76.3), defensive rebounds (.720), total rebounds (.39) and assists (18.3) per game and captured their first-ever WNBA championship - sweeping the Eastern Conference Champion Charlotte Sting in the Finals. After retiring in November 1999 to serve as the Sparks General Manager, former Los Angeles point guard Penny Toler became the fastest player-turned-manager in any men's or women's league to assemble a championship team (two years). Toler is also the first WNBA player in the league's history to go from the hardwood to the executive suite as General Manager of Player Personnel.

In 2002, the Sparks became the second team in WNBA history to repeat as champions - going undefeated ( $6-0$ ) through the playoffs en route to a sweep of the Eastern Conference Champion New York Liberty. Los Angeles held an impressive 12-1 playoff record during its back-to-back championship seasons.

The 2003 season proved to be an injury-riddled one for Los Angeles. Resiliently, the Sparks overcame their injuries and went on to win the Western Conference Championship for a third consecutive year. The Sparks had a convincing Game 1 victory over the Detroit Shock 75-63. They were then faced with the scenario of trying to become the first team in WNBA history to win the championship on the road. This feat nearly came to fruition as the Sparks overcame a 19-point deficit in Game 2 at Detroit; however, the Shock pulled out the nail-biter 62-61 to force a deciding Game 3. The championship game, held at The Palace at Auburn Hills, proved to be a historic event as it was played before the largest crowd in WNBA history $-22,076$. The Shock's victory was sealed by Deanna Nolan's three-point basket with 53 seconds remaining and perfect free-throw shooting down the stretch.

The 2004 Sparks continued their impressive streak of Playoff appearances by making it to postseason play for the sixth-straight year with a 25-9 regular-season record. However, the Sacramento Monarchs ended Los Angeles' chances of repeating as Western Conference Champion with a first-round series victory over Los Angeles. 2004 WNBA MVP Lisa Leslie led the league in rebounds per game and was third in scoring. Leslie and teammate Nikki Teasley each received All-WNBA recognition.

2005 introduced Los Angeles to six-time WNBA All-Star Chamique Holdsclaw, who led the Sparks in points, free-throws made and consistently ranked in the top three in the league for points, minutes, and field goals that season. Sparks veteran Lisa Leslie continued to impress fans in Los Angeles with her 15.2 points per game and 71 total blocked shots. A 2005 All-Star, Leslie made history as the first player to dunk in a WNBA AllStar game. With 13 wins and 16 losses under head coach Henry Bibby, assistant coach Joe"Jellybean" Bryant took over for the final five games (4-1) allowing the team to finish squarely at .500 (17-17). With a perfectly split record, the Sparks caught a glimpse of the postseason but their tireless efforts were outmatched by the Monarch's for the second straight year.

2006 proved to be a historic year for the Sparks as players reached career milestones and as the organization changed ownership. Lisa Leslie became the first WNBA player to reach 5,000 career points and was named the WNBA's Most Valuable Player for the third time. Leslie's illustrious career was honored in an on-court celebration in which then-team president Johnny Buss dedicated the court to the record-breaking center. Milestones by the Sparks did not cease there. In a historic presentation, Penny Toler's decade of involvement with the Sparks as an exceptional player and as a dedicated General Manager was recognized when her №. 11 jersey was retired during a Sparks game, marking the first female jersey to be retired at STAPLES Center. With Coach Bryant at the helm, the 2006 Sparks boasted a 25-9 regular season record and came back to beat the Seattle Storm falling behind 1-0 in the Western Conference Semifinals. The Sparks concluded the 2006 season when they were defeated at the Honda Center by the Sacramento Monarchs, who went on to win the WNBA title.

After a decade of commitment, the Los Angeles Lakers and the Buss family sold the Sparks to a group of investors led by Carla Christofferson and Katherine Goodman. Sparks season ticket holders themselves, Christofferson and Goodman focused on connecting fans through fun and engaging experiences at STAPLES Center. The Sparks are now one of six WNBA teams to be owned and operated independently of NBA teams.

The 2007 season had its share of ups-and-downs. With Coach Cooper in place but star center and team captain Lisa Leslie out for the season on maternity leave, other players worked to fill the void. The team was hit by another surprise when star forward Chamique Holdsclaw announced her abrupt retirement from the WNBA just five games into the season.

The 2007 season ended with the Sparks finishing with the worst regular-season franchise history at 10-24, breaking a string of eight straight Playoff appearances. One bright spot in 2007 was the spectacular play of rookie Sidney Spencer who led the Sparks in points (327), led WNBA rookies in free-throw percentage (88.1\%), and in double-doubles (2).

The Sparks' fortunes turned around in the off-season as they landed the No. 1 pick in the 2008 WNBA Draft, which was used to select Candace Parker fresh off leading Tennessee to consecutive NCAA titles.

That excitement carried into the 2008 season as the Sparks returned three-time MVP Lisa Leslie and All-Star forward DeLisha Milton-Jones to the floor. Meanwhile, the addition Parker had Sparks fans hoping for their third WNBA Championship in the fall of 2008. Los Angeles was led all season long by the big three as Parker paced the team in scoring ( 18.5 ppg ) and rebounds ( 9.5 rpg ), Leslie chipped in 15.5 ppg and led the team in blocked shots ( 3.1 bpg ) and Milton-Jones was also solid averaging 13.9 ppg and 6.3 boards. The Sparks finished the regular season in third place in the Western Conference and returned to the Playoffs. Taking on the Seattle Storm in the first round and winning the series 2-1 found LA back in the Western Conference Finals hoping to contend for the Championship. Fate had a different plan for the Sparks, as they were 1.3 seconds away from returning to the WNBA Finals when the San Antonio Silver Stars converted on a gamewinning basket. The Sparks lost game three in San Antonio and with that, the season was over. Although the Sparks did not win their third WNBA Championship in 2008, they did take home three of the most prestigious individual league awards. Lisa Leslie won the 2008 Defensive Player of the Year award and Candace Parker became the first player in WNBA history to win both the Rookie of the Year award and the league MVP award in the same year.

In 2009, the Sparks seemingly had its greatest team ever assembled on paper. With the additions of Tina Thompson, Betty Lennox, Los Angeles native Noelle Quinn and a strong draft class, the Sparks had only one goal - to bring home a championship to the city of Los Angeles.

The Sparks had another motivation to win that season. In early 2009, Lisa Leslie announced that it would be her final season in the WNBA. With the game's greatest player retiring, the Sparks planned to send the face of their franchise out with a spectacular championship celebration. The team came up just short again, losing to the eventual champion Phoenix Mercury in the Western Conference Finals.

An up-and-down, injury-plagued 2010 campaign still resulted in the Sparks' 11th WNBA Playoff appearance in franchise history. Star forward Candace Parker was off to a torrid start - averaging a double-double - before her season was derailed by a separated shoulder after just 10 games.

With nagging injuries to free-agent point guard signee Ticha Penicheiro, as well as other key players, the Sparks struggled to a 6-16 start before rallying for a 7-6 finish to qualify for the Western Conference Semifinals in head coach Jennifer Gillom's first season at the helm.

One highlight of 2010 was forward Tina Thompson becoming the WNBA's all-time scoring leader, surpassing the previous record of 6,263 points held by Sparks' legend Lisa Leslie. Thompson's record-breaking moment came with 5:01 remaining in the third quarter of the Sparks'Aug. 8 game vs. San Antonio, when she buried a 16 -footern in front of a roaring STAPLES Center crowd.

2011 saw the signing of Southern California native Ebony Hoffman as well as a celebration of the WNBA's 15th season, with the Sparks being one of three original franchises dating back to 1997. Los Angeles stormed out of the gates at 4-1, including a thrilling 96-91 win over the New York Liberty on June 21, played 15 years to the day of their inaugural meeting at the Forum. However, misfortune struck just five days later in Newark, N.J., as Candace Parker suffered a knee injury vs. the Liberty that sidelined her for the next 15 games. She returned in late August and regained her old form, and although the Sparks remained in Playoff contention to the very end they came up just short.

The Sparks were well-represented on the roster of Top-15 WNBA Players of All-Time, as Lisa Leslie, Tina Thompson, Ticha Penicheiro and Teresa Witherspoon were each presented with that honor during halftime of the 2011 All-Star Game in San Antonio on July 23.

Another exciting announcement was made on the STAPLES Center floor at halftime of the Aug. 26, 2011 game vs. Tulsa, as Sparks Chairperson Paula Madison introduced Lisa Leslie to the crowd as the newest member of the team's ownership group. In doing so, she became the first former WNBA player to invest in a league team.

The 2012 offseason started off with a few more strokes of good luck for the Sparks. The Sparks won the draft lottery with the lowest possible chance, and made a splash with the head coaching hire of Carol Ross.

Ross and Toler quickly assembled a list of key veterans through trades and free agent signings. In training camp, the team has only five returning players from 2011. With the key offseason additions of Alana Beard, Nicky Anosike, Marissa Coleman, Ashley Shields and Sharnee Zoll.

In the 2012 WNBA Draft, it was clear that Nnemkadi Ogwumike was the first and best pick. The forward led her Stanford Cardinal to four straight final four appearances.

On paper, the 2012 Sparks look ready to contend for a Championship. It is now up to the team and Head Coach Ross to make that goal a reality.

History: On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996, there have been many firsts for the WNBA:
Val Ackerman -- the first president of the WNBA
Sheryl Swoopes -- the first player signed to the WNBA
Cynthia Cooper -- the league's first Most Valuable Player
Houston Comets -- the first WNBA Champions
Lisa Leslie -- the first WNBA player to dunk (7/30/02 vs. Miami)
Lauren Jackson - the first international player to win MVP (2007)
Candace Parker - the first rookie to earn the league's MVP honor (2008)
Sylvia Fowles - the first goaltending call ( \(6 / 3 / 2008\) vs. LA)
The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks, 67-57.

A Growing Game: The influence of the WNBA can be seen in the explosive growth of organized women's basketball over the past 14 seasons. An estimated 100 million women play basketball worldwide, and the league reflects this trend, featuring 20 international players from 13 countries and territories at the end of the 2010 season. Female AAU youth basketball participation has increased 277 percent since 1991 (from 28,840 to 108,758 players). Female high school basketball participation has increased 17 percent since 1991 (from 387,802 to 456,967 players). And female NCAA basketball participation has increased 43 percent since 1991 (from 10,551 to 15,096 players).
Key Personnel:Laurel Richie - President
Renee Brown - Chief of Basketball Operations and Player Relations
Christine Godleski - Chief Operating Officer
Jamin Dershowitz - General Counsel
Dee Kantner - Supervisor of Officials
Hilary Shaev - Vice President, Marketing

Key Stats:
Ball size: 28.5" (high school and NCAA women's)
3-point line: 20'6 1/4" (International)
Length of game: Four 10-minute quarters

All-Star Game: The San Antonio Silver Stars and the AT&T Center will host the 2011 WNBA All-Star Game in San Antonio on Saturday, July 23, 2011.

In place of the All-Star Game last season, the league hosted a special event, "WNBA vs. USA Basketball: The Stars at the Sun" at Mohegan Sun Arena in Uncasville Conn. on July 10, 2010. The event showcased the world's best female basketball players under one roof and helped the USA Basketball Women's National Team prepare for the upcoming FIBA World Championship that fall. The USAB squad, featuring 10 WNBA players and one collegian, defeated a team of WNBA stars 99-72. Sylvia Fowles of the Chicago Sky and playing for USAB, earned game MVP honors. University of Connecticut's Geno Auriemma coached the U.S. squad while Seattle Storm Head Coach Brian Agler led the WNBA team.

The first WNBA All-Star Game was held in New York at Madison Square Garden in 1999. The Garden also hosted the event in 2003 and in 2006. Washington's Verizon Center \((2002,2007)\) is the other venue to host the game multiple times. Other All-Star Games were played in Phoenix (2000), Orlando (2001) and at the Mohegan Sun Arena in Uncasville, Conn. (2009). Due to the Olympics, no AllStar Game was held in 2004 and 2008, although Radio City Music Hall in New York City was the site of an exhibition game on August 5, 2004, as the U.S. National Team, comprised mainly of WNBA greats, faced a squad of WNBA All-Stars in "WNBA vs. USA Basketball: The Game at Radio City"

Inspiring Coach: The Inspiring Coach Award is an annual honor introduced in 2007 to recognize coaches who have positively influenced athletes across numerous levels and whose achievements leave an indelible mark on sports as a whole. The University of Connecticut's Geno Auriemma earned the honor in 2010 for his profound impact on female athletes and his demonstrated commitment, passion, and dedication to work, family, and community. Previous winners include Pat Summit, Kay Yow, and Jody Conradt.

Inspiring Women: The Inspiring Woman Award is an annual honor that celebrates an individual who, on a daily basis, demonstrates her ability to inspire others through her commitment, passion and dedication to work, family, and community. Past honorees include U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Susan Rice (2010), Emmy-award winning journalist Cokie Roberts (2009), Good Morning America's Robin Roberts (2008), Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice (2007), and the WNBA All-Decade Team (2006).

Dawn Staley Award: The Dawn Staley Community Leadership Award was announced in 2006 and is now presented annually to the player who best exemplifies the characteristics of a leader in the community and reflects Staley's contagious leadership, spirit, charitable efforts and love for the game. Winners include Chamique Holdsclaw (2009), Tamika Raymond (2008), and Tamika Catchings (2007). A member of the WNBA's All-Decade Team, Staley, who retired following the 2006 season, established herself as one of the greatest ambassadors in women's basketball history, while also demonstrating outstanding leadership qualities as a coach on the collegiate level and as a philanthropist and humanitarian.

Marketing: The WNBA maintains marketing, promotional, and media partnerships with a variety of top companies, each with varying levels of activation and integration in league operations.

Marketing and Promotional Partners: adidas, American Express, Bacardi, BBVA, CieAura, Coca-Cola, EA, Gatorade, General Mills/ Wheaties, Hayworth, HP, InterContinental Hotels Group (IHG) Hotels, Jamba Juice, NewTek, Nike, Panasonic, Pepperidge Farm, Russell Athletic, Sanofi Aventis, Sanofi Pasteur, Spalding, T-Mobile

Media Partners: USA Today, Parenting Group, Essence, Heart & Soul
The WNBA's marketing partners utilize the league to support women's sports and reach its strong fanbase of women, families, and young girls through advertising in WNBA nationally televised games, national promotions, player endorsements, and special events.

The WNBA has an extensive, highly integrated relationship with adidas. The sporting goods and apparel giant not only serves as the official outfitter of the WNBA - having unveiled new uniforms across the league in 2007 and again in 2011 - but also served as the presenter of the WNBA Draft since 2007. In 2008 adidas became the first-ever presenting partner of the WNBA's entire postseason,

\section*{WNBA Cares League & Marketing Programs Overview} Through WNBA Cares, our teams, players and partners are deeply committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on education, youth and family development and health and wellness.

\section*{NBA/WNBA FIT}

The NBA/WNBA FIT platform is the league's comprehensive health and wellness program that encourages physical activity and healthy living for children and families through grassroots programs and events, and products related to health, fitness, nutrition and self-esteem. In cooperation with wellestablished health and wellness organizations, NBA/WNBA FIT informs, educates and engages children and families in healthy living practices.

\section*{WNBA GREEN}

The WNBA is committed to a long-term environmental plan through the implementation of sustainable business practices and procedures that decrease the league's carbon footprint and contribute to a clean, healthy environment. The WNBA Greening Initiative is an innovative program designed to reduce the environmental impact of the league's operations and events.

\section*{BREAST HEALTH AWARENESS}

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program has focused on generating awareness and educating women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative.

\section*{WNBA READ TO ACHIEVE}

The Read to Achieve campaign is a program that values reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. The program includes special reading time-outs, the donation of books and literacy materials to schools and community based organizations.

\section*{DRIBBLE TO STOP DIABETES}

Launched in January 2011, the 'Dribble to Stop Diabetes' campaign raises awareness of the American Diabetes Association's "Stop Diabetes" movement and addresses an important piece of diabetes care and prevention - physical fitness. The program will be aimed at using the simple and fun activity of dribbling a basketball as a way to promote healthy, active lifestyles and diabetes awareness, prevention and management during in-arena team nights.

\section*{VACCINES FOR TEENS}

Launched in February 2009, Vaccines for Teens is a national multimedia campaign designed to educate teens and their parents about the importance of vaccination against meningitis, flu and pertussis. Press events are hosted by WNBA teams and joined by the Society of Adolescent Health and Medicine, sanofi pasteur and the NBA league office (including NBA Legend Bob Lanier). WNBA Legend Lisa Leslie is a campaign spokesperson.

\section*{JAMBA JUICE}

In partnership with Jamba Juice, WNBA FIT will highlight both companies' commitment to promoting fitness/healthy nutrition through joint promotional activities with WNBA teams.

\section*{COKE LIVE POSITIVELY CLINICS}
