MISSOULA'S OTHER PRO TEAM - THE TIMBERJACKS

Before the Missoula Osprey entered the Pioneer League in 1999, the city in Western Montana had been part of the history of the League, with the five-year run of the Missoula Timberjacks. The Timberjacks played in the Pioneer League from 1956-60, finishing second in the league in 1958. The Jacks played as an independent in 1956 before beginning a three-season run as an affiliate of the Washington Senators. The Cincinnati Reds were the parent club of the Timberjacks in their final season, 1960. The Timberjacks' best season was in 1958, when they finished second in the Pioneer League, thanks in part to the pitching of Jim Kaat, who would eventually break into the majors with the Senators. He would be the last of the Senators who moved with the team to Minnesota to retire, and also enjoyed a long career as a broadcaster.
