Philadelphia RAGE

Led by some hometown heroes, the Philadelphia RAGE begins its inaugural season in one of the ABL's largest market. The RAGE, starting in Richmond, made it to last year's championship series.

Who's on the Philadelphia RAGE Team ? We start with five returning ABL All-Stars, including Philadelphia legend and 1996 Olympian Dawn Staley, and Allentown native All-American Michelle Marciniak. They're joined by All-Stars Adrienne Goodson, Taj McWilliams and Marta Sobrel. Strengthening the squad are team's top two draft picks; La'Keshia Frett of Georgia and Beth Morgan of Notre Dame. Another hometown favorite, guard Amy Mallon, returns to Philadelphia after her college playing days at St. Joe's.

ABL Quick Facts

The League is comprised of ninety-nine of the best women's basketball players in the U.S., including eight members of the 1996 U.S. Olympic Gold Medal Team (Jennifer Azzi, Teresa Edwards, Venus Lacy, Nikki McCray, Katrina McClain, Carla McGhee, Dawn Staley, and Katy Steding), and the college players of the year from 1996 and 1997 Sandra Rountree and Kate Starbird, respectively.

The League's mission is to showcase the finest players in the world and provide exciting affordable family entertainment. While the stars are the biggest, the ticket prices are the smallest.

The ABL consist of nine teams in two conferences. Eastern Conference includes: Atlanta Glory, Columbus Quest, New England Blizzard and Philadelphia RAGE. The Western Conference includes: Colorado Xplosion, Long Beach StingRays, Portland Power, San Jose Lasers and Seattle Reign.
