FRONTIER LEAGUE DESIGNATED AS PARTNER LEAGUE OF MLB

Major League Baseball (MLB) announced in September of 2020 that it named the Frontier League as a “Partner League” of MLB.

As a Partner League, the Frontier League will collaborate with MLB on initiatives to provide organized baseball to communities throughout the United States and Canada.

Morgan Sword, MLB’s Executive Vice President, Baseball Economics & Operations, said: “We welcome the Frontier League as a Partner League, and look forward to working with them toward our shared goal of expanding the geographic reach of baseball.”

Frontier League Commissioner Emeritus Bill Lee says, "The Frontier League is honored to become a Partner League with Major League Baseball. This partnership will be beneficial in growing our great game of Baseball in all of our United States and Canadian markets. Our teams and fans will all be excited to see the League grow in years to come. The Frontier League began in 1993, to have a relationship with Major League Baseball, is one of the greatest moments in League history."

HISTORY OF THE FRONTIER LEAGUE

In the winter of 1992-1993, several men got together and decided to start an independent professional baseball league to serve the West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and southeast Ohio areas. They believed they could bring professional baseball to areas that would never have a chance of affiliated professional baseball coming to their communities. The seed was planted and they named their project The Frontier League.

These founders approached business people and interested individuals in many different cities to own and operate the franchises. College players quickly heard of the fledgling league and mostly came from the Midwest and east coast to chase their dreams of playing pro ball. The Lancaster Scouts chose LHP Chris Smithers out of Valdosta State University with the first pick in the inaugural Frontier League Draft. On June 30, 1993, the Frontier League played its first games, with Tri-State hosting West Virginia, Kentucky hosting Ohio Valley, Zanesville hosting Lancaster, and Chillicothe hosting Portsmouth. Two weeks into the inaugural season, Tri-State and West Virginia folded their operations and the remaining six owners fought to keep the League above water. They made it through that first year with six teams and immediately began to make plans for 1994 by adding teams in Newark, Ohio and Erie, Pennsylvania. Portsmouth's Jim Ridenour was the first player to sign with a

MLB organization, as the Chicago White Sox picked up the catcher during the Explorers' spring training, while Chillicothe's Buck Wells was the first player to be signed during the season. Chillicothe's VA Memorial Stadium hosted the first All-Star Game, which the West Division won 3-2 on August 2. The Zanesville Greys were the first champion and swept the post-season awards with Kyle Shave as MVP, Tom Crowley as Pitcher of the Year, Tom Venditelli as Manager of the Year and Bob Wolfe as Executive of the Year.

Prior to the 1994 season, the owners of the League made a commitment to move forward and they hired Bill Lee as the first and only Commissioner the League has seen. Lee had been in the professional sports business since 1980 and the owners hoped he could help the League grow and flourish in the future. The League got through the 1994 season with all eight teams intact. Outfielder Kendra Hanes became the first modern woman to play professional baseball, appearing in ten games for the Kentucky Rifles. Ohio Valley's .746 winning percentage (50-17 record) remains the best single-season mark in league history, while the Redcoats' Corey Morris was named Most Valuable Player by putting up one of the most dominant offensive seasons in league history, hitting .394 with 19 home runs, 63 RBI, and 21 stolen bases in 66 games. The Erie Sailors won the League Championship and the future was looking brighter.

During the off-season between the 1994 and 1995 seasons, several changes took place that helped the League gain credibility and recognition. Teams were relocated to Richmond and Evansville, Indiana as well as Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The stadiums were major upgrades to the caliber of fields that were in existence. The markets were larger and as a result, crowds that attended games were larger. The Johnstown Steal won the 1995 title and Evansville's attendance was greater than the entire League attendance in 1993. The moves to Richmond and Evansville ultimately opened the door to the western expansion of the League.

In 1996, two more cities were added to the League by purchasing and relocating existing franchises. They were Springfield, Illinois and Kalamazoo, Michigan. Again, with bigger markets and better stadiums, the League attendance took a major leap forward. The caliber of play got better and the geographics from which players were coming to the League also continued to expand. The Springfield Capitals won the championship in their first season, but it was the third championship in a row for Manager Mal Fichman.

Several major changes took place in the League Rules in 1997 that led to a stronger level of competition in the League. First, the League went to an 80-game schedule. Second, the League allowed older players with more experience to play in the League. It also allowed for players who were popular in their cities to play in the League longer. The Canton Crocodiles, who had replaced the Zanesville Greys franchise, won the League Championship in their inaugural season. The Evansville Otters were the first franchise to draw over 100,000 fans in a season, including their playoff games.

1998 probably saw the greatest level of overall talent of any year in League history. Richmond's Morgan Burkhardt established almost every single season hitting record including 36 homers in 80 games. Other great players such as Chillicothe's Gator McBride, Scott Pinoni and Mitch House, Springfield's Joe Ronca and Jason Simontacchi made the League extremely exciting. The Springfield Capitals became the first franchise to win two championships.

In spite of all of the tremendous on field exploits of 1998, it was the winter of 1999 that saw the greatest changes in the League and elevated it to another level. The League expanded by two teams, making a total of ten teams, by adding the River City Rascals and the Cook County Cheetahs. This was important because it took the League into major metropolitan areas (St. Louis and Chicago) and both franchises were building new facilities. These were the first facilities built specifically for Frontier League franchises. The schedule expanded to 84 games and the River City Rascals in O'Fallon, Missouri, led the way in attendance reaching an unparalleled 151,000 fans. During the season, League attendance went to over 711,000 fans, more than ten times what it drew in 1993. The Dubois County Dragons also entered the League in 1999 by purchasing the Ohio Valley Redcoats. This purchase also meant that only the Chillicothe Paints remained from the original eight franchises that began in 1993. Also, the League became international in flavor by moving from Kalamazoo to London, Ontario, Canada. The Werewolves would set numerous team records on their way to becoming the 1999 League Champions.

The year 2000 propelled the League to even greater heights in publicity and notoriety, when in June, former Chillicothe Paint Brian Tollberg was called up to the Major Leagues with the San Diego Padres. Tollberg responded by winning the National League Player of the Week honors in his first week in the big leagues. Six days after Tollberg, Frontier League legend Morgan Burkhardt received his call to the Boston Red Sox. Burkhardt singled in his first at bat off of Baltimore's Mike Mussina. Other great moments in 2000 included London's Brett Gray striking out a League Record 25 batters on opening night. This almost unheard of feat drew national attention and even saw memorabilia of the event going to the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown. Gray was signed by the Cincinnati Reds two days later. There were also two no-hitters during the year, one by Chillicothe's Andy Lee and the other by Johnstown's Matt Sheets. The Johnstown Johnnies, who had barely played .500 ball in June, slugged their way to the League Championship. The River City Rascals eclipsed their own League attendance record by attracting in excess of 157,000 fans.

In 2001, the Gateway Grizzlies and Kalamazoo Kings were added to the League. These additions gave the League 12 teams. Gateway is based in Sauget, Illinois, a suburb east of St. Louis. They played their games in a temporary park in 2001 but opened a brand new $6.5 million ballpark in 2002. In Kalamazoo, a group of local businessmen led by automobile dealer Bill Wright brought baseball back in a big way. The Kings drew over 103,000 fans on their way to being named Frontier League Organization of the Year. The League saw its first former manager, Jack Clark of the River City Rascals, advance to the Major Leagues as the Hitting Coach for the Los Angeles Dodgers. A tremendous pennant race that was settled on the last night of the season led to the Richmond Roosters claiming their first FL crown. Attendance reached an all-time high of 719,000 fans.

The League again saw changes for the 2002 season. Rockford, Illinois replaced Springfield. Rockford is the second largest city in Illinois and the RiverHawks had the highest average in professional baseball history in Rockford. Washington, Pennsylvania was also added by purchasing the Canton Crocodiles. The Wild Things opened new Falconi Field with a bang as they established a League Record for wins in a single season and took the powerful East Division crown. Also, Canton native Mark Haidet purchased the London franchise and moved it to Canton and Thurman Munson Stadium.

The Richmond Roosters won their second consecutive FL title, the first franchise to do that. The League set a record for attendance by drawing in excess of 950,000 fans to its parks. The League saw five more graduates reach the Major Leagues as Zanesville's Terry Pearson made the Detroit Tigers roster, Ohio Valley's Brendan Donnelly was called up by the Anaheim Angels and eventually gained a World Series win, J.J. Trujillo advanced to the Padres, and the Cardinals called up both Jason Simontacchi and Matt Duff. The Frontier League received national publicity in July, when media outlets such as The New York Times, the Washington Post, Fox Sports Radio, and Yahoo News covered the Home Run Derby that was used to break a tie in the All-Star Game at Kalamazoo. Footage of River City's Brody Jackson hitting the winning shot was featured as the Spotlight Segment on ESPN's SportsCenter the following night.

2003 was a record year for the League at the turnstiles. It was the first time in League history that the League attracted more than 1.1 million fans. The Gateway Grizzlies led the League in attendance and also claimed the League Championship en route to garnering the Organization of the Year award. The All-Star Game was a huge success and was televised by Fox Sports Midwest. In 2003, the League entered three new markets. Canton relocated to Columbia, Missouri, Dubois County relocated to Kenosha, Wisconsin and Johnstown ended an eight-year run in the League by selling to Florence, Kentucky. The Florence club played their games in Hamilton, Ohio while their new stadium was constructed and ready for play in 2004. Former Ohio Valley Redcoat Brendan Donnelly became the first former Frontier League player selected to the MLB All-Star Game. Donnelly, pitching for the Anaheim Angels, retired all three batters that he faced in the 8th inning and was the winning pitcher in the game.

In 2004, the League again took a dramatic jump in attendance. Nearly 1.3 million fans entered the turnstiles of Frontier League stadiums. The Gateway Grizzlies led the charge, being the first team to draw over 200,000 fans in a single season and average more than 4000 fans per night. The League expanded its schedule to 96 games with the majority of those games as intradivisional play. Also, the first round of playoffs was expanded to a best-of-5 game series. The Rockford RiverHawks claimed their first League title, sweeping the Evansville Otters 3 games to 0. Rockford's Richard Austin was named the League's MVP. Former Evansville Otters left-hander George Sherrill was the tenth former FL player to advance to the Major Leagues as he pitched for the Seattle Mariners. Plans for new Frontier League stadiums were announced in Rockford, Illinois and Traverse City, Michigan.

In 2005, the League attracted close to 1.2 million fans to its ballparks. The Kalamazoo Kings claimed their first League title in one of the most exciting playoff series in League history, defeating the Chillicothe Paints 3 games to 2. The Washington Wild Things hosted the All-Star Game to a sellout crowd at Falconi Field. Frontier League clubs moved 25 players to MLB clubs, and Kalamazoo's Pete Pirman won the Morgan Burkhardt Award as the League's Most Valuable Player, eclipsing the League RBI record in the process. Following the season, the League suspended operations of the Ohio Valley and Mid-Missouri clubs for 2006. John and Leslye Wuerfel purchased the Richmond Roosters and relocated the club to their home town of Traverse City.

In 2006, the Frontier League drew almost 1.3 million fans to its 10 clubs. This translated to an average attendance of 2,713, the highest per game attendance in League history. The Evansville Otters opened their home schedule on May 27, when they became the first Frontier League team to draw 1,000,000 fans in their history. Much of the attendance increase was due to new facilities in Rockford, Illinois and Traverse City, Michigan. The Frontier League's 14th Annual All-Star Game was played in Evansville's historic Bosse Field and was televised into more than 14 million homes on Fox Sports Net. The West Division won the game in a Home Run Derby tie-breaker when Evansville's Beau Blacken slammed the game winner. Kalamazoo's Ian Church was the MVP of the All-Star Game as well as the League MVP. He was only the second player in League history to hit more than 30 homers in a season. In a battle of the League's two oldest teams, the Evansville Otters defeated the Chillicothe Paints 3 games to 0 to claim their first League championship. Former River City Rascal, Josh Kinney, was the 13th former FL player to play in the Major Leagues. He was an integral part of the St. Louis Cardinals run to the World Series Championship.

In 2007, the Frontier League drew a record 1.5 million fans to its 12 clubs. It was the highest per game average for attendance in League history. Much of the attendance increase was due to the addition of the Southern Illinois Miners that drew more than 5000 fans per game and a League Record total attendance of 259,392 fans to Rent One Park. The League's 15th Annual All-Star Game was played in Florence, Ky., and was the first game ever sold out for the Freedom organization. The South All-Stars won the game, as Florence's Reggie Watson garnered MVP honors. In a tremendous FL Championship Series, the Windy City Thunderbolts came from a 2 game deficit to defeat the Washington Wild Things in one of the greatest Championship Series in League history. It was the first championship for the ThunderBolts in their club history. Chillicothe Paints shortstop Travis Garcia earned the League's Morgan Burkhardt Award as the Most Valuable Player.

In 2008, the Frontier League drew 1.46 million fans to its 11 home clubs, as the Midwest team operated as a road team the entire year. The Southern Illinois Miners again paced the League by attracting over 218,000 fans. The League's 16th Annual All-Star Game was played in beautiful Wuerfel Park in Traverse City, Michigan, and saw in excess of 9,000 fans in attendance for two nights of festivities. The East All-Stars won the game, in a tie-breaking All-Star Home Run Derby. Florence's Angel Molina garnered MVP honors. The Kalamazoo Kings were featured prominently in a story-line of the nationally syndicated comic strip Gil Thorp that ran for several weeks in July. In the League Championship Series, Homer Stryker Field in Kalamazoo was flooded with over 3 feet of water due to storms. The entire series was moved to Windy City's Standard Bank Stadium. The ThunderBolts took advantage of the situation and swept the Kings 3 games to 0 to claim their second FL Championship in a row and became only the second team in League history to win back-to-back titles. Windy City First Baseman Phillip Hawke claimed the League's Most Valuable Player Award. Ryan Bird of Southern Illinois was the Most Valuable Pitcher. Kalamazoo Manager Fran Riordan was honored as the Manager of the Year. Three additional Frontier League graduates made their Major League Baseball debuts, as outfielder Justin Christian (River City Rascals, 2003-04) and right-handed pitcher Scott Patterson (Gateway Grizzlies, 2002-05) spent time with the New York Yankees (Patterson later appeared in games for the San Diego Padres, as well) and infielder Mike Cervenak (Chillicothe Paints, 1999-2000) was called up by the Philadelphia Phillies. In addition, former Evansville Otter George Sherrill became the second Frontier League alum to be named an MLB All-Star, as the left-hander tossed 2.1 scoreless innings in the game.

The 2009 season saw the opening of another new ballpark with All Pro Freight Stadium in Avon, Ohio, hosting the Lake Erie Crushers, while the Midwest Sliders set up camp in Ypsilanti, Michigan, to give their players a home for the season and introduce Frontier League baseball to the metro Detroit market. Two major League milestones were set. Rockford outfielder Jason James hit safely in 40 consecutive games from June 2 to July 18 to break the record set by former Johnstown Steal and Richmond Rooster Kevin Holt, while Kalamazoo's Fran Riordan overtook Greg Tagert as the all-time winningest field manager in Frontier League history. Other individual accomplishments included Florence's Preston Vancil tossing a no-hitter in only his second professional appearance, Windy City's Robert Perry tying the League record with a six-hit game, and Traverse City's John Alonso hitting for the cycle. Both the Gateway Grizzlies and Lake Erie Crushers received national television exposure, the Grizzlies on the Travel Channel's Man v. Food for their "Baseball's Best" line-up of concession items while the Crushers had an ESPN crew follow the team to document the story of pitcher Josh Faiola, who spent the season living at the Belvedere of Westlake, as assisted living facility located just down I-90 from the Crushers' ballpark. The East Division captured the All-Star Game, helped by back-to-back home runs from game MVP Ryan Basham of the Florence Freedom and Home Run Derby champion Grant Psomas of the Washington Wild Things. In a playoff race where none of the participants clinched berths until the final weekend of the regular season, the Windy City ThunderBolts became only the third team to qualify in three consecutive seasons while the Kalamazoo Kings repeated as East Division champions. Both were knocked out in the first round, however, as Frontier League Manager of the Year Chad Parker led the River City Rascals against the expansion Crushers in the Championship Series. After dropping the first two games in the best-of-five series, Lake Erie rebounded to win the final three games and join the 1997 Canton Crocodiles as the only expansion team from the last 15 years to win the title. Joey Metropolitous of the Southern Illinois Miners was selected League MVP, with Paul Fagan of the Lake Erie Crushers as the Pitcher of the Year and Windy City's Vinnie Scarduzio the Rookie of the Year. Two more former players made their Major League Baseball debuts, with former Florence Freedom and Ohio Valley Redcoat pitcher Chris Jakubauskas (the first pick in the Frontier League's 2003 draft) making the Opening Day roster for the Seattle Mariners and Clay Zavada getting called up to the Arizona Diamondbacks' bullpen less than one year after suiting up for the Southern Illinois Miners.

The 2010 season saw the opening of another new ballpark (The Corn Crib, home of the Normal CornBelters), two record winning-streaks, and a new Frontier League all-time home run king. Over 5,800 fans were at The Corn Crib on June 1 when professional baseball returned to the Bloomington-Normal area for the first time in 70 years. The Southern Illinois Miners shattered the league record for a consecutive game winning streak, posting 20 consecutive victories from June 9-28. The Miners 39-9 record at the All-Star Break was the best ever in the Frontier League, and Southern Illinois placed a league-record 10 players in the All-Star Game, which they hosted at Rent One Park in Marion. In the East Division, the Oakland County Cruisers won 29 of 37 games, despite playing all but six on the road, to give first year field manager Gera Alvarez the All-Star nod. The extensive travel for the Cruisers, who played 78 games on the road, combined by a league-record 20 home game winning streak for the Windy City ThunderBolts from July 22-August 25, gave Windy City their third division title in four seasons. The ThunderBolts joined the 1997-2000 Evansville Otters and the 2002-2007 Washington Wild Things as the only teams to make the playoffs in at least four consecutive seasons. While Southern Illinois maintained their lead in the West the entire season, both wild card races came down to the season's final weekend with River City edging out Gateway in the West and Traverse City reaching the playoffs for the first time in their five seasons in the East. The Divisional Series matchups both featured comebacks, as the Beach Bums dropped game 1 to Windy City before taking the next three and Southern Illinois took the first two games from River City before the Rascals rebounded to game the final three games, including a 10-inning victory in the deciding game. In the Championship Series, Traverse City took the opening game with River City winning the next three for their first title. Championship Series MVP Josh Lowey threw a complete game in game 3, which was spread out over two days due to rain, including retiring all 15 batters that he faced after the game restarted. Gateway's Charlie Lisk won the regular season MVP award in a year that saw him break the career home run record. Joe Augustine from Southern Illinois was the Pitcher of the Year, while Windy City's Dustin Williams won Rookie of the Year. Between the regular season and the playoffs, over 1.52 million fans saw Frontier League baseball in 2010, setting a new record.

2011 brought another new market to the Frontier League with the expansion Joliet Slammers and saw the return of the Rockford RiverHawks under new ownership led by Frontier League founder Dr. Chris Hanners. The River City Rascals used a stretch of 12 wins in 13 games in late June to jump to the top of the West Division where they would remain for the remainder of the season. River City's 68 victories tied them with the 2007 Windy City ThunderBolts for the most in one season. The Slammers played .660 baseball from July 1 through the end of August to become the first expansion team to win their division. Southern Illinois comfortably won the West wild card, while the East wild card came down to the final series with Lake Erie and Traverse City facing each other for the right to advance to the playoffs. After the teams split the first two games, it took ten innings on the final day of regular season for the Crushers to notch a 3-1 victory. Joliet and River City both advanced in the Divisional round leading to a Championship Series between the two division winners. After the Rascals took game 1 in River City, Joliet rebounded to win the next three games to bring the Frontier League Cup to the City of Champions.

2011 saw several on-field achievements highlighted by Joliet's Andrew Moss tossing the 15th no-hitter in Frontier League history against the Lake Erie Crushers. Moss' gem came just a few hours after the Cleveland Indians were no-hit by the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim 20 miles to the east of All Pro Freight Stadium and resulted in national coverage of two professional games featuring no-hitters by the visiting clubs on the same day in the same metropolitan area. Joliet's Ryan Quigley recorded 28 saves to set a new record while Windy City's Dustin Williams set a new mark by striking out 157 batters. River City swept the MVP and Pitcher of the Year awards with Stephen Holdren finishing in the top 5 in home runs, RBI, and batting average while Josh Lowey was in the top 5 in victories, strikeouts, and ERA. Joliet's Erik Lis had a triple and drove in two runs to lead the East Division to an All-Star Game victory in front of the largest crowd in All Pro Freight Stadium history. Two more Frontier League alumni made their MLB debuts in 2011 as former Washington Wild Thing Tom Cochran was called up by the Cincinnati Reds for a nationally televised game in late May and former Windy City ThunderBolt Dylan Axelrod made four appearances (three starts) for the Chicago White Sox in September, finishing with a 1-0 record, 2.89 ERA, and 19 strikeouts in 18.2 innings.

The Frontier League added to their presence in the Chicago area in 2012 with the debut of the Schaumburg Boomers. The Boomers brought an outstanding operation to the Frontier League both on and off the field, starting with over 6,000 fans to watch their inaugural home game. In his first managerial job, the Boomers' Jamie Bennett, who spent time in Dubois County, Kenosha, and Springfield/Ozark during his playing career, managed the West Division in the All-Star Game where he battled Traverse City's Gregg Langbehn, who set a record by having 10 of his players selected for the game. Over 5,000 fans attended the game at The Corn Crib in Normal where London's Joash Brodin was named MVP. Going into the final weekend of the regular season, only Traverse City had clinched a playoff berth, with Florence, Gateway, Lake Erie, Schaumburg, Southern Illinois, and Windy City all in the running for the three remaining spots. The Gateway Grizzlies won 16 out of 20 games in late July to jump into the race and finished with nine victories in their final 12 games to take the West Division title. The Florence Freedom won 13 of their final 14 games to take the top Wild Card spot while the Southern Illinois Miners qualified for the playoffs for the fourth time in the past five seasons. The Miners swept the Beach Bums in the first round while the Freedom defeated the Grizzlies in a series that went the full five games, setting up a Championship Series featuring two first-time participants. Southern Illinois captured their first title behind an 8-for-16 hitting performance from Championship Series MVP Cannon Lester. Seven of the 14 teams had a former Frontier League player as their field manager.

Individual achievements included a no-hitter by Windy City's Tyson Corley, Gateway's Jonathan Johnson reaching base safely in 65 consecutive games, Rockford's Javier Herrera hitting for the cycle, Traverse City's Ryan Still becoming the first player to walk 100 times in a season, and Darian Sandford setting the stolen base record with 71 for Southern Illinois and Washington. League MVP Jose Vargas tied the single-season mark with 100 RBI for Traverse City while Windy City's Mike Recchia broke the records for strikeouts (177) and shutouts (5) in a season in being voted Pitcher of the Year. Former Evansville and Windy City pitcher Andrew Werner made his Major League debut with the San Diego Padres, becoming the 23rd player to advance to the big leagues. Following the season, former Zanesville Grey and Springfield Capital Darren Bush was named Bullpen Coach for the Oakland Athletics, becoming the first former Frontier League player to be part of a Major League coaching staff. Following the 2012 season, Rockford announced a rebranding of the team with Aviators selected following a name-the-team contest.

The 2013 season was one of the most competitive in Frontier League history. For the first time since 2009 no club won 60 games while nine clubs reached the 50-victory plateau. Entering the final three games of the regular season, only the Schaumburg Boomers had clinched a playoff berth while six clubs were in the running for the final four spots, and two different scenarios would have resulted in a four-way tie. The Boomers won 26 of their final 35 regular season games to take the West Division title while in the East the battle came down to a head-to-head series between Lake Erie and Traverse City to end the season. The Crushers won the first two games to clinch their first division crown after a run of 19-2 to begin August launched them into the playoff race. Schaumburg won the title, becoming the first club in the ten seasons that the Frontier League has used a best-of-five format for both playoff rounds to sweep both series. More impressively, the Boomers were either tied or trailing at some point after the start of the 7th inning in all six games. Mike Giovenco was named Championship Series MVP, pitching in all three games, and winning two while not allowing any runs.

For individual accomplishments, Traverse City's Scott Dunn became the first pitcher in league history to win his first 14 decisions of the season, including a stretch of victories in nine consecutive starts, to run away with the Pitcher of the Year award. The Most Valuable Player vote was once of the closest in history, with league RBI leader Jacob Tanis of Florence winning the balloting. River City catcher Danny Canela led the Frontier League with a .360 batting average and was voted Rookie of the Year. Gateway's Landon Hernandez hit three home runs in a game on August 3, Joliet's Niko Vasquez hit for the cycle on September 4, and the Grizzlies' Tim Brown tossed a no-hitter on July 20. On August 31, Chase Doremus, Lucas Goodgion, Jason Sullivan, Corey Kimes, Matt Dillon, and Brett Zawacki of the Slammers combined to toss a 10-inning no-hitter. It is believed that this game was the first time in professional baseball history that six pitchers combined to hold another club hitless. Florence's Junior Arrojo broke his own single-season record by getting hit by 38 pitches while Evansville's Eric Massingham set the career mark for saves. In a game that was suspended due to rain the previous night, Washington and Windy City battled for 5:53 and 19-innings on June 1-2 for what turned out to be the first game of a double-header to mark the longest Frontier League contest by both innings and time.

Two more Frontier League alumni made their Major League debuts in 2013. Former Washington Wild Thing Vidal Nuno won the James P. Dawson Award as the best rookie in New York Yankees' spring training and pitched in five games (three starts) with a 1-2 record and 2.25 ERA during the regular season. Former Southern Illinois Miner Tanner Roark saw action in 14 games

(five starts) for the Washington Nationals, winning his first seven decisions as part of a 7-1 record and 1.51 ERA. Steve Delabar of the Toronto Blue Jays, who spent part of the 2008 season with the Florence Freedom, became the third former Frontier League player to be selected a MLB All-Star when he won the fan's Final Vote contest for the American League. Delabar struck out the only batter whom he faced, Buster Posey of the San Francisco Giants, in the game.

In the press box, Robert Ford (Houston Astros) and Aaron Goldsmith (Seattle Mariners) became the first two former Frontier League broadcasters to become full-time MLB play-by-play voices. Both Robert and Aaron began their professional careers in the Frontier League, Robert with the 2003-04 Kalamazoo Kings and Aaron with the 2007 Gateway Grizzlies.

The 2014 season was a banner one for the Frontier League. With the playoff field expanding from four teams to six, a tight playoff race ensued. The West Division race ended with both the River City Rascals and Schaumburg Boomers holding 61-35 records, with the Rascals taking the division title and advancing to the divisional playoff round by virtue of a head-to-head advantage. The East Division sent four teams to the playoffs, the Southern Illinois Miners (60-36), Evansville Otters (57-37), Washington Wild Things (57-39) and Lake Erie Crushers (52-43). Evansville reached the postseason for the first time since 2006, while Washington's postseason appearance was their first since 2007. In the Wild Card matchups, the Boomers knocked off the Crushers while the Wild Things beat the Otters. The divisional round saw the Rascals beat the Wild Things and the Boomers beat the Miners, setting up an all West Division championship series, with Schaumburg looking to repeat as Frontier League Champions. The championship series began in O'Fallon with a 5-1 victory for the home team. In game 2 Schaumburg found success as shortstop Gerard Hall homered for the second straight game and Justin Erasmus went 5.2 strong innings, leading the Boomers to a 6-2 win and a split in O'Fallon before heading home for games 3 and 4. Game 3 saw an offensive explosion for the Boomers, who hung 11 runs on Rascals pitching and took a commanding 2 games to 1 lead with an 11-2 victory. Game 4 ended triumphantly for the Boomers as well, as they won 6-2 and made the Boomers the third team in the league's history to win consecutive championships. Hall was selected as the Championship Series MVP.

The 2014 season also saw numerous historic individual performances in the Frontier League. Reliever Patrick Crider of the Rascals broke his own record by appearing in 65 games and Washington closer Jonathan Koutis set a new league record with 32 saves. Southern Illinois' Chris Burke tied a Frontier League record with 9 RBI in a July 30 game that saw him also hit for the cycle and Gateway's Richard Seigel (June 28) and Ryan Cavan of Southern Illinois (August 19) both tied a league record with 6 hits in games. Frank Florio of the Frontier Greys had a big day on July 30 as well, joining Burke in hitting for the cycle. Windy City's Mike Torres became the Frontier League's Iron Man when he appeared in his 287th consecutive game on May 25. Torres' streak, which began on June 1, 2011, eventually ended on July 29 at 339 games. Entering the last couple of weeks of the season, four no-hitters had taken place. Rick Teasley of Southern Illinois threw a 7 inning no hitter on June 5, Travis Tingle of Windy City threw a pair of no-hitters on June 19 (5 innings) and August 20 (7 innings) and Evansville's Chad James threw a 7 inning no-no on August 20. Matt Sergey of Washington, however, took impressive pitching performances to another level on August 24 against Gateway, throwing the first perfect game in Frontier League history in a full 9 inning game. Shayne Houck of the Otters was named the season's MVP, while Southern Illinois' Matt Bywater won Pitcher of the Year and Rockford Aviators' Tanner Witt won the Rookie of the Year award.

A historic number of Frontier League players were picked up by MLB organizations, as over 50 players got the call to affiliated baseball since the beginning of the 2014 season. Drew Rucinski, who played for the Rockford RiverHawks and Aviators, made his big league debut for the Angels, becoming the 26th former Frontier League player to reach the show. Also representing the Frontier League in the big leagues in 2014 were Dylan Axelrod (Reds), Steve Delabar (Blue Jays), Vidal Nuno (Yankees and Diamondbacks), Tanner Roark (Nationals) and Joe Thatcher (Diamondbacks and Angels). Prior to the 2014 season, former Traverse City Beach Bums manager Gregg Langbehn was hired by the Cleveland Indians as their first MLB Replay Coordinator, followed just days later by former Windy City ThunderBolts manager Mike Kashirsky, who was hired to the same position by the Chicago White Sox. Following the season alumnae Darren Bush was promoted by the Oakland Athletics to hitting coach.

The 2014 season saw the initial class of Frontier League Hall of Famers inducted at All-Star week, hosted by the Gateway Grizzlies. Players Morgan Burkhart, Aaron Ledbetter, Scott Pinoni, Fran Riordan and Kirk Taylor were selected for induction, as were special contributor Dr. W. Chris Hanners and the special moment of Brett Gray's 25 strikeout game for the London Werewolves.

2015 featured playoff races that were not decided until the final day of the regular season and another MLB debut. Brandon Cunniff, who played for River City and Southern Illinois, spent the bulk of 2015 in the Atlanta Braves' bullpen, setting a Braves' rookie record for the most games pitched at the start of a MLB career without allowing a hit. The Normal CornBelts made the playoffs for the first time by winning the West Division, while the Southern Illinois Miners defended their East Division title. The Rockford Aviators and Florence Freedom edged out Evansville for the final two playoff spots. The River City Rascals defeated Florence then Southern Illinois to return to the Championship Series for the fifth time in the last seven seasons. The Rascals' Josh Silver hit two grand slams in the deciding game over the Miners, becoming the first player in either regular or post-season history to achieve this feat. The finals were a rematch of the 2010 season, with a Traverse City sweep giving the Beach Bums their first title. River City's Taylor Ard led the league in both home runs (30) and RBI (83) to capture the MVP award while Southern Illinois' Adam Lopez was voted Pitcher of the Year and Brandon Tierney of the Frontier Greys selected Rookie of the Year. Normal's Patrick McKenna posted one of the best single games in league history on August 2 with three home runs and nine RBI, both tying league records. A league-record crowd of 6,572 saw the West Division top the East in the All-Star Game in Schaumburg, with Rockford's Michael Hur selected as game MVP.

The Greys received national attention through a feature story in Maxim Magazine, and six members of their pitching staff went on to be signed by MLB organizations. The Washington Wild Things also received national publicity, as a story on Pete Rose featured pictures of the Hit King wearing a Wild Things uniform during an appearance at CONSOL Energy Park. Former Grey Balbino Fuenmayor became the first FL alum to be selected for the MLB

Futures Game and following the season former Rockford Aviators Jose Martinez (Royals) and Josh Smoker (Mets) were added to their club's 40-man MLB roster. The Chicago White Sox hired Jason Benetti, who broke in as the radio broadcaster for Windy City in 2006, as their TV announcer for home games. The second Frontier League Hall of Fame Class was inducted as part of the All-Star festivities, with former players Mike Breyman, Bobby Chandler, Stephen Holdren, Jason James, and Chris Sidick inducted along with special contributor Bob Wolfe. The 2002 All-Star Game Home Run Derby, the highlights of which were featured as the Spotlight Segment on ESPN's SportsCenter, was honored as the significant moment in league history.

The 2016 season was the tightest since the Frontier League schedule expanded to 96 games, as with three weeks left in the regular season all 12 clubs were within 2.5 games of a playoff berth. Southern Illinois used a 20-3 run from June 4-July 1 to vault to the top of the West Division where they remained for the rest of the season to claim their third consecutive division title. In the East, Joliet used a streak of 12 wins in 15 games in early June and spent the bulk of the season in first place to qualify for the playoffs for the first time since 2011. Evansville won 10 of their final 14 games to claim the top Wild Card spot, while River City's victory on the final day of the regular season edged them past Lake Erie for the remaining position. The Rascals advanced to their sixth championship series in the past eight seasons to face the Otters, who advanced for the first time since their 2006 Championship. The series went the maximum five games for the first time since the 2009 season, with the Otters pulling out a 1-0 victory in front of the home Bosse Field crowd in what was described as the tightest deciding game in Frontier League history.

On-field excitement began early as Kramer Champlin celebrated receiving his 2015 Championship ring at Traverse City's home opener by tossing the first no-hitter in Beach Bums' history. Gateway's Brandon Thomas hit a grand slam on August 21 against Joliet with the ball leaving the stadium and crashing through the front windshield of Thomas's own pickup. Video of the shot and resulting damage received national publicity, and Thomas was interviewed live on ESPN from GCS Ballpark the following evening. Evansville's long-time Flag Chairman Marvin Gray, a fixture at Bosse Field and sporting events throughout Indiana for over 60 years, passed away on July 27. Four more players made their Major League debuts in 2017, starting with Josh Smoker, the 2nd overall pick in the 2014 Frontier League draft, who was called up to be the 26th player for the New York Mets' double-header on July 26. Smoker did not appear that day but was recalled on August 19 and saw action in 20 games with a 3-0 record. Former London Ripper and Florence Freedom outfielder Stephen Cardullo was promoted by the Colorado Rockies on August 26 and celebrated his 29th birthday five days later by hitting home runs in both games of a double-header, including a grand slam. Jose Martinez from the 2014 Rockford Aviators got the call from St. Louis on September 6 and hit .438 over 12 games for the Cardinals. Chris Smith, who came out of the 2010 Frontier League draft and saw action with the Lake Erie Crushers, Traverse City Beach Bums, and Washington Wild Things, was promoted by the Toronto Blue Jays as bullpen support for the last week of the regular season. Off the field, Jason Benetti, who began his broadcasting career as the voice of the Windy City ThunderBolts in 2005, became the first former Frontier League broadcaster to be named the television voice of a Major League team when he was hired by the Chicago White Sox for the 2016 season.

The Florence Freedom hosted the All-Star Game for the second time in their history, with the host West Division posting a 11-4 victory aided by game MVP Nik Balog's 3-run home run. The All-Star events also saw the induction of Richard Austin, Willie Edwards, Charlie Lisk, Joey Metropoulos, and Matt Schweitzer along with recognition of long-time umpire Max McLeary as a Special Contributor and acknowledgement of Brian Tollberg becoming the first former Frontier League player to advance to the Major Leagues as the Significant Moment.

The 2017 off-season started with former Frontier Grey Ariel Hernandez being added to the Cincinnati Reds' 40-man roster. 12 former Frontier League players were part of World Baseball Classic rosters, including Tanner Roark, who made his professional debut with the Southern Illinois Miners in 2008 and became the first former FL player to play for Team USA. Roark, whose 16 wins in 2016 for the Washington Nationals tied him for fifth in the National League, started the WBC semi-final game against Japan and tossed four scoreless innings.

The 2017 Frontier League season began with early excitement as Evansville's Shane Weedman tossed only the second no-hitter in the Otters' 22-season history on May 13, striking out 11 Southern Illinois Miners in the process. The Florence Freedom won their first eight games of the season to jump to the top of the West Division, a spot that they held for the bulk of the season in winning their first division title. The Schaumburg Boomers also started the season hot, winning 24 of their first 32 games. The Boomers rebounded from a leagueworst 41-55 record in 2016 to a 66-30 mark, the third most wins in Frontier League history. While the two division winners were set with more than a week remaining in the regular season, five clubs entered the final series of the year within reach of a wild card spot. Washington won seven of their final eight games to claim only the Wild Things' second playoff berth in the past ten seasons while the defending champion Evansville Otters used an 8-2 streak at the end of August to get the second wild card. Schaumburg and Florence both won 3-1 first round series to create a Championship Series featuring the two All-Star Game managers. Schaumburg's Jamie Bennett and Florence's Dennis Pelfrey were teammates in the Frontier League from 2002-04, making 2017 the first time that former teammates managed against each other in either the All-Star Game and the Championship Series. Jamie (pitcher) and Dennis (catcher) both made the 2003 All-Star Game while with the Kenosha Mammoths. Schaumburg prevailed in the finals to give the Boomers their third title in the past five seasons.

Key individual achievements included Traverse City's Will Kengor tying the record with three home runs on July 9 while both David Harris of Schaumburg (June 22) and L.J. Kalawaia from Lake Erie (July 22) hit for the cycle. On the pitching side, River City's Nick Kennedy became the career leader for games pitched with 255 outings over his six seasons with the Rascals. Southern Illinois set a new record for runs scored in an inning with 15 in the 4th at Normal on June 4, a mark that Evansville tied on July 25 against Traverse City (also the 4th inning). Harris had a quality all-around season by hitting .344 with 13 home runs, 65 RBI, and 13 stolen bases to become the first Boomer named Most Valuable Player. Evansville's Max Duval won Pitcher of the Year after leading the league in ERA by a quarter of a run and had the most strikeouts when the Miami Marlins purchased his contract. Kyano Cummings, also of Evansville, became the second player in three years out of the California Winter League to claim Rookie of the Year honors while Washington's All-Star outfielder Rashad Brown earned the Citizenship Award.

The Cincinnati Reds promoted Ariel Hernandez of the 2015 Frontier Greys on April 23, making the first from the Greys teams and the 32nd overall to advance. Hernandez made his MLB debut the following night, retiring all eight batters that he faced, five by strikeout. Hernandez was one of nine former Frontier League players to appear in Major League games in 2017, which included former Florence Freedom hurler Aaron Wilkerson whose debut with the Milwaukee Brewers included holding the St. Louis Cardinals to only two hits and one run in seven innings. The path to MLB continued at the beginning of the 2018 season as Trevor Richards, who made his professional debut with Gateway in 2015, continued the work that had him named Minor League Pitcher of the Year for the Miami Marlins by making their starting rotation.

Several former Frontier League personnel received significant achievements in MLB as well. Robert Ford, the Broadcaster of the Year in 2003 and 2004 with the Kalamazoo Kings, was able to call the final out of the 2017 World Series as the Houston Astros' radio play-by-play man. Former Dubois County hitting coach and Windy City manager Andy Haines was promoted to the Chicago Cubs' Major League staff for 2018 as their assistant hitting coach. Jeff Albert from the 2002 Washington Wild Things was named to the same role for the Houston Astros. Fran Riordan, a former All-Star player and the Frontier League's winningest manager, was promoted to manage Oakland's Triple-A club, the Nashville Sounds. Former Schaumburg Boomer and two-time Frontier League champion Frank Pfister was named Mental Skills Coach for the Cincinnati Reds. Two former FL pitching coaches, Mark Dewey (Washington) and Chris Hook (Florence) were named co-pitching coordinators for the Milwaukee Brewers while former Evansville pitcher and long-time FL pitching coach Brendan Sagara was hired as the Chicago Cubs' pitching coordinator. Jason Simontacchi, the 1998 Pitcher of the Year while with the Springfield Capitals, was hired for the same role with Kansas City while his former Springfield teammate Steve Barningham was promoted to Global Crosschecker by the New York Mets.

The 2018 season featured a new all-time hit leader, two more Major League debuts, a record number of alumni in the Majors, and the closest championship series since the best-of-five format was introduced for the 2000 season. Normal's Santiago Chirino lined a single to left-center in his first at bat at Gateway on June 24 to tie former Washington Wild Thing Chris Sidick. After walking in his next two at bats, Chirino drove a single to right field in the sixth inning to earn the record. Chirino led the league with a .367 average and finished his six-season Frontier League career with 726 hits. Other individual milestones included Washington's James Harris hitting for the cycle on May 17; Windy City's Tyler Straub tying the single-game hit record with six on July 6; Evansville's Ty Hensley and Matt Chavarria combining for a no-hitter on August 11; and Lake Erie's Alex Romero setting a record with 38.1 scoreless innings (from August 1 to August 31).

The publicity highlight from 2018 occurred on June 21, when former Indianapolis Colts' Pro Bowl punter Pat McAfee started in right field for the Washington Wild Things. McAfee, a native of nearby Plum High School and West Virginia University, brought the national audience from his Barstool

Sports show to Wild Things Park. The game, which was billed as “Dingers Only Night”, was used to benefit the “It’s About the Warrior Foundation.” The It’s About the Warrior Foundation is a post-9/11 veteran’s organization that assists and empowers all tri-state area post-9/11 veterans and their families with its various programs.

August began with no team no more than three games out of a playoff spot, and the tight races continued to the final weekend. Washington used a 21-9 streak starting on July 27 to finish with the same record as Joliet, where the Wild Things’ 7-5 head-to-head mark gave them their first division title since 2007. River City won 11 of their final 14 contests to hold off Evansville for the West title. After Washington swept Evansville and Joliet knock off the Rascals in five games in the divisional series, the Slammers took a decisive game 5 of the Championship Series giving manager Jeff Isom his first professional title in his 19-year managerial career. The five games were decided by a total of eight runs, with no game featuring more than a 2-run differential.

Former Windy City ThunderBolt Ryan Bollinger became the 35th former Frontier League player to get the call to MLB when the New York Yankees promoted him on May 23. Along with Bollinger, Robert Stock, the top pick in the 2015 Frontier League draft by the Normal CornBelters, made his MLB debut, appearing in 32 games for San Diego and posting a 2.50 ERA. A total of ten former Frontier League players saw MLB time in 2018, the most in any single season.

During the off-season several former Frontier League players and coaches were promoted in their MLB organizations. Andy Haines, who started his professional career as hitting coach for Dubois County in 2002 and later managed the 2007 Windy City ThunderBolts to their first championship, was hired as hitting coach by the Milwaukee Brewers. Joining Andy on the Brewers’ MLB staff is pitching coach Chris Hook, who served in the same role for the Florence Freedom for their first five seasons. Guillermo Martinez from the 2009-10 Windy City ThunderBolts was promoted to hitting coach by the Toronto Blue Jays and Jeff Albert was named hitting coach for the St. Louis Cardinals. Former ThunderBolts and Gateway Grizzlies third baseman Donnie Ecker was named assistant MLB hitting coach for Cincinnati as well. The 2019 season began with another MLB debut, as former Rockford Aviator and Frontier Greys hurler Nick Anderson retired the only batter he faced in the Miami Marlins’ opening game. Anderson became the 22nd player who began his career in the Frontier League to advance to the Majors.

Nick was traded to Tampa Bay along with former Gateway Grizzlie Trevor Richards at the MLB trade deadline on July 31 and both helped lead the Rays to a Wild Card berth. Nick was named the relief pitcher on Baseball America’s All-Rookie Team following the season. On the same date as the Anderson/Richards trade the Seattle Mariners promoted former Washington Wild Things’ to their MLB roster. Grotz saw action in 14 games for the Mariners, recording a 1-0 record and 4.15 ERA while striking out 18 batters in 17.1 innings.

Inside the Frontier League, Most Valuable Player Ryan Long led the Evansville Otters to their first division title in 20 years. The Otters used a 17-5 stretch in August to catch Florence and claimed first place due to their 7-5 head-to-head record over the Freedom. Florence used a stretch of 13 wins in 14 games during late June to earn their second playoff spot in the past three seasons. The Lake Erie Crushers won their first division title in six seasons, while the River City Rascals claimed the final playoff spot. 2019 marked the eighth time in eleven seasons that the Rascals' advanced to the playoffs. Sweeps in the Divisional Series put Florence and River City in the Championship Series. River City took a 2-1 series lead when Tanner Murphy and Nick Anderson hit back-to-back solo home runs in the bottom of the 9th to tie then win the game. A Florence victory in game 4 shifted the action back to UC Health Stadium, making the third time in the past four years that the Championship Series went the maximum five games. The Rascals scored six times in the top of the 7th inning to take the lead and hold on for the title, giving manager a title in his final season as River City manager to go along with the one from his inaugural season in 2010.

Schaumburg first baseman Quincy Nieporte posted the top single-game performance of 2019 on August 12 at Gateway. Nieporte came to the plate in each of the first three innings, producing a three-run home run in the first, a bases-clearing double in the second, and a grand slam in the third. The ten RBI set a new league single-game record. 24 players were sold to MLB organizations during the regular season, led by Evansville's five and four each from Florence and River City. Another nine players had their contracts purchased following the season.

The media highlight came when Florence's "Dad Bod" replica jerseys worn on Father's Day were subsequently featured on MLB Network.

The biggest event of 2019 came when the Frontier League traveled to Rockland County, New York, to face the Can-Am League in the All-Star Game. Game MVP J.J. Fernandez and his Washington teammate Hector Roa combined to go five-for-eight with a double, home run, four runs scored, and four RBI while ten pitchers combined to strike out 13 Can-Am batters while walking only two and surrendering only six hits in the 7-0 victory.

The All-Star festivities were just a precursor to the biggest announcement in the Frontier League's 27-year history. A press conference on October 17 streamed on-line and viewed by over 500 media outlets announced that the New Jersey Jackals, Quebec Capitales, Rockland Boulders, Sussex County Miners, and Trois-Rivieres Aigles from the Can-Am League would be merging into the Frontier League. The additional clubs make the Frontier League the largest independent league while stretching the borders from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Ocean and from the Ohio River to the Saint Lawrence Seaway.

Changes continued to occur leading up the 2020 season. Rebranding efforts led to the newly named Florence Y'all's and New York Boulders. Playoff managers Dennis Pelfrey (San Francisco Giants) and Cam Roth (Detroit Tigers) were hired to manage affiliated teams. Former Windy City pitcher Dylan Axelrod was named assistant pitching coordinator for the Los Angeles Angels while his former ThunderBolt teammates Donnie Ecker was named hitting coach for San Francisco and Ricky Meinhold was promoted to pitching coordinator for the New York Mets. Former Chillicothe and Lake Erie infielder Drew Saylor was hired as hitting coordinator for the Kansas City Royals and former Kalamazoo infielder and manager Chris Newell was hired to manage in the New York Mets' system.

The planned debut of the newly expanded Frontier League had to wait a year after the impacts of the COVID-19 resulted in the suspension of the 2020 season. The Frontier League grew by two additional clubs at the end of 2020, adding the Ottawa Titans as an expansion team plus the Tri-City ValleyCats from the former New York-Penn League. The Titans return professional baseball to Canada's capital city and will call Raymond Chabot Grant Thornton Park, former home of the Triple-A Ottawa Lynx, to the Frontier League. Tri-City brings a tremendously successful operation to the Frontier League, serving the fans of the Capital District of New York.

The closure of the Canada-United States border resulted in pushing the Ottawa Titans' first game to the 2022 season. Ottawa, Québec, and Trois-Rivières were replaced in the 2021 season by Équipe Québec—a team that used the Canadian players from the Capitales, Aigles, and Titans to craft the base of their roster. They spent the first half of the season on the road and returned to Québec July 30 to face the Sussex County Miners. Their home games were split between Stade Canac in Québec City and Stade Quillorama in Trois-Rivières.

The 2021 season was the first for the Frontier League as a Partner League of Major League Baseball and featured the debut of FrontierLeagueTV.com, a live-streaming service powered by Vimeo that allowed fans to watch every Frontier League game live and follow their teams both at home and on the road. The season also saw the debut of the new home run derby tiebreaker rule, which determined the outcome of games if still tied after an extra inning of play. In total, there were 27 home run derbies that took place.

Several milestones were reached during the 2021 season. The Windy City ThunderBolts broke a league stolen base record as a team, stealing 204 bases in the season, and the Evansville Otters broke the league record for strikeouts (pitching), recording 843 as a team. Trey Hair of the Sussex County Miners tied the Frontier League game record with three home runs on June 1 against New Jersey. Matt McGarry hit for the cycle for the Schaumburg Boomers on June 18 against Southern Illinois. There were three no-hitters—one by Michael Austin of the Southern Illinois Miners, and two combined no-hitters by the Tri-City ValleyCats and the Joliet Slammers. Zach Strecker of the Washington Wild Things became the All-Time Frontier League Saves Leader, surpassing Eric Massingham's previous record of 70 career saves and finishing the season with 74 career saves. Also notable, Evansville Otters manager and Frontier League Manager of the Year Andy McCauley picked up his 1000th professional managerial victory with an Otters win over Gateway.

Led by Frontier League MVP Quincy Nieporte, the Schaumburg Boomers were the first team to clinch a playoff spot, winning the Central Division title with nearly a week to go in the season. They spent much of the regular season at the top of the Central Division but stayed there for good after a series win over Lake Erie in mid-July. The Washington Wild Things followed by taking the Northeast Division after a four-game sweep over the Sussex County Miners.

Washington started the season struggling, with a record of just 13-20 after July 4. From there, they won six straight and went on to go 43-20 over the final two and a half months of the season to claim the Northeast Division title. The other two division races came down to the final weekend of the season.

The Florence Y'alls—with a league-leading 57-38 record—clinched the loaded West Division by half a game over Evansville. Florence began the year winning their first seven games and spent much of the year neck-and-neck with the Otters for the top spot in the West. These two teams finished with the two best records in the Frontier League in 2021. Meanwhile, Équipe Québec won the Atlantic Division title on the final day, finishing just two games ahead of the Tri-City ValleyCats. Québec used a season-high eleven-game winning streak in August—which included a three-game sweep of the ValleyCats—to vault themselves into first place.

In the playoffs, Schaumburg faced off against Florence and Washington battled Québec in the Divisional Round. The Boomers rolled over the Y'alls, winning in four games and outscoring them 27-12. Meanwhile, the Wild Things were down 2-1 in their series before winning games four and five in Québec and advancing to play Schaumburg in the Championship Series. In the FLCS, the Boomers and Wild Things split the first two games in Schaumburg, with Schaumburg taking the first 4-0 and Washington taking game two 6-5 after an Andrew Czech two-run homer in the ninth inning. The series then shifted to Washington, where the Wild Things took game three after a walk-off single by Grant Heyman in the tenth inning. Facing elimination, the Boomers won game four 3-1 and forced a winner-take-all game five. In that game five, Schaumburg took an early lead with three runs in the first inning and never looked back, winning 10-4 to claim their fourth Frontier League title since joining the league in 2012—the most in league history. Kyle Arjona was named series MVP, winning games one and five while allowing just three earned runs and striking out eleven over 16.2 innings.

48 players were signed to MLB organizations in 2021, the second highest total in league history behind the 2015 season. There were also a few former Frontier League players that made it to the MLB level. Most notably, Jake Cousins (Milwaukee Brewers), Mickey Jannis (Baltimore Orioles), Tommy Nance (Chicago Cubs), and Brandyn Sittinger (Arizona Diamondbacks) all made their MLB debuts in the 2021 season. Cousins helped the Brewers win the National League Central Division with a 2.70 ERA in 30 relief appearances. Andrew Bellatti also returned to MLB for the first time since 2015 after a brief stint in spring training with the Tri-City ValleyCats led him to the Miami Marlins—the shortest time for a player to be signed out of the Frontier League.

HISTORY OF THE CAN-AM LEAGUE

The Can-Am League was created when the Northeast League was renamed in 2005. The Northeast League was formed in 1995 and played four seasons as an independent league. At the end of the 1998 season, the Northeast League was merged with the Northern League and became that league's East Division. Although the East Division did not play the teams that were already in the Northern League during the regular season, the respective divisions played each other in an all-star game every summer and in a league championship series every fall from 1999 until 2002. The Northeast League became its own entity again for the 2003 season and continued play for one additional year before the renaming of the league.

The Allentown Ambassadors folded days before the 2004 season began, forcing the Northeast League to field a traveling team called the Aces. For the 2005 season, the Northeast League accepted the Worcester Tornadoes as a new eighth team. However, three weeks before the start of the 2005 season, the Bangor Lumberjacks folded, forcing the team to create another traveling team, this time called The Grays.

The league operated a traveling team whenever necessary to provide an even number of teams. However, doing so forced the other franchises to host more home games to provide a season of the same length. To obviate such disruptive last-minute schedule changes in the future, the Northeast League adopted a new charter, giving the league new powers to ensure that its franchises were solvent, and renamed itself the Canadian-American Association.

For 2006, the Can-Am League added two teams. The new Sussex Skyhawks replaced the Elmira Pioneers, which moved into the amateur New York Collegiate Baseball League; and the Nashua Pride joined the league from the Atlantic League. There were now eight teams without a traveling team.

For 2007, the Atlantic City Surf joined from the Atlantic League, and the league re-established The Grays, after a year of dormancy, as a tenth team. At the end of that season, both the New Haven County Cutters and the North Shore Spirit suspended operations, reducing the league to eight teams. Many New Haven player contracts were sold to Nashua, while many Spirit players were placed on waivers.

For 2008, Ottawa, which had lost its franchise in the International League, joined the Can-Am League as the Rapidz, an eighth franchise, displacing the Grays.

After the 2008 season, Rapidz management declared bankruptcy. The league declared its intention to operate the Ottawa franchise in 2009. The league changed the team's name back to Rapids, a spelling used during the team's founding (Rapides in French). Later, however, the Commissioner stated the need for a "fresh start" and opened a contest to select a new name for the team. The winning name was "Voyageurs".

Still later, the Atlantic City franchise was terminated, as a sale fell through. On March 30, 2009, the league announced that it would shrink to six teams rather than having two league-operated teams.

The Nashua Pride franchise was sold and was known in 2009 as the American Defenders of New Hampshire because of the military tie-ins of its new ownership group. During the 2009 season the Defenders were locked out of Holman Stadium and forced to play their last home games on the road, bringing doubt to the future of baseball in Nashua. The Quebec Capitales would go on to win their second League Championship.

On December 19, 2009, league directors preliminarily gave approval to transfer the membership of the American Defenders of New Hampshire from Nashua, New Hampshire, to Pittsfield, Massachusetts for play in the 2010 season. Final approval was granted by the city for use of Wahconah Park on February 1. The ownership group headed by Buddy Lewis had a lease on Wahconah Park for a team in the New England Collegiate Baseball League, and transferred the current lease for play in the Can-Am League. Dan Duquette, current Executive Vice-President of Baseball Operations for the Baltimore Orioles, is also part of the ownership group, which is known as Boston Baseball All-Stars LLC. The team was renamed the Pittsfield Colonials.

After the 2010 season the Sussex franchise was folded after its ownership group decided to focus its resources on the New Jersey Jackals, their primary team, and could not find a buyer. In its place, the league awarded the Rockland Boulders a franchise, added the Newark Bears from the Atlantic League, and formed the New York Federals as a traveling team. Pittsfield's franchise charter was rescinded after the 2011 season and the Colonials folded after ownership could not find partners.

The Brockton Rox moved to the Futures Collegiate Baseball League after the 2011 season. At the end of the 2012 season the Worcester charter was rescinded, and the league decided to try to find new owners for the Tornadoes, but failed to do so and awarded the franchise instead to a Trois-Rivières, Quebec, group. Beginning in 2012, Can-Am League clubs played 18 to 20 games per season against opponents from the American Association of Independent Professional Baseball, with which it shares a commissioner. After the 2013 season, Newark announced it would not compete in the 2014 season and the team was eventually folded altogether.

In 2014, the Can-Am League announced that a fifth team, based in Ottawa, would join the league for 2015. The league later announced it would be returning to Sussex County, New Jersey as well, and announced that a traveling team would join the Ottawa Champions and the Sussex County Miners to create a balanced schedule and continued to include matchups with the American Association. Interleague play ended after the 2015 season, though the Can-Am League continued to send players to the American Association's All-Star Game. Starting with the 2015 season, the league hosted international clubs as part of its regular season schedule. Each of the regular clubs of the league played a series of 3 or 4 games against these international teams and the results of those games counted in the regular season standings. Over the years, the league hosted teams from Cuba, Japan and the Dominican Republic.

On October 16, 2019, the independent Frontier League announced that it was merging with the Can-Am League for the 2020 season. New Jersey, Sussex County, Quebec, and Trois-Rivieres all joined, as did a renamed Rockland franchise (now known as the New York Boulders). The Ottawa Champions were left out of the expanded league for 2020, but the Frontier League granted the Ottawa Titans as an expansion franchise to begin play in 2022.

FRONTIER LEAGUE FRONT OFFICE

ERIC KRUPA – PRESIDENT

Eric Krupa joins the Frontier League as President beginning with the 2022 season. Eric brings decades of professional baseball experience to the Frontier League. He was most recently Major League Baseball's Regional Supervisor for the South Atlantic League and Florida State League. Prior to working in MLB's front offices, Mr. Krupa enjoyed a very successful 13-year tenure as President of the South Atlantic League and a 10-year term as Director of Business and Finance for Minor League Baseball

BILL LEE – COMMISSIONER EMERITUS

Bill Lee transitioned to the role of Commissioner Emeritus on March 1, 2021. Bill had been the Commissioner of the Frontier League since 1994, the League's second year of operation.

After graduating from Southern Illinois University Edwardsville with a degree in Mass Communications, Bill played in the Atlanta Braves organization and the independent Lone Star League. He was selected to the Gulf Coast League All-Star Game in 1976. Bill also led SIUE to a runner-up finish in the 1976 NCAA Division II World Series, where he was named to the All-Tournament Team. Along with the other members of the 1976 baseball team, Bill was inducted into the SIUE Athletics Hall of Fame. He then worked for the Birmingham Barons as their Assistant General Manager and Public Relations Director before moving on to become the General Manager of the Chattanooga Lookouts. While with the Lookouts, Bill was the Southern League's Executive of the Year in 1989. Just before joining the Frontier League, he was the Vice-President of Sales and Marketing for the Seattle Thunderbirds Hockey Club in the Western Hockey League. Bill was chosen as Marketing Executive of the Year of that League in 1991.

While Bill has been the Frontier League Commissioner, the League has enjoyed great success, expanding to the largest independent professional baseball league while annually moving the most players of any independent league into Major League Baseball organizations. Bill lives in Shiloh, Illinois

STEVE TAHLER – DEPUTY COMMISSIONER – OPERATION

Steve Tahler was promoted to Deputy Commissioner for the Frontier League following the 2009 season. Steve is entering his 25th season in the Frontier League, previously serving as the General Manager for the Windy City ThunderBolts, Slippery Rock Sliders, Evansville Otters, and Dubois County Dragons along with serving as Director of Operations for the Otters. Steve was selected Frontier League Executive of the Year in 2005 and 2006, while his teams won the Organization of the Year award in 1997 and a Commissioner's Award of Excellence in 2004 and 2009. His teams set 11 club single-season attendance records and advanced to the Frontier League playoffs in 11 out of 13 seasons, including seven appearances in the Frontier League Championship Series and winning championships in 2006, 2007, and 2008. With the ThunderBolts, Steve was selected the Minor League

Executive of the Year by the Pitch & Hit Club of Chicago in 2008, received the Hospitality Award of Merit from the Chicago Southland Chamber of Commerce in 2008, and was voted Member of the Year by the Crestwood Chamber of Commerce in 2009.

Steve is a graduate of Georgia State University where he worked in the Sports Information Department. Prior to joining the Frontier League, he also worked with the Atlanta Glory of the American Basketball League and was a member of the Results Staff for Baseball for the 1996 Olympics. Steve, originally from Bay Village, Ohio, resides in Evansville, Indiana, with his wife, Jodi.

KEVIN WINN – DEPUTY COMMISSIONER – STRATEGIC DEVELOPMENT

Kevin Winn joins the Frontier League after serving as Executive Director for the Can-Am League during their 2019 season. Winn will oversee strategic planning, expansion, and marketing for the Frontier League.

Prior to assuming his current position, Winn served as the Director of Baseball Operations for the Can-Am League from 2005-2018 as well as with the American Association from 2006-2018. He also has served in similar capacities in the Central Baseball League from 2002-2005 and the Texas-Louisiana League from 2000-2001. In October 2018, he took over as Executive Director of the Can-Am League and led negotiations to merge the league into the Frontier League in 2019.

Prior to moving into League management, Winn umpired in the Big South, Texas-Louisiana League and Northern Leagues. Under his tutelage, 135 umpires have been hired by Minor League Baseball, including two of his umpires — Adam Hamari (Can-Am League, 2006) and Will Little (Can-Am League 2007) who are currently umpiring in Major League Baseball. Before going into professional baseball, Winn attended the Joe Brinkman Umpire School in 1985.

A graduate of Central Connecticut State University, Winn resides in North Granby, Connecticut, with his wife, Colonel Lori Winn, USAF and their two daughters, Kendall and Reagan.

JENNIFER MALTI – DIGITAL MARKETING ASSISTANT: EAST BEAT REPORTER

Jennifer Malti is from Jersey City, NJ, and graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson University with a degree in Broadcasting Communications and a minor in Sports Media. She was the Sports Editor of her university's newspaper, The Equinox where she covered all the university's sports teams. She also worked as an intern and radio host at Fairleigh Dickinson's radio station, 89.1 WFDU where she worked alongside hosts and taking listener's requests. Jennifer would also host her own radio show called Jen's Jailhouse of Rock once a week where she would play classic rock music.

ANDRÉS TEJEDA – DIGITAL MARKETING ASSITANT: WEST BEAT REPORTER

Andrés Tejeda joins in his first year with the Frontier League after serving as the 2022 California Winter League PxP broadcaster in Palm Springs, California. Andrés will oversee the Frontier League's social media presence, report on breaking news, write game recaps, and work with Frontier League team's broadcast and media relations departments.

Andrés is from Chicago, Illinois, and graduated from the University of St. Thomas - MN with a degree in Emerging Media with a background in journalism and TV/Radio broadcasting. He was the PxP broadcaster and fill in producer/director with the St. Thomas Athletic Department - Tommie Sports Network. He also held roles at the student run media team, TommieMedia, as a multimedia journalist, studio show host and podcast host. Andrés was also part of the Minnesota Twins Radio Network for the 2021 season as a production assistant working alongside broadcasters, directors and producers.

F.L. POST-SEASON AWARDS

THE MORGAN BURKHART MOST VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD

Given each year to the Most Valuable Player in the League. Named in honor of Morgan Burkhart of the Richmond Roosters who won three consecutive MVP's from 1996- 1998. He is also the first Frontier League position player to reach the Major Leagues, joining the Boston Red Sox in 2000. Morgan is currently the assistant hitting coach for the San Diego Padres.

THE BRIAN TOLLBERG MOST VALUABLE PITCHER AWARD

Given each year to the Most Valuable Pitcher in the League. Named in honor of former Chillicothe Paint Brian Tollberg, who was the first former Frontier League player to reach the Major Leagues with the San Diego Padres in 2000. He was named National Player of the Week in his first week.

THE JASON SIMONTACCHI ROOKIE OF THE YEAR AWARD

This award was started in 2002 and given to the League's top rookie player. The award is named in honor of Jason Simontacchi, former Springfield Capital and League Pitcher of the Year in 1998. Jason reached the Major Leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals in 2002 and was named the Rookie of the Month for June in the National League. He was elected to the Frontier League's Hall of Fame in 2019. Jason is currently the Minor League Pitching Coordinator for the Kansas City Royals.

THE ROGER HANNERS MANAGER OF THE YEAR AWARD

Given to the League's top manager each year. Named in honor of Roger Hanners who passed away in 2002. Roger took over as Chillicothe Paints manager midway through the 1993 season and skippered them until the end of the 2000 season. Roger was voted Manager of the Year for 1996 and led the Paints to the 1996, 1998, and 1999 Championship Series. Upon his retirement, Roger had more wins than any manager in League history. His class and dignity both on and off the field will forever be remembered in the Frontier League.

THE BOB WOLFE EXECUTIVE OF THE YEAR AWARD

Given to the team operator who does the best job running his/her team throughout the year from the business, marketing, and operations perspective as voted by the other clubs. Named in honor of league cofounder Bob Wolfe, who was the inaugural winner while serving as General Manager for the Zanesville Greys in 1993.

THE FRAN RIORDAN CITIZENSHIP AWARD

Given to the player that best exemplifies good citizenship off the field and in his community in the League. It is named for former Richmond Rooster and Dubois County Dragon first baseman, Fran Riordan. He was one of the first players to play in the League for six seasons and held numerous offensive records at the end of his playing career. Fran was a Post-Season All-Star in 2000, 2001, and 2002. He also managed the Roosters to consecutive League Championships in 2001 and 2002 as player-manager, won again with the Kalamazoo Kings in 2005, and led the Florence Freedom to their first two playoff appearances in 2012 and 2013. He was voted Manager of the Year in 2008. Fran was part of the inaugural Hall of Fame class in 2014. He is currently managing the Las Vegas Aviators, Oakland's Triple-A team.

THE DARREN BUSH COACH OF THE YEAR AWARD

Given to the assistant coach voted as having the biggest impact on his team. The award is named for former Darren Bush. Darren was an outfielder for the Zanesville Greys in 1996 and for the Springfield Capitals in 1997 and 1998. He was a starting outfielder in the 1997 and 1998 All-Star Games. Darren became the first former Frontier League player to named as a coach for a Major League team when the Oakland Athletics named him Bullpen Coach for the 2013 season. Darren was promoted to Hitting Coach for the 2015 season, a role that he still holds.

THE ROBERT FORD BROADCASTER OF THE YEAR AWARD

Given to the top broadcaster each season as selected by the other broadcasters, general managers, and field managers. Named for Robert Ford, who was voted Broadcaster of the Year for the 2003 and 2004 seasons when he called games for the Kalamazoo Kings. Robert became the first Frontier League broadcaster to be hired as a full-time MLB play-by-play announcer when the Houston Astros tabbed him to replace Hall of Fame broadcaster Milo Hamilton for the 2013 season.

THE SAM HARTSFIELD CLUBBIE OF THE YEAR AWARD

Given to the clubhouse manager who does the best job servicing both the home and visiting clubs throughout the season. Named for longtime Evansville Otters' clubhouse manager Sam Hartsfield, who retired following the 2015 season. Sam's baseball career spanned six decades as a player, coach, and mentor to thousands. As a player, Sam played in the Negro Leagues for the famed Kansas City Monarchs and Indianapolis Clowns.

2022 PLAYER ELIGIBILITY RULES

Regular season and playoff rosters will be composed of a minimum of 22 active players and a maximum of 24 active players.

Each club must carry a minimum of ten (10) rookies (combination of Rookie-1 and Rookie-2 players) with no professional experience other than specified below and may carry a maximum of fourteen (14) players classified as Experienced or Veteran during the regular season and playoffs on their active roster. For the 2022 season, no more than four of these players may be Veteran classification.

Rookie Classification: The Rookie classification will be split into two sub-classifications, Rookie-1 and Rookie-2. The Rookie-1 sub-classification will be for players who made their professional debut in the current season and therefore have no prior professional experience, or whose experience does not meet the minimum appearances listed below. The Rookie-2 sub-classification is for players who have one year of professional experience.

Experienced Classification: The Experienced classification is for all players who do not meet the requirements to be classified under the Rookie or Veteran classifications.

Veteran Classification: The Veteran classification is for a player who is over twenty-nine (29) years of age prior to October 1 of that playing season. For the 2022 season, any player born on or before September 30, 1993 will be a Veteran classification regardless of their prior playing experience.

Minimum Appearance Exception: A player must have accrued more than 75 at bats, 15 games pitched, or 30 innings pitched in a season for that season to count toward the classifications.

21-year Old Exemption: Any player who is twenty-one (21) years of age or younger on or after October 1st of any season and is entering his first year in the Frontier League, regardless of any prior professional baseball experience, will be considered no higher than a Rookie-2 by Frontier League Rules. For the 2022 season, a birthdate of October 1, 2000 will be the cutoff to qualify under this provision.

Military Exemption: Players who have served on active military duty will receive an exemption to the age limit to avoid the Veteran classification of one year for each year of active duty that was served.

Position Change Exemption: Starting with the 2016 season, position players who are switching to pitching and pitchers who are switching to playing a position will have their classifications reset to Rookie-2 provided that they do not appear in any games at their previous position (batting/running or pitching, depending on the switch).

FRONTIER LEAGUE HALL OF FAME

The Frontier League Hall of Fame was established in 2014 to honor and celebrate the players, people, and special moments that helped us become the longest-running and premier Independent Professional Baseball league.

In order to qualify for the Frontier League Hall of Fame, a player must have been out of the Frontier League for three full seasons and have retired from professional baseball for at least one full season. Voting is done by a committee composed of a field manager, team front office, and ownership representative in conjunction with the league office. The proposed slate is then affirmed by the Board of Directors. Previous inductees are:

2014 – Inaugural Class

Morgan Burkhardt – Richmond Roosters, 1995-98 – Post-season All-Star all four seasons, and league MVP in 1996, 1997, and 1998. Morgan was the first position player to play Major League Baseball, playing for the Boston Red Sox and Kansas City Royals. The MVP award is named for Morgan.

Aaron Ledbetter – River City, 2003-06; Washington 2006-08 – Pitcher of the Year in 2007. Aaron retired as the career leader in games started, innings pitched, victories, complete games, and strikeouts.

Scott Pinoni – Chillicothe, 1996-99 – Post-season All-Star in 1996, 1997, and 1999, and league MVP in 1999.

Fran Riordan – Richmond, 1997-98 and 2001-02; Dubois County 1999-2000 – Post-Season All-Star in 2000, 2001, and 2002. Also served as manager for Richmond in 2001-02 and Kalamazoo from 2004-09 winning three championships (2001, 2002, and 2005), and is the all-time winningest manager. The Citizenship award is named for Fran.

Kirk Taylor – Ohio Valley, 1998; Johnstown 1999-2001 – Post-Season All-Star in 1998, 2000, and 2001, and league MVP in 2001. Kirk finished his FL career 2nd all-time in home runs. He also managed Johnstown in 2002.

Dr. Chris Hanners (special contributor) – Co-founder of the Frontier League in 1993, Chris served as President from 1994-2003 and Chairman of the Board from 2004-2008 as owner of the Chillicothe Paints and Rockford Aviators.

Brett Gray strikes out 25 batters (significant moment) – June 3, 2000, was the home opener for the defending champion London Werewolves. Brett struck out 25 batters as London defeated the Chillicothe Paints with MLB Hall of Famer Bob Feller in attendance. Following the game, the Baseball Hall of Fame requested memorabilia from the game, and two days later the Cincinnati Reds signed Brett.

Mike Breyman – Gateway Grizzlies, 2004-08 – Post-Season All-Star in 2007 and 2008. Mike retired as the Frontier League's career leader in hits, tied for the lead in RBI, and second in home runs. He also managed Joliet in 2013.

Bobby Chandler – Chillicothe, 1998-99; Richmond, 2000; Johnstown, 2001-02. Bobby was the pre-eminent closer of the league's first decade, retiring with a then-record 56 saves.

Stephen Holdren – Windy City, 2006; Rockford, 2006; Gateway, 2007-09; Southern Illinois, 2009; River City, 2010-11 – Post-Season All-Star in 2010 and 2011, MVP in 2011. Retired as second all-time in runs scored, hits, home runs, and RBI.

Jason James – Rockford, 2006-09, 2011; Windy City, 2011 – Post-Season All-Star in 2007, 2008, and 2009. Jason hit safely in 40 games during the 2009 season, which is still the league record. His .347 career batting average is the highest of any player to play at least three full seasons.

Chris Sidick – Washington, 2005-11 – Post-Season All -Star in 2006. Chris still holds the career records for games played, at bats, runs scored, and hits. Bob Wolfe (special contributor) – Bob was one of the co-founders of the Frontier League and owned the Zanesville Greys from 1993-95. He served as league Treasurer until his retirement in 2011. Bob was the inaugural winner of the Executive of the Year award, which is now named for him.

2002 All-Star Game Home Run Derby (significant moment) – The morning following a controversial tie in the MLB All-Star Game, the Board of Directors voted to use a home run derby if the Frontier League game scheduled for that night was tied after 9 innings. After a home run by Dubois County's Joe Kalczynski tied the game at 4 in the top of of the 9th, the home East division stranded a runner on 3rd base to end the game. Brody Jackson from River City hit the home run in the derby to give the West a victory. Following the game, Fox Sports Radio dedicated a 30-minute segment to the Frontier League, while footage of Brody's home run was featured as the "Spotlight Segment" on ESPN's SportsCenter the following evening.

Richard Austin – Springfield Capitals, 2001; Rockford RiverHawks 2002-04 – 2004 Frontier League Most Valuable Player when he led the RiverHawks to their only championship. Richard also managed the RiverHawks /Aviators from 2011-13.

Willie Edwards – Kalamazoo Kodiaks, 1998; London Werewolves, 1999-2001; Kalamazoo Kings, 2001; Chillicothe Paints, 2002 – 1998 PostSeason All-Star outfielder who led London to the 1999 championship. Willie finished his Frontier League career with a .310 batting average, 44 home runs, and 216 RBI.

Charlie Lisk – 2006, Windy City ThunderBolts; 2007-11, Gateway Grizzlies, 2012, River City Rascals – 2010 Most Valuable Player and 2008, 09, 10, and 11 Post-Season All-Star catcher. Charlie is the Frontier League's career home run and RBI leader.

Joey Metropoulos – 2007-10, Southern Illinois Miners – 2009 Frontier League Most Valuable Player and a 2008-09 Post-Season All-Star outfielder. Joey finished his Frontier League career with a .305 batting average, 70 home runs, and 208 RBI.

Matt Schweitzer – 2000-05, Richmond Roosters – 2003 Post-Season AllStar and member of the 2002 and 2003 champion teams. Matt completed his Frontier League career with a 29-22 record, 13 saves, and 3.44 ERA with 434 strikeouts in 196 games. Matt was the Frontier League career leader in games pitched when he retired and still ranks 2nd all-time in strikeouts.

Max McLeary (special contributor) – Max umpired in the Frontier League from 1995-2005, becoming what is believed to be the only one-eyed person to ever umpire professional baseball, according to the Baseball Hall of Fame. Max's Frontier League umpiring career was the subject of articles in the New York Times, Cincinnati Enquirer, Sports Illustrated, and by the Associated Press, and he was the subject of the book "Everything Happens in Chillicothe: A Summer in the Frontier League with Max McLeary, the One-Eyed Umpire”, covering the 2000 season.

Brian Tollberg’s Major League Baseball debut (significant moment) – Brian Tollberg gave the Frontier League national publicity on June 20, 2000 when he became the first former player to appear in a Major League Baseball game. Brian was the starting pitcher for the San Diego Padres and earned the win over the Arizona Diamondbacks by tossing seven shutout innings and allowing only one hit. Five days later, Brian won his second start lasting 7.1 innings against the Cincinnati Reds. He was named National League Player of the Week that week along with being named National League Rookie Pitcher of the Month. Brian appeared in 53 games (52 starts) for the Padres over four seasons, compiling a 15-16 record and 4.84 ERA. Brian made his professional debut with the Chillicothe Paints in 1994, finishing with a 7-4 record and 2.85 ERA before having his contract purchased by the Milwaukee Brewers, who traded him to San Diego prior to the 1997 season. The Frontier League Pitcher of the Year award is named in Brian’s honor.

Chase Burch – Traverse City Beach Bums, 2010-13 – 2012 Post-Season AllStar first baseman who finished his Frontier League career with .283 batting average, 68 home runs, and 235 RBI. Chase helped the Beach Bums to the 2010 Frontier League Championship Series.

Travis Garcia – Ohio Valley Redcoats, 2005; Chillicothe Paints 2006-08 – 2007 Most Valuable Player and 2005, 06, and 07 Post-Season All-Star as a shortstop and third baseman. Travis finished his time in the Frontier League with a .304 batting average, 57 home runs, and 275 RBI and led Chillicothe to the 2006 Championship Series. Gator McBride – Chillicothe Paints, 1998-99 – 1998 Post-Season All-Star outfielder who led the Paints to the Championship Series. Gator hit .423 with 27 home runs and 111 RBI in 108 career games before signing with the Boston Red Sox.

Pete Pirman – Evansville Otters, 2002; Richmond Roosters 2003; Kalamazoo Kings 2004-06 – 2005 Most Valuable Player who led Kalamazoo to their only Frontier League title. Pete is tied for the singleseason record with 100 RBI in 2005 and posted a .300 batting average with 47 home runs and 247 RBI in his Frontier League tenure.

Steve Sturgill (special contributor) – Steve was the first President of the Frontier League and one of the original league owners. Steve ran the Portsmouth Explorers in 1993 and 1994, later serving as the City Council President/Mayor of Portsmouth. Aside from Bill Lee, Steve is the only person to have his signature stamped on a Frontier League baseball.

June 30, 1993 (significant moment) – After months of planning, the Frontier League became the first fully independent professional baseball league to operate since the late 1970s when the eight original teams took the field for their first official games. The Tri-State Tomahawks hosted the West Virginia Coal Sox; the Kentucky Rifles hosted the Ohio Valley Redcoats; the Zanesville Greys hosted the Lancaster Scouts; and the Chillicothe Paints hosted the Portsmouth Explorers. Among the players from the inaugural games are Ohio Valley’s Darin Everson (currently the Triple-A hitting coach for the Colorado Rockies) and Travis Barbery (currently the Catching Coordinator for the Los Angeles Dodgers); Portsmouth’s Dominic Viola (currently an Assignment Scout for the Miami Marlins); and TriState’s Chris Calciano (currently an Area Scout for the Boston Red Sox).

Andy Clark – Florence Freedom, 2008-13 – Finished his Frontier League career with a 37-12 record, 3.72 ERA, 2.85:1 strikeout/walk ratio over 94 career games. Andy ranks in the top five for career wins, games started, and innings pitched.

Andrew Davis – Lake Erie Crushers, 2009-14 – Andrew ranks in the top three in career games played, at bats, hits, and RBI. A Post-Season All-Star as a third baseman in 2009 and as a shortstop in 2011 Andrew led the Crushers to the Frontier League Championship during their inaugural season.

Scott Dunn – Traverse City Beach Bums, 2010-13; Washington Wild Things, 2014. The 2013 Frontier League Pitcher of the Year, Scott finished with a 38-15 career record for the second most victories in FL history to go with a 2.83 ERA over 445.1 innings.

Eric Massingham – Evansville Otters, 2011-14 – Eric's 70 career saves are the most for any Frontier League player. He posted a 1.68 ERA over 116 games and was the 2013 Post-Season All-Star Relief Pitcher.

Terry Pearson – Zanesville Greys, 1995-96 – Terry became the third former Frontier League player to advance to Major League Baseball when he made the Detroit Tigers' opening day roster in 2002. He was a 1996 Post-Season All-Star after leading the league with 20 saves to go along with a 4-1 record, 0.50 ERA, and 43 strikeouts in 35.2 innings.

Duke Ward (special contributor) – Duke was instrumental in bringing the Richmond Roosters into the Frontier League for the 1995 season and was part of the ownership group for their 11 seasons. Duke served several years as Vice-President for the Frontier League while his Richmond team was the 1995 Organization of the Year and hosted the 1996 and 1998 All-Star Games.

Unveiling of Baseball's Best Burger (significant moment) – When former Gateway Grizzlies' general manager Tony Funderburg unveiled Baseball's Best Burger prior to the 2006 season, the team had no idea how well known the product would become. The sandwich, which features a thick hamburger with bacon and sharp cheddar cheese served on a grilled Krispy Kreme donut, received national publicity from the moment that it was introduced. The burger has been featured on ESPN, The Travel Channel, and in Fortune Magazine and Sports Illustrated along with many other places.

Ryan Bird – Southern Illinois Miners, 2008-10 – The 2008 Pitcher of the Year when he led the Frontier League in wins (13) and strikeouts (152). Ryan finished with a 28-12 career record, 2.96 ERA, and 308 strikeouts in 289.1 innings over 49 games.

Landon Hernandez – Gateway Grizzlies, 2010-14 – One of the top defensive catchers in league history, including a record 55% caught stealing in 2013. Landon was a Post-Season All-Star in 2011, 2012, and 2013 who finished with 64 home runs and 214 RBI.

Mitch House – Chillicothe Paints, 1996-98 – Post-Season All-Star at third base in 1996 and 1998 and at first base in 1997. Mitch led the Frontier League in hits, home runs, and RBI in 1996 and compiled career numbers of a .300 batting average, 50 home runs, 181 RBI, and a .997 ops.

Gilberto Mejia – Windy City ThunderBolts, 2007-10 – Another 3-time PostSeason All-Star, honored at second base in 2008, 2009, and 2010. Gilberto finished with a .295 batting average, 21 home runs, 156 RBI, 139 stolen bases (including a league-leading 49 in 2009), and a .820 ops.

Jason Simontacchi – Springfield Capitals, 1998 – The 1998 Pitcher of the Year when he posted a 10-2 record and 2.95 ERA with 92 strikeouts over 16 starts against the best offensive season in league history. Jason has his contract purchased following the season, making his way to Major League Baseball for the St. Louis Cardinals (2002-04) and Washington Nationals (2007). The Frontier League's Rookie of the Year award is named for Jason, as he was the National League's Rookie of the Month for June 2002.

Clint Brown (special contributor) – Clint purchased the Florence Freedom out of bankruptcy prior to the 2005 season and owned and operated the club until his passing in January 2018. Clint was an active member of multiple committees during his time in the Frontier League, including the Executive Committee, the By-Laws Committee, and the Membership/Expansion Committee. Clint's passion for the Freedom and the Frontier League was infectious and he was a mentor to hundreds of employees throughout his career. Florence was voted Organization of the Year in 2005 and 2015 while General Managers Kari Rumfield (2009) and Josh Anderson (2015) won Executive of the Year during Clint's tenure. The Freedom hosted the 2007 and 2016 All-Star Games while on the field the team won the 2017 West Division title and advanced to the Championship Series in 2012 and 2017. Former Freedom players Steve Delabar, Stephen Cardullo, and Aaron Wilkerson all advanced to MLB after playing under Clint, while current Milwaukee Brewers' pitching coach Chris Hook and Oakland Athletics' Triple-A field manager Fran Riordan were part of his on-field staff.

Opening of Hawkinson Ford Field and T.R. Hughes Ballpark for the 1999 season (significant moment) – 1999 was one of the milestone years in the history of the Frontier League as the Cook County Cheetahs and River City Rascals began play, bringing the league to 10 teams for the first time. Cook County and River City were notable for being the first two ballparks built specifically for Frontier League teams plus being the first entry into a suburban MLB market for the Frontier League. Hawkinson Ford Field (now Ozinga Field) and T.R. Hughes Ballpark (now CarShield Field) drastically jumped the standard of ballpark for a Frontier League team while the offfield success of the Rascals and Cheetahs led to future suburban markets such as Gateway, Washington, Florence, and Lake Erie.

Corey Morris - Ohio Valley Redcoats, 1994 - Although limited to only one season due to playing rules at the time, former Ohio Valley Redcoats Outfielder Corey Morris, made the most of 1994. The season was only 68 games. He registered a .394 avg, with 19 home runs, 63 RBI, 67 runs scored, 22 doubles, 47 walks, and a 1.252 OPS. He led the Frontier League in home runs, RBI, runs, doubles, and walks, and was 2nd in average. He was named the 1994 league Most Valuable Player, and still possesses the second highest OPS in league history.

Joe Pass - Richmond Roosters, 1996-98, Dubois County Dragons, 1999 - A Second Baseman and Leftfielder, Joe spent time with the Richmond Roosters from 1996-1998, where he played with Frontier League Hall of Famers Morgan Burkhardt and Fran Riordan. He then served as player-manager for the Dubois County Dragons in 1999. He played in 4 Frontier League All-Star games. Pass had a .325 career avg, with 133 RBI and a .391 OBP. He was also named a PostSeason All-Star in both the 1996 and 1999 seasons.

Josh Loggins - Washington Wild Things, 2002-03 - Playing the majority of games as an Outfielder and Catcher, Josh posted a .339 career average, with 31 doubles, 29 home runs, and 117 RBI. His .347 batting average in 2002 ranked 4th in the League. He had a season to remember in 2003. That year, he ranked 3rd in average (.331), 1st in home runs (24) and 4th in RBI (72). He won the 2003 League MVP Award, despite signing with the Colorado Rockies in mid-August of that year. He then played 2 more years professionally.

Jared Howton - Washington Wild Things, 2002-03, Richmond Roosters, 2005 - A starting left-handed pitcher with the Washington Wild Things in 2002 & 2003 and the Richmond Roosters in 2005. Jared posted a 21-8 career record with a 2.94 ERA. 2002 was his greatest season. He led the league in ERA (1.89) and tied for most wins (11). He had 89 strikeouts and only 38 walks in 109 innings of work. He was named 2002 Pitcher of the Year as well as a Mid-Season and Post-Season All Star. He also served as a Pitching Coach for the Richmond Roosters.

Jonathan Koutis - Lake Erie Crushers, 2012, Frontier Greys, 2013, Washington Wild Things 2014-15 - A right-handed relief pitcher with the Lake Erie Crushers in 2012, Frontier Greys in 2013, and Washington Wild Things in 2014-15, Jonathan ranks second all-time in saves with 59. He also currently holds the Frontier League record for single season saves with 32. Along with his saves total, in his 162 innings pitched over 113 games played, he posted a 3.00 ERA and 188 strikeouts. He was named a Post-Season All-Star Relief Pitcher in 2012 and 2014.

Mike Torres - Windy City Thunderbolts 2010-15 - Mike was a complete player for the Windy City Thunderbolts and a fixture in their lineup for 6 seasons. He played second base, shortstop, and third base for the ThunderBolts. He racked up a .294 career average, 207 RBI, and 153 stolen bases over 565 career games. Torres rarely missed a game. He played in a league-record 339 consecutive games from 6/1/11 to 7/29/14, and 565 out of a possible 575 games in his six seasons. He was named an All-Star as a Second Basemen in 2011, 2012, 2013 and 2015.

Kevin Rouch - Kevin Rouch first joined the Frontier League as the radio broadcaster for the Zanesville Greys from 1993-96. He then was the voice of the Chillicothe Paints from 1997 to 2000. He was selected as the Frontier League Broadcaster of the Year in 1998. Kevin then was appointed Deputy Commissioner and League Counsel in 2001, serving in these roles through the 2009 season. Kevin created the first Frontier League website and was responsible for the Frontier League qualifying for P-1 work visas for international players.

Rich Sauget Sr. - The owner of the Gateway Grizzlies joined the Frontier League in 1999. From 2003 through 2020, he served as the President of the League Board of Directors. During Sauget's tenure, the League experienced tremendous growth. Annually, the League attracts approximately 1.5 million fans. Throughout his Presidency, six new stadiums were built. Also, he helped to oversee the admission of the teams from the Can-Am League after the 2019 season. In 2020, MLB named the Frontier League as a Partner League, one of the most important moments in League history.

Tom Crowley - Tom Crowley played 3 seasons in the Frontier League. He was the true leader of the Zanesville Greys. He led the team to the inaugural FL Championship in 1993, with a 7-1 record and a 2.05 ERA. He garnered the Pitcher of the Year award for his efforts. Throughout his career, he proved his versatility. Besides pitching, he played every position other than 1B and catcher.

Steve Ruckman - Steve Ruckman was the most dominant 3B of his era in the Frontier League. He played for Newark in 1994 and Richmond in 1995 and 1997. He was a consistent hitter that produced a career .316 average. He also was a tremendous defender compiling a career .940 fielding percentage. He was twice named to the Frontier League Post Season All-Star Team at 3B.

Perry Cunningham - Perry Cunningham was a workhorse for the Chillicothe Paints for 4 seasons from 2004-2007. Perry led the Paints to the 2005 and 2006 Championship Series. His statistics in that period place him among the career League leaders in Wins (37), Games Started (78) and Innings Pitched (497.2). He also had 7 complete games and posted a career ERA of 3.56. Perry was selected for the 2006 All-Star Game.

Jacob Dempsey - Jacob Dempsey was one of the most feared hitters in the Frontier League during his career. He was a tremendous run producer for the Washington Wild Things from 2008-2010. In his 257 games played, he had 62 doubles, 57 home runs, and 221 RBI. Almost half of his 264 hits went for extra bases. He was named to the Frontier League Post Season All-Star team as the Designated Hitter in both 2008 and 2009.

Aaron Dudley - Aaron Dudley spent 5 seasons with the Normal CornBelts from 2013-2017. Throughout his career with the club, he was the anchor at 1B and the clean-up spot in the order. His 120 doubles, 57 homers, 290 RBI and OPS of .951 are all Normal team records. He was named to the Frontier League Post Season All-Star Team at 1B in 2015 and 2016.

Patrick McKenna - Patrick McKenna was a standout Shortstop with the Normal CornBelts from 2012-2015. He was a slick fielder and compiled a .962 fielding percentage while in Normal. At the plate, he produced great numbers as well. His 59 home runs is a team record. During his career, he played as high as AAA with the Padres. He was a Post-Season All-Star shortstop in 2013 and 2015.

Special Moment – 25th anniversary of the first no-hitter in league history

It took until the Frontier League's fourth season for our first no-hitter. 2022 marks the 25th anniversary of Christian Hess' performance. Hess, pitching for the Richmond Roosters, held the Kalamazoo Kodiaks hitless during the June 8, 1997, game at Mayor's Riverfront Park in Kalamazoo. His Richmond teammates that game included Frontier League Hall of Famers Morgan Burkhardt, Joe Pass, and Steve Ruckman. Hess tied for the team lead in wins with Evansville in 1996 before moving to Richmond for the 1997 season.

FRONTIER LEAGUE 2022 EXTRA INNING TIE-BREAKER

During the regular season, the International Tiebreaker will be utilized for the 10th inning for 9-inning games and the 8th inning for 7-inning games. If the game remains tied after one inning of International Tie Breaker play, a half-inning of sudden death play will be used to determine the winning and losing team.

Following the ITB inning, the two field managers will meet with the umpires, and the home manager will determine if he wants offense or defense.

For the team on offense, they will start the half-inning with a runner on 1st base and no outs.

If a run scores before three outs are recorded, then the offensive team will win the game.

If three outs are recorded before a run scores, then the defensive team will win the game.

As with the ITB inning, a run scored by the runner starting on base will be unearned.

The last pitcher of record for the winning team will get a win.

If the defensive team wins, then there will not be a losing pitcher.

This rule was first proposed by former Florence field manager Dennis Pelfrey. It was refined by a committee of field managers including Evansville's Andy McCauley, Ottawa's Bobby Brown, and Quebec's Pat Scalabrini.
