SCOTT HOWSON

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER
AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Fans,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2023-24 American Hockey League season, as we continue a tradition of excellence that can be traced back to our league's founding nearly nine decades ago.

The AHL is as proud as ever of its role in developing nearly all of the players, coaches, executives, trainers, broadcasters and officials who you see throughout the National Hockey League today. Generations of our great fans have cheered on future superstars, Stanley Cup champions and Hockey Hall of Famers as they have come through the AHL.

This season is sure to be another memorable one, from the excitement of opening night to the pageantry of the AHL All-Star Classic in San Jose to the thrills and emotion of the Calder Cup Playoffs.

On behalf of all of our teams, thank you for your continuing support of the AHL.

Sincerely,

Scott Howson
President & CEO | American Hockey League

D. SCOTT HOWSON PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Scott Howson enters his fourth season as American Hockey League President and CEO in 2023-24 after being elected to the position in 2020.

Howson has already led the AHL and its member teams through unprecedented challenges, beginning with navigating through two seasons that required diligent management of protocols and logistics to ensure the league could operate in a safe and effective manner during the COVID-19 pandemic.

During Howson's tenure, the AHL has added a 32nd franchise, the Coachella Valley Firebirds; expanded its Calder Cup Playoff field to 23 teams to allow for greater player development through meaningful late-season and postseason experience; implemented a unified 72-game schedule in the regular season; and reached record levels of ticket and corporate sales revenues. Howson has also actively advocated for diversity and inclusion throughout the league, most notably with the addition in 2021 of 10 women to the AHL's roster of referees and linespeople for the first time.

A Toronto native, Howson previously spent 26 years as an executive with the National Hockey League's Edmonton Oilers and Columbus Blue Jackets organizations, with wide-ranging responsibilities including hockey operations and administration, player development, salary cap compliance, contract negotiations, scouting and evaluation, and business operations.

Before taking over the helm of the AHL, Howson served in various roles after rejoining Edmonton in 2013, including hockey operations, pro scouting and player personnel and development responsibilities.

He was named general manager of the Blue Jackets in 2007 and spent six seasons in that role, guiding the franchise to its first Stanley Cup Playoff appearance in 2009.

Howson first joined the Edmonton organization in 1994 as general manager of their AHL affiliates in Cape Breton and later Hamilton. He was named assistant to the general manager of the Oilers in 2000 and served as assistant GM of the NHL club from 2001-07. Howson's AHL clubs reached the Calder Cup Finals in 1997 and 2003, and as a member of the AHL Board of Governors he served on the league's competition committee from 1996-2002 and on its executive committee from 2003-07.

A prolific scorer as a junior player with Kingston (OHL), Howson played five seasons of professional hockey from 1981-86, including 110 games in the AHL with the Springfield Indians and 18 contests with the NHL's New York Islanders. He was the International Hockey League's Rookie of the Year in 1981-82 and won championships in both the IHL and the Central Hockey League.

Howson holds a bachelor's degree from York University and is a graduate of York's Osgoode Hall Law School. He and his wife, Antoinette Mongillo, have three children: son Max and daughters Rebekah and Joanna.

DAVID A. ANDREWS

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS

After 26 seasons serving as President and CEO of the American Hockey League, David Andrews transitioned to a new role as Chairman of the Board of Governors beginning in July of 2020.

Andrews' tenure at the helm of the AHL established him as one of the most influential executives in hockey and all of minor professional sports. He grew the AHL exponentially and significantly redefined its mission, expanding the league's footprint from a regional 16-team circuit to a 31-team league stretching from coast to coast with every AHL franchise serving as the exclusive primary development affiliate for a National Hockey League organization.

From the time he assumed the role of President in 1994, Andrews dramatically repositioned the league by attracting new member cities, recruiting new ownership and forging new development partnerships with all 32 NHL organizations, managing more than 230 transactions impacting member clubs' locations, ownership and NHL affiliation agreements. In a challenging economic climate and a competitive pro hockey landscape, Andrews strategically managed and grew an AHL which continues to impact the development of nearly 90 percent of the players and virtually all of the coaches, managers and officials in the NHL.

In 2001, Andrews led an expansion which resulted in the absorption of six franchises and the dissolution of the AHL's long-time competitor, the International Hockey League. And in 2015, Andrews negotiated and brought to a successful outcome the complex process of relocating teams into five markets in California, an enterprise which has since expanded further into Arizona, Colorado and Nevada and continues to develop and strengthen the game in the western United States.

Andrews contributed to the growth of hockey by playing a leadership role in rules innovations — such as hybrid icing and 4-on-4 and later 3-on-3 overtime play — and player safety initiatives. During his time as President, the AHL instituted safety standards relative to head checking and checking from behind; introduced mandatory visors for all skaters; and provided a safer environment for its players by adopting a modified schedule that reduced the number of games played, increased the length of the playing calendar and eliminated sequences of teams playing four games in five days.

On the business front, Andrews grew corporate and broadcast partnerships to new levels, built strong platforms for the league's special events such as the All-Star Classic and Calder Cup Finals, and oversaw dramatic increases in league-wide revenues and franchise values.

A native of Nova Scotia, Andrews served on the Board of Governors as the Edmonton Oilers' director of AHL operations for seven years (1986-94), building the Cape Breton Oilers franchise into one of the most successful AHL clubs both on and off the ice — contributing to two Stanley Cup championships (1988, 1990) and the 1993 Calder Cup title. Andrews received the James C. Hendy Award as the AHL's outstanding executive in 1990.

Prior to joining the Oilers, Andrews was employed by the government of Canada as a senior consultant with SportCanada. In that position, he was responsible for providing direction to five national Winter Olympic sport organizations in the development of the national team for the 1988 Winter Olympic Games in Calgary. Andrews' hockey background includes serving as head coach and director of hockey operations for the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League from 1982-84, and he served as an assistant coach for the Cougars when they represented the WHL in the 1981 Memorial Cup. He has also served as head coach of the 1982 Canadian National Under-18 Program.

Andrews was the Hockey Development Coordinator for the Province of British Columbia from 1975-80. He served 10 years on the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's Developmental Council and was chairman of the coaching committee for CAHA during that time. During his playing days as a goaltender, Andrews was a conference all-star and MVP at both Dalhousie University and the University of British Columbia. He played four years professionally for RAAK in the Dutch first division.

A 2021 inductee into the AHL Hall of Fame, Andrews was awarded the Lester Patrick Trophy in 2010 for contributions to hockey in the United States, as well as USA Hockey's Distinguished Achievement Award in 2020. He was presented with the Good Guy Award by the Ace Bailey Children's Foundation in 2011, and has been honored with induction into both the British Columbia Hockey Hall of Fame and the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame. And in addition to his position with the AHL, Andrews currently serves as Chairman of the Selection Committee for the Order of Hockey in Canada, and as Vice-Chairman of the Hockey Canada Foundation.

Andrews and his wife, Marleen, have three children — Chrissy, Brad and Jeff — and eight grandchildren.

THE BEGINNINGS

Embarking on its 88th season of play in 2023-24, the American Hockey League is continuing a tradition of excellence that began in 1936 when the Canadian-American Hockey League joined with the International Hockey League to form what is today known as the AHL. Eight teams hit the ice that first season, representing Buffalo, Cleveland, New Haven, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Providence, Springfield and Syracuse.

Frank Calder, the National Hockey League's president at the time, was instrumental in the forming of this new league, and his name would be given to its championship trophy. The first Calder

Cup was won by the Syracuse Stars in 1937; the Hershey Bears captured their league-best 12th championship last spring.

From those roots, the American Hockey League has grown into a 32-team, coast-to-coast league that provides fans with exciting, high-level professional hockey while preparing thousands of players, coaches, officials, executives, trainers, broadcasters and more for careers in the NHL.

▶ THE PLAYERS

In today's National Hockey League nearly 90 percent of the players are AHL alumni, including 2022-23 Vezina Trophy winner Linus Ullmark, Norris Trophy recipient Erik Karlsson and Selke Trophy winner Patrice Bergeron. The 2023 Stanley Cup champion Vegas Golden Knights were stocked with AHL graduates including three-time AHL All-Star and Conn Smythe Trophy winner Jonathan Marchessault.

During the 2022-23 season, a total of 924 AHL alumni played in the National Hockey League. There were 375 players who skated in both leagues last year alone, and 238 former first- and second-round NHL draft picks developed their skills in the AHL last season, including Simon Nemec, David Jiricek, Jiri Kulich, Lukas Reichel, William Eklund, Jesper Wallstedt, Thomas Harley and Calder Cup champions Connor McMichael and Hendrix Lapierre.

▶ THE LEGENDS

For nearly nine decades, the American Hockey League has been home to some of the greatest players in the history of our sport. In fact, there are 130 honored members of the Hockey Hall of Fame who have been affiliated with the AHL during their careers. All-time greats like Johnny Bower, Toe Blake, Gump Worsley, Terry Sawchuk, Glenn Hall, Brad Park, Ken Dryden and Martin St. Louis came through the AHL ranks and now find themselves enshrined in Toronto, and the coveted Calder Cup is inscribed with the names of legendary AHL alumni like Patrick Roy, Larry Robinson, Gerry Cheevers, Andy Bathgate, Tim Horton, Al Arbour, Emile Francis, Doug Harvey and Billy Smith.

▶ THE COACHES

At the start of the 2023-24 season, the National Hockey League featured 22 head coaches who were former AHL bench bosses, including Bruce Cassidy of the 2023 Stanley Cup champion Vegas Golden Knights and newcomers Greg Cronin of the Anaheim Ducks, Ryan Huska of the Calgary Flames and Spencer Carbery of the Washington Capitals.

Tampa Bay's Jon Cooper, Toronto's Sheldon Keefe, Minnesota's Dean Evason, Edmonton's Jay Woodcroft and Detroit's Derek Lalonde are also among the current NHL coaches who spent time in the American Hockey League before making the jump.

JONATHAN MARCHESSAULT
3-TIME AHL ALL-STAR
2023 STANLEY CUP CHAMPION

IN MEMORIAM: WILLIE MARSHALL (1931-2023)

Willie Marshall, the American Hockey League's all-time leader in goals, assists, points and games played, passed away at his home in Lebanon, Pa., on June 2, 2023. He was 91.

Born Wilmott J. Marshall in Kirkland Lake, Ont., Marshall was a talented scorer and playmaker, dominating the AHL over 20 seasons with the Pittsburgh Hornets (1952-56), Hershey Bears (1956-63), Rochester Americans (1958-59, 1971-72), Providence Reds (1963-66) and Baltimore Clippers (1966-71). More than a half-century after his retirement, Marshall remains the AHL's career leader with 523 goals, 852 assists, 1,375 points and 1,205 games played.

Marshall was voted a First Team AHL All-Star in 1955-56 and again in 1957-58, when he won the league scoring title with a career-best 104 points in 68 games. He was also a Second Team All-Star selection in 1961-62.

Additionally, Marshall, a three-time Calder Cup champion (with Pittsburgh in 1955 and with Hershey in 1958 and 1959), ranks second in league history with 119 career playoff points over 112 postseason games.

In 2004, the American Hockey League honored its career scoring leader with the creation of the Willie Marshall Award, which is now presented annually to the AHL player who scores the most goals each season. And in 2006, Marshall was one of seven members of the inaugural class of inductees into the American Hockey League Hall of Fame.

Hours after his death, Marshall was remembered with a moment of silence before two of his former teams, Hershey and Rochester, met in Game 6 of the Eastern Conference Finals.

"At a time when there were only six teams in the National Hockey League, Willie Marshall was one of the greatest players not just in the AHL but in the entire sport of hockey," said AHL President and Chief Executive Officer Scott Howson. "His contributions helped shape the AHL's tradition of excellence that continues to this day. But more importantly, Willie was a devoted family man of character and faith; our deepest condolences go out to his son Will; his daughters Ann, Jane and Joanne; and his entire family."

CALDER CUP (AHL PLAYOFF CHAMPION)

The Calder Cup, the American Hockey League's ultimate prize, is named after the National Hockey League's first president, Frank Calder.

Mr. Calder was instrumental in the formation of the AHL in the mid-1930's and served as president of the NHL until his death in 1943.

The Calder Cup, which gained its current design in 2001, is awarded annually to the AHL playoff champion.

The names of the players, coaches and support staff from the 20 most recent winners adorn the base; the plaques containing all previous years' champions are on display at the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. For a complete list of winners, see the Calder Cup Playoffs section of this guide.

Canning

RICHARD F. CANNING TROPHY (EASTERN CONFERENCE PLAYOFF CHAMPION)

Richard Canning served the AHL for over 50 years and is best remembered as the "father" of the league's Constitution, By-Laws and Regulations.

He began his hockey career in 1938 as a legal advisor to long-time friend and owner of the Providence Reds, Louis A.R. Pieri. He then joined the League in 1957 as executive vice president.

The following year, Mr. Canning was named President of the AHL, a position he held until 1961. In 1974, he returned as vice president and general counsel, where he worked until 1990.

Established in 1990, the Richard F. Canning Trophy was originally awarded to the Northern Division (1990-95) and Northern Conference (1996-97) playoff champions, and has gone to the Eastern Conference playoff champions since 1998.

Robert W. Clarke played an instrumental role in the formation of the Rochester Americans when, in 1956, he recruited a group of Rochester businessmen to be 45% owners of the team, becoming partners with the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Mr. Clarke became involved with the American Hockey League itself when he was appointed Chairman of the Board of Governors in 1967, a post he held through 1994.

In recognition of his achievements, Mr. Clarke received the James C. Hendy Memorial Award in 1972 and 1993 as an outstanding league executive.

AHL All-Star Teams

From the 1937-38 season through 1944-45, AHL All-Star teams and coaches were selected in a league-wide poll of players. Starting with the 1945-46 season, All-Star teams were selected solely by the media. From 1972-2007, two ballots, one representing the media and one representing the vote of the players, were submitted by each AHL city and weighed equally. Since 2007-08, a third ballot, representing AHL coaches from each city, has also been submitted.

Beginning in 1996-97, an AHL All-Rookie Team was selected as well, and a Top Prospects Team, as determined by the AHL, was introduced in 2022-23. In 2020-21, due to the pandemic-shortened season, an All-Star Team was selected for each of the league's five divisions.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Following a meeting in Cleveland on October 4, 1936, officials from the International Hockey League and the Canadian-American Hockey League announce the formation of a combined circuit called the International-American Hockey League to begin play that fall.

International League teams in Cleveland, Syracuse, Pittsburgh and Buffalo play in the Western Division, and Can-Am League teams in Springfield, Providence, New Haven and Philadelphia play in the Eastern Division. League presidents John D. Chick (West) and Maurice Podoloff (East) continue to head up their respective divisions.

The Buffalo Bisons last only 11 games before withdrawing from the league in December of 1936, citing financial hardships due to having to play their home games in Niagara Falls, Ont. The Syracuse Stars win the first International-American Hockey League title by defeating the Philadelphia Ramblers in the championship series.

In 1937-38, Syracuse's Jack Markle leads the IAHL in scoring for the second year in a row. With Frank Brimsek allowing just 1.79 goals per game, the Providence Reds win the league championship as Fred "Bun" Cook earns the first of his seven titles as a head coach.

On June 28, 1938, the two founding leagues officially dissolve and the merger is completed, with Podoloff being elected the first President of the IAHL and Chick being named vice president. At the same meeting, the league admits the Hershey Bears as its newest member franchise.

The Cleveland Barons win the Calder Cup in 1938-39, and the league adds a ninth team the following year when the Indianapolis Capitals are granted membership. In July 1939, future Hall of Famer Eddie Shore, still active as a defenseman with the Boston Bruins, purchases the Springfield Indians, beginning an extraordinary tenure in the western Massachusetts city.

Providence wins the Calder Cup again in 1940. The IAHL drops the word "International" from its name before the 1940-41 season, officially becoming the American Hockey League. The Buffalo Bisons return to play when the Buffalo Memorial Auditorium ("The Aud") opens. The Cleveland Barons win the 1941 Calder Cup led by Les Cunningham, the league scoring champion and a five-time AHL All-Star.

In February 1942, the AHL holds an All-Star Game to raise funds for the war efforts in the United States and Canada. Springfield is forced out of its arena in 1942-43 when it is taken over by the United States Quartermaster for use during World War II; Eddie Shore moves his players to Buffalo and takes control of the Bisons franchise. Buffalo goalie Gordie Bell – just 17 years old – posts nine shutouts and leads the Bisons to the Calder Cup in 1943, their first of two straight titles.

The St. Louis Flyers join the AHL in 1944 and draw 13,384 fans for their inaugural game, setting a league record. Cleveland and Pittsburgh play what is still the highest-scoring game in AHL history, a 12-10 Barons win on March 17, 1945. Eddie Shore severs his partnership with Buffalo and purchases the New Haven Eagles in 1945, then returns to Springfield in 1946-47.

Cleveland Barons sniper Johnny Holota becomes the first player in AHL history to score 50 or more goals when he nets 52 during the 1946-47 season, and Phil Hergesheimer wins the scoring title with 92 points despite playing on a Philadelphia Rockets team that goes 5-52-7. A year later, Carl Liscombe (118) of the Providence Reds and Cliff Simpson (110) of the Indianapolis Capitals become the first pro players ever to top the 100-point mark.

The Buffalo Bisons set a single-game scoring mark in a 16-4 win over Philadelphia on November 14, 1948. St. Louis sets another attendance record during the 1949 postseason, as 15,331 fans pack the St. Louis Arena to see a semifinal game against Providence. Cleveland and Buffalo dominate the 1940's with each winning three Calder Cup championships. The Barons win six division titles and go to the Calder Cup Finals five times in the decade.

The Cincinnati Mohawks join the AHL in 1949-50. Led by future Hockey Hall of Fame goaltender Terry Sawchuk, the Indianapolis Capitals roll through the playoffs, winning eight games without a loss to claim their second Calder Cup championship.

A young Johnny Bower leads the Cleveland Barons to the 1951 Calder Cup. The Springfield franchise is on the move again, relocating to the new Onondaga County War Memorial in Syracuse in 1951-52. Head coach King Clancy, 30-goal scorer George Armstrong and star defensemen Tim Horton and Frank Mathers help the Pittsburgh Hornets to the Calder Cup in 1952. Maurice Podoloff, who had added responsibilities as commissioner of the Basketball Association of America (and later the NBA) since 1946, steps down as AHL president prior to the 1952-53 season.

The Cleveland Barons win the Calder Cup in 1953, defeating Pittsburgh, 1-0 in overtime, in Game 7 of the Finals on a goal from defenseman Bob Chrystal. George "Red" Sullivan records 89 assists for the Hershey Bears in 1953-54, a single-season record that still stands today. After three seasons in central New York, the Syracuse Warriors return to Springfield for the 1954-55 campaign.

The All-Star Game returns in October 1954, with a team of AHL stars facing the defending champion Cleveland Barons to raise money for a players' emergency fund. Zellio Toppazzini wins the scoring title with 113 points and Johnny Bower captures the first of his three consecutive MVP awards in leading the Providence Reds to a Calder Cup title in 1955-56.

The Rochester Americans join the league in 1956-57 and promptly go to the Calder Cup Finals where they lose to Cleveland. Player/coach Frank Mathers and business manager Baz Bastien move from Pittsburgh to Hershey in 1957-58 and lead the Bears to consecutive championships.

When the Quebec Aces are admitted to the league in August 1959, the AHL has its first true Canadian-based team.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Springfield Indians open the 60's by winning three straight Calder Cups and star center Bill Sweeney wins three straight AHL scoring titles, two feats that have yet to be duplicated. The Pittsburgh Hornets, who suspended operations when the Duquesne Gardens closed in 1956, return to the AHL in 1961-62 playing at the new Civic Arena.

Art Stratton enters the AHL record book with a nine-point game for the Buffalo Bisons in 1962-63. The Cleveland Barons win the last of their nine Calder Cup championships in 1964, defeating Quebec in the Finals. Rochester wins its first title in 1964-65, with future NHL coaches Al Arbour, Don Cherry and Gerry Cheevers leading the way on the ice. It would be the first of four straight Finals appearances for the Amerks, still an AHL record.

With eyes on a possible merger, the AHL and the Western Hockey League play an interlocking schedule in 1965-66, with each AHL club playing a home-and-home set against the WHL's six teams (Los Angeles, Portland, San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver, Victoria). Buffalo's Billy Dea ends his record ironman streak at 548 consecutive games played when he misses a game to attend his father's funeral.

Springfield Indians GM Jack Butterfield is named interim president of the AHL in August 1966 and is formally elected a year later; he will go on to guide the league for nearly three decades. The Pittsburgh Hornets win the Calder Cup in 1967, their final act in the AHL before giving way to the NHL expansion Penguins the next season.

The Los Angeles Kings purchase Eddie Shore's players from him in 1967-68 and rename his franchise the Springfield Kings. The AHL and WHL face each other again in regular-season play, but the two leagues do not merge and continue to operate independently. The Rochester Americans defeat Quebec to win their third Calder Cup in four years. Following the season, Cleveland Barons great Fred Glover retires to take over as head coach of the NHL's Oakland Seals; Glover leaves the AHL as the league's all-time leader in games played, goals, assists and points and with five Calder Cup championships to his credit.

Under the direction of general manager Sam Pollock, the Montreal Canadiens become the first NHL team to own and operate their AHL affiliate in the same market; the Voyageurs begin play at the Montreal Forum in 1969.

The Buffalo Bisons win their fifth and final Calder Cup in 1970, then cease operations as the NHL's Sabres begin play. The 1970-71 Springfield Kings, led by Butch Goring and Billy Smith, become the first team in league history to win the Calder Cup after posting a losing record during the regular season; in the Finals, the Kings, coached by Johnny Wilson, defeat the Providence Reds, who are coached by Johnny's younger brother Larry Wilson.

NHL expansion opens opportunities for new franchises and new markets in the AHL: in 1971-72, Montreal moves its operation to Halifax and wins the Calder Cup as the Nova Scotia Voyageurs; the Cincinnati Swords begin play as Buffalo's AHL affiliate; and the AHL expands its geography to Virginia with the Richmond Robins and Tidewater Wings (Hampton/Norfolk). But the biggest headlines are made by the Boston Braves, who pack Boston Garden with an average of 11,255 fans per game in their first year.

Willie Marshall eclipses Fred Glover's four major league records and retires leaves the AHL in 1972 as the league's all-time leading scorer with 523 goals, 852 assists and 1,375 points in 1,205 games over 20 seasons.

More changes in 1972-73, as the New Haven Nighthawks begin play and the Cleveland Barons move to Jacksonville mid-season. The Cincinnati Swords are the class of the league, rolling to the 1973 Calder Cup following a 54-win regular season; the Cup-clinching game, played at the Aud in Buffalo, draws 15,019 fans.

In 1974-75, Rochester's Doug Gibson becomes the first player ever to lead the AHL in goals, assists and points in the same season. The Springfield Kings become the Springfield Indians again as Eddie Shore resumes control of the franchise; the Indians finish fourth in the division but defeat Providence, Rochester and New Haven to win another championship. A year later, Shore sells the team, ending an era in Springfield hockey.

Nova Scotia wins back-to-back Calder Cup titles in 1976 and 1977, and with the Montreal Canadiens winning back-to-back Stanley Cups, it marks the first two times an organization captures the Calder and Stanley Cups in the same season.

President Jack Butterfield navigates the AHL through difficult times in the decade, and the league survives the loss of markets to NHL expansion and the appearance (and disappearance) of the World Hockey Association and the North American Hockey League. After just six teams play in 1976-77, the AHL adds franchises over the next three years in Portland, Maine; Binghamton, N.Y.; Moncton, N.B.; and Glens Falls, N.Y.

AHL teams begin a tradition of hosting exhibitions against clubs from the Soviet Union in 1977-78, as Dynamo Moscow visits six league arenas. The Hershey Bears' schedule is disrupted late in the 1978-79 season when Hersheypark Arena becomes a shelter in the aftermath of the nuclear accident at nearby Three Mile Island. The Maine Mariners follow their 1978 Calder Cup championship with another in 1979, becoming the only team in AHL history to win the title in each of its first two seasons.

With the Winter Olympics about to take place up the road in Lake Placid during the 1979-80 season, the Adirondack Red Wings host exhibitions against the national teams from the United States, West Germany, Sweden and Finland. The Hershey Bears win the Calder Cup in 1980, and Adirondack follows in 1981 in just its second season in the league.

New Haven's 4-OT win over Rochester in the first round of the 1982 playoffs breaks a 44-year-old AHL record for the longest game. With prospects from both the Chicago Blackhawks and Toronto Maple Leafs, the New Brunswick Hawks finish with the AHL's best record in 1981-82 and go on to win the Calder Cup. The Binghamton Whalers' Ross Yates (125 points) edges the St. Catharines Saints' Bruce Boudreau (122) for the 1982-83 scoring title. Under head coach Mike Keenan, Rochester defeats Maine for the 1983 Calder Cup; a year later, Maine beats Rochester to earn its third championship in seven seasons.

The 1984-85 Baltimore Skipjacks win a league-record 16 consecutive games and reach the Calder Cup Finals, but they fall to the Sherbrooke Canadiens and their 19-year-old rookie goaltender Patrick Roy, fresh out of junior hockey. Paul Gardner follows up a 130-point campaign with 112 points in 1985-86, becoming the first player in over 20 years to win consecutive AHL scoring titles. That same year Adirondack, led by head coach Bill Dineen, captures its second Calder Cup.

The AHL institutes a shootout to break ties in 1986-87. Brett Hull explodes into the AHL, winning the Dudley "Red" Garrett Award as the league's top rookie; Hull notches 50 goals with the Moncton Golden Flames in his only AHL season. On December 5, 1987, Rochester's Darcy Wakaluk becomes the first AHL goalie ever to score a goal. The AHL drops the shootout in favor of awarding a point for an overtime loss in 1987-88. Hershey wins the Calder Cup, rolling through the postseason unbeaten (12-0) with four-game sweeps of Binghamton, Adirondack and Fredericton.

The 1988-89 Sherbrooke Canadiens help rewrite the league's scoring records, thanks to rookie Stephan Lebeau – who posts 134 points and 70 goals – and Benoit Brunet, who sets a rookie record with 76 assists. But it's Adirondack that closes out the decade with its third championship in nine years, along the way becoming the second team in AHL history to erase an 0-3 deficit to win a best-of-seven playoff series; Adam Graves scores the OT winner in Game 7 to complete the semifinal comeback over Hershey.

The AHL enters the 1990's with the Springfield Indians winning back-to-back championships, as the New York Islanders' affiliate in 1990 and as the Hartford Whalers' affiliate in 1991 – defeating Rochester in the Finals both times. Toronto moves its affiliate to St. John's, Newfoundland, in 1991-92, and the Maple Leafs and head coach Marc Crawford promptly go to the Calder Cup Finals, where they lose to Adirondack and its head coach Barry Melrose in a memorable seven-game series in which the road team wins every game.

The Binghamton Rangers are the story of the 1992-93 regular season, losing just 13 of 80 games while forward Don Biggs sets the league's single-season scoring mark with 138 points. But the Rangers are upset by Rochester in the second round of the playoffs, and the Cape Breton Oilers ride the inconceivable hot streak of Bill McDougall to the Calder Cup championship: McDougall smashes Calder Cup records by posting 26 goals and 52 points in just 16 games during the 1993 postseason.

After the Maine Mariners move to Providence in 1992-93, the Baltimore Skipjacks move to Portland in 1993-94 and the Pirates win the Calder Cup behind playoff MVP Olaf Kolzig. After 28 years as league president, Jack Butterfield retires from the position and is replaced by David Andrews, GM of the '93 champion Cape Breton Oilers.

The AHL adopts roster rules prior to the 1994-95 season that put a sharper focus on its role as the top development league for the NHL. The puck drops for new teams in Springfield (Falcons), Worcester (IceCats) and Syracuse (Crunch). The AHL All-Star Game – the first such event in 35 years – is played in front of a sell-out crowd at the Providence Civic Center and is broadcast across North America on ESPN2, TSN and RDS. The Albany River Rats win the 1995 Calder Cup by sweeping the Fredericton Canadiens in the Finals, in the same year the parent New Jersey Devils win their first Stanley Cup.

For the league's 60th anniversary in 1995-96, the AHL adds teams in Baltimore and Greensboro, N.C., and is realigned into four divisions and two conferences for the first time. Teams receive a point for an overtime loss, a policy later adopted by the NHL. The All-Star Classic is held in Hershey as the league adds a Skills Competition to the All-Star Game. Brad Smyth of the Carolina Monarchs scores 68 goals in 68 games. Coach John Tortorella's Rochester Americans capture their sixth Calder Cup, defeating Barry Trotz's Portland Pirates in a seven-game Finals.

In 1996-97, the Philadelphia Phantoms and Kentucky Thoroughblades join the league and finish 1-2 in attendance. A record crowd of 20,672 fans watches the Carolina Monarchs face Kentucky at Greensboro Coliseum. Rochester participates in the Spengler Cup tournament in Davos, Switzerland, the first North American pro club ever invited to the event. The Phantoms compile the league's best regular-season mark including a record 19 straight home wins, but Hershey claims the eighth Calder Cup in team history by defeating the first-year Hamilton Bulldogs in the Finals. A year later, Philadelphia's Peter White wins his third scoring title in four years and leads the Phantoms to their first championship, the Cup-clinching game played before 17,380 fans at a sold-out Spectrum.

Philadelphia sets another AHL attendance record in 1998-99, averaging 12,002 fans per game. Under rookie head coach Peter Laviolette, the Providence Bruins master an incredible 70-point turnaround, winning 56 games in the regular season and capturing the Calder Cup just one season removed from a 19-54-7 outing. The AHL tests a 4-on-4 format in regular-season overtime, and adopts the policy the following year.

The Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins begin play in 1999-2000 at a brand-new facility in northeastern Pennsylvania. The Hartford Wolf Pack, who moved into Connecticut's capital when the NHL's Whalers departed in 1997, capture the city's first-ever pro hockey championship as John Paddock becomes the first head coach to win Calder Cups with three different teams. A redesigned Calder Cup trophy is unveiled in 2000-01, and the Saint John Flames bring a championship to Atlantic Canada.

The 2001-02 season is one of the most memorable in league history for a wide range of reasons. The year begins on a tragic note, as AHL alumni Ace Bailey and Mark Bavis are among the victims of the 9/11 terrorist attacks in New York City. Membership jumps to 27 teams and the geography of the league changes dramatically with the additions of nine teams, including six from the now-defunct International Hockey League as well as Bridgeport, Cleveland and Manchester. An incredibly competitive regular season ends with the top 17 teams separated by just 12 points. The playoff format expands to include 20 participants, 10 in each conference. The Hershey Bears play their final game at historic Hersheypark Arena, which first opened its doors in 1936. The Chicago Wolves, 16th overall in the regular season-standings, capture the Calder Cup in their first season in the AHL by winning five series in the postseason.

Bolstered by a dual affiliation with Montreal and Edmonton, the Hamilton Bulldogs dominate the 2002-03 regular season before being derailed by Houston in a classic seven-game Finals series. Springfield captain Rob Murray becomes the sixth player ever to skate in 1,000 AHL games. In 2003-04, Milwaukee finishes first overall in the regular season and then captures the Calder Cup with a convincing sweep of Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, the first league championship in franchise history. A record number of shutouts (210) highlights the "year of the goaltender," and Hartford backstop Jason LaBarbera claims the Les Cunningham Award as the AHL's MVP.

The NHL's lockout of 2004-05 provides the AHL with some of its brightest young talent ever. Jason Spezza rolls to the scoring championship racking up 117 points for Binghamton, while Rochester's Ryan Miller becomes the AHL's first 40-game winner in four decades. The shootout is re-introduced to decide a winner of games tied after overtime. And the league experiences its largest numbers ever at the gate, with more than 7.1 million fans attending games throughout North America, including several contests in NHL arenas. Philadelphia, which set an AHL record with a 17-game winning streak earlier in the season, sweeps Chicago to win the Calder Cup championship, clinching the title before a playoff-record 20,103 fans at the Wachovia Center.

Several facets of the NHL's new rules package are adopted by the AHL, which marks its 70th anniversary in 2005-06. Wilkes-Barre/Scranton storms out to the best start in league history by earning a point in its first 23 games (20-0-2-1). Philadelphia's John Slaney records his 454th career point, becoming the AHL's all-time scoring leader among defensemen. The AHL Hall of Fame is created, with Johnny Bower, Jack Butterfield, Jody Gage, Fred Glover, Willie Marshall, Frank Mathers and Eddie Shore inducted as the inaugural class. Hershey, which missed the playoffs the previous two seasons, begins an affiliation with the Washington Capitals and captures its record-tying ninth Calder Cup with a six-game win over Milwaukee in the Finals.

The Board of Governors overwhelmingly approves the mandatory use of protective visors by all AHL players beginning in 2006-07. Hershey seems destined to repeat as champions, finishing with a league-best 114 points in the regular season. Chicago's Darren Haydar sets an AHL record by recording a point in 39 consecutive games, while teammate Brett Sterling scores 55 goals, the most by an AHL rookie in 16 years. But the Wolves and Bears both fall in the playoffs to the upstart Hamilton Bulldogs and Carey Price, who duplicates Patrick Roy's feat from 22 years earlier and leads Montreal's affiliate to a Calder Cup champion as a 19-year-old goaltender fresh out of junior hockey.

Chicago comes back in 2007-08 and wins its second Calder Cup, holding off Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in six games in the Finals. Wolves forward Jason Krog becomes just the third player to lead the AHL in goals, assists and points in the same season, then does the same in the playoffs. After leading Hershey to back-to-back Finals appearances, Bruce Boudreau is promoted by the Washington Capitals in mid-season and goes on to capture the Jack Adams Award as the NHL's coach of the year.

Hershey reaches the Calder Cup Finals for the third time in four years in 2008-09 and wins its record 10th championship with a six-game series victory over the Manitoba Moose. Bears forward Alexandre Giroux sets a league record by scoring a goal in 15 straight games, and winds up the fifth AHL player ever to score 60 in a season. Head coach Dan Bylsma is promoted from Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in February and leads the Pittsburgh Penguins to the Stanley Cup.

The first-ever outdoor game in AHL history highlights the 2009-10 season, as the Syracuse Crunch draw a league-record 21,508 fans to the New York State Fairgrounds for a meeting with the Binghamton Senators. The Hershey Bears set records with 60 victories and a 24-game home winning streak in the regular season, and Bears forwards Keith Aucoin and Alexandre Giroux are the league's top two scorers for the second year in a row. The Abbotsford Heat begin play, the AHL's first team ever in the Pacific time zone. In the playoffs, the first-year Texas Stars reach the Finals but fall to Hershey as the Bears become the AHL's first repeat champions since 1991.

The AHL reaches 30 active teams for the first time in 2010-11. The Oklahoma City Barons' Bryan Helmer becomes the top-scoring defenseman in league history, and also plays his 1,000th game. While Wilkes-Barre/Scranton cruises through the regular season with 58 wins, the rest of the league engages in several tight races down the stretch. The Binghamton Senators qualify for the playoffs via the crossover as the fifth-place team in the East Division and earn a historic first-round win over Manchester, erasing a 3-1 series deficit by taking each of the final three games in overtime. The Sens go on to take out Portland, Charlotte and Houston to earn the first championship in 29 seasons of AHL hockey in Broome County.

The Norfolk Admirals put together one of the greatest seasons in AHL history in 2011-12, garnering headlines around the world with their professional-hockey record 28-game winning streak. The Adirondack Phantoms and Hershey Bears battle outdoors at Citizens Bank Park in Philadelphia and more than double the AHL's single-game attendance record when 45,653 fans watch the game. Hamilton hosts Toronto outside at Ivor Wynne Stadium before the largest crowd ever to watch AHL hockey in Canada (20,565). Coach Jon Cooper's Admirals roll to their first Calder Cup with a 15-3 playoff record, sweeping Toronto in the Finals. The first three months of the 2012-13 AHL season are headlined by an even greater influx of young talent in the wake of an NHL work stoppage. Justin Schultz's record pace with Oklahoma City earns him the Eddie Shore Award as the AHL's outstanding defenseman, and fellow Edmonton Oilers budding stars Jordan Eberle, Taylor Hall and Ryan Nugent-Hopkins also turn hockey's attention to OKC. Following an affiliation switch to Syracuse, Tampa Bay's top prospects make a second consecutive trip to the Calder Cup Finals, but the Grand Rapids Griffins — led by playoff MVP Tomas Tatar — bring West Michigan its first championship by prevailing in a thrilling postseason run.

The AHL returns to Utica, N.Y., in 2013-14 as the Comets begin play at a renovated Memorial Auditorium. Rochester is once again invited to participate in the Spengler Cup tournament. The league plays host to Farjestad BK of the Swedish Hockey League at the AHL All-Star Classic in St. John's. Chicago's Jake Allen leads the AHL in all four major goaltending categories (wins, GAA, save percentage and shutouts). Travis Morin earns both regular-season and playoff MVP honors and wins both scoring titles as the Texas Stars go wire-to-wire, finishing with the best record in the league before capturing the franchise's first Calder Cup with a Finals win over the St. John's IceCaps.

Wilkes-Barre/Scranton rookie Matt Murray sets several records during the 2014-15 season, including the longest shutout streak ever by an AHL goaltender (304:11). The AHL adopts a new overtime format that includes time played at 3-on-3, bringing even more excitement to the extra period. The Syracuse Crunch set an all-time attendance record for an indoor pro hockey game in the U.S. as 30,715 fans watch their game against Utica at the Carrier Dome. The Lehigh Valley Phantoms are a hit with fans in their first season in Allentown, selling out 22 games at the beautiful new PPL Center. The Manchester Monarchs capture a bittersweet Calder Cup in their final season in the Queen City.

The AHL's geography changes dramatically in 2015-16 with the formation of a Pacific Division and the addition of five teams in California. The Manitoba Moose also return to the fold as the Winnipeg Jets' new top affiliate. Two long-standing league records fall, as San Jose's Roy Sommer passes Bun Cook to become the winningest head coach in AHL history, and Rockford's Michael Leighton surpasses Johnny Bower's mark for career shutouts. Ontario's Peter Budaj wins 42 games, the most by an AHL goalie in 55 years. The AHL's 80th-anniversary season ends with a Finals matchup between two of the league's most tenured cities, and the Lake Erie Monsters complete a 15-2 postseason run with a sweep of Hershey to bring the Calder Cup to Cleveland for the first time since 1964.

Kenny Agostino runs away with the AHL scoring title and earns MVP honors in 2016-17, helping the Chicago Wolves to a division title. Wilkes-Barre/Scranton finishes with the best regular-season record in the AHL while continuing to develop Stanley Cup champions: 2016-17 AHL All-Rookie forward Jake Guentzel leads the NHL with 13 playoff goals as Pittsburgh wins its second straight title. For the second time in five seasons, the Grand Rapids Griffins defeat the Syracuse Crunch in six games to capture the Calder Cup.

In 2017-18, the AHL welcomes Laval, Que., and Belleville, Ont., to the league. Several AHL players represent their countries at the Olympics in PyeongChang, South Korea, including Stockton's Cody Goloubef, Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's Christian Thomas and Belleville's Chris Kelly, who win bronze with Canada. Lehigh Valley needs five overtimes to beat Charlotte in Game 4 of their playoff series, the longest game in AHL history. The Toronto Marlies set the pace from start to finish, leading the league with 54 wins and 112 points during the regular season before outlasting Texas in the first seven-game Calder Cup Finals since 2003.

The Colorado Eagles join the AHL in 2018-19, bringing the league to 31 teams for the first time. The Utica Comets continue to fill the Adirondack Bank Center and set a new league record for consecutive sellouts. Recalled from San Antonio on January, Jordan Binnington goes on to backstop the St. Louis Blues to their first Stanley Cup championship. The Charlotte Checkers roll to the regular-season title, then capture their first Calder Cup with a five-game victory over Chicago in the Finals.

With teams gearing up for a run at the Calder Cup Playoffs, the 2019-20 season is abruptly suspended on March 12 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The campaign is officially canceled on May 11, marking the first time in 84 years that the Calder Cup will not be awarded. David Andrews retires as President and CEO on June 30, succeeded by Scott Howson. Many AHL graduates play prominent roles when the NHL resumes its season in August. Tampa Bay and Dallas meet in a Stanley Cup Final between two organizations with long-running development success in the AHL, and the Lightning's six-game victory makes Jon Cooper just the eighth head coach ever to win both Stanley Cup and Calder Cup titles.

The 2020-21 season is delayed until as the pandemic continues, finally getting underway in February with 28 teams participating with abbreviated schedules of varying lengths. With fans unable to attend games, several teams operate out of practice facilities or their NHL affiliates' rinks, including in Montreal, Ottawa and Calgary. The Henderson Silver Knights begin play in Las Vegas and are one of the most successful first-year clubs in league history, finishing atop the Pacific Division during the regular season.

A full 1,118-game schedule is played in 2021-22, including a return to Abbotsford with the first-year Canucks joining the league. For the first time ever, 10 female referees and linespeople join the league's roster of on-ice officials. The Chicago Wolves defeat the Springfield Thunderbirds to claim the Calder Cup as the league hands out its championship trophy for the first time in three years.

The AHL reaches 32 teams for the first time in 2022-23, and returns to a unified schedule length as each club plays 72 games. In their first season playing in Alberta, the Calgary Wranglers capture the Macgregor Kilpatrick Trophy with the league's best record in the regular season while Mitch Love is named coach of the year for the second straight season and Dustin Wolf earns top goaltender and league MVP honors. The expansion Coachella Valley Firebirds spend the first two months on the road while Acrisure Arena is completed, then compile 48 wins and 103 points before making a storybook run to the Calder Cup Finals. But the Hershey Bears spoil the Cinderella story and capture their 12th Calder Cup when Mike Vecchione becomes the first player in league history to score a sudden-death overtime goal in Game 7 of the Finals.

A sixth-round pick by Vancouver in the 2019 NHL Draft, Arturs Silovs made his NHL debut with the Canucks last season, going 3-2-0 in five games. He won AHL Goaltender of the Month honors in February after stopping 109 of 113 shots, and later earned MVP honors at the 2023 IIHF World Championship after backstopping Latvia to a bronze medal.

Brayden Pachal

Silver Knights captain and 2023 AHL All-Star Brayden Pachal made his Stanley Cup Playoffs debut last spring, suiting up for Vegas' series-clinching win over Winnipeg on Apr. 27. Pachal also skated in 10 regular-season games for the Golden Knights and totaled 15 points in 55 games for Henderson as well.

UW-Milwaukee Panther Arena

The Admirals returned to the UW-Milwaukee Panther Arena in 2016, the place they called home from the early 1970's until 1986. One of the first TV-friendly venues in the nation, the building originally known as Milwaukee Arena came of age with rock and roll and later gained fame as the MECCA, a house of champions with a reputation for unparalleled fan intensity and an audacious pop-art basketball floor. A major 1998 renovation readied the building for the 21st century with new technology and enhanced accommodations for both patrons and productions, while retaining its fervor-inducing geometry and super-strong, ready-to-rip ceiling.

Joe Crozier (1929-2022)

Crozier guided the Amerks through one of the most impressive runs in AHL history: four consecutive Calder Cup Finals appearances and championships in 1965, 1966 and 1968. He made several additional coaching stops, including the Buffalo Sabres and Toronto Maple Leafs in the NHL and the Cincinnati Swords and New Brunswick Hawks in the AHL, before returning to the Amerks for one last season in 1983-84 and leading the club to yet another Finals appearance.

Inducted into the AHL Hall of Fame in 2012, Crozier compiled a record of 305-19-46 (.596) over eight AHL seasons and is one of only six coaches in league history to win three Calder Cups.

The MassMutual Center has served as home of AHL hockey in Springfield for five decades. The arena, known originally as the Springfield Civic Center, opened in 1972 and has undergone two major changes, including a $71-million renovation effort that was completed in 2005 and a $3.2-million technology upgrade to the center-hung video board, digital signage and LED lighting. The MassMutual Center has played host to the AHL All-Star Classic in 2019 as well as four Calder Cup Finals (1975, 1990, 1991, 2022).

Adirondack Bank Center at the Utica Memorial Auditorium

Owned by the Upper Mohawk Valley Memorial Auditorium Authority, the Adirondack Bank Center at the Utica Memorial Auditorium opened in 1960 on the site of the old Erie Canal and at the time was among the first of three cable-suspended roofs in the world. The Aud, as it is affectionately known, was recognized in 2011 as a National Historical Civil Engineering Landmark, and underwent construction in 2017 to add six executive suites plus a unique meeting space for up to 50 guests overlooking the main event space.

OVERTIME GAMES

NOTE — In 1995-96, the AHL began awarding one point for an overtime loss. During the 1998-99 season, the league tested the 4-on-4 overtime format and subsequently adopted the policy beginning with the 1999-2000 season. In 2004-05, the AHL added a shootout to resolve regular-season games that were still tied at the end of overtime. In 2014-15, the AHL introduced a 7-minute overtime period that included 3-on-3 play. Starting in 2015-16, overtime was played for 5 minutes at 3-on-3.

THE STORY OF THE CALDER CUP

The coveted Calder Cup has been a motivational force for American Hockey League teams throughout the League's 88-year history. It is one of our sport's greatest challenges and ultimate honors to hoist the Calder Cup in victory.

The trophy is named for Frank Calder, who served as the National Hockey League's first President from 1917 to 1943. During the 1920's, Mr. Calder was instrumental in guiding hockey into the mainstream of America's major cities including Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago, while helping in the formation of the American League.

The Calder Cup trophy itself was actually first awarded in 1938 to the Providence Reds for winning the second International-American Hockey League championship. (In 1996, George Parsons of the Syracuse Stars was presented the Calder Cup in a ceremony at the Onondaga County War Memorial, as it is believed the Stars never received a trophy for their 1937 championship.)

In 2001, the trophy's base was changed to include two tiers of plaques, which feature the rosters of each of the last 20 Calder Cup champions; the plaques from all previous champions are on display in the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. The entire Calder Cup trophy now stands 24 inches tall and weighs 25 pounds. The bowl, made of sterling silver, is 12 inches high and eight inches in diameter. The hardwood base is made of Brazilian mahogany.

A total of 33 different cities have had their AHL member club win the Calder Cup, led by Hershey with 12 and Cleveland with 10. Springfield (seven), Rochester (six), Providence (five), Chicago (three) and Grand Rapids (two) are the other active cities with more than one title.

Twenty-nine members of the Hockey Hall of Fame have won the Calder Cup in their careers, including Johnny Bower, Terry Sawchuk, Emile Francis, Gerry Cheevers, Al Arbour, Andy Bathgate, Larry Robinson, Doug Harvey, Patrick Roy and Fred Shero.

Not only have great players won the Calder Cup, but outstanding coaches have also hoisted the AHL's championship trophy. Hall of Famer Fred "Bun" Cook holds the distinction of winning seven Calder Cups in his career; no other AHL head coach has ever won more than three. Current NHL head coaches with Calder Cup titles on their resumes include John Tortorella (Rochester, 1996), Peter Laviolette (Providence, 1999), Todd McLellan (Houston, 2003), Jon Cooper (Norfolk, 2012), Jared Bednar (Lake Erie, 2016) and Sheldon Keefe (Toronto, 2018).

More than 100 players and coaches have won both the Calder Cup and Stanley Cup in their careers, including Ace Bailey, Brian Engblom, Dick Gamble, Butch Goring, Adam Graves, Peter Mahovlich, Kirk Maltby, Ab McDonald, Patrick Sharp, Fred Shero, Brian Skrudland, Jeff Carter, Braden Holtby, John Carlson, Alex Killorn and Ondrej Palat.

Two-time Calder Cup champion Darren Haydar is the AHL's all-time leader in playoff goals (63) and points (143), and three-time winner Bryan Helmer has played in more Calder Cup Playoff games (159) than anyone else. Marcel Paille's 49 playoff victories are the most ever by a goaltender, and Bill McDougall set single-season records that may never be broken when he tallied 26 goals, 26 assists and 52 points during the 1993 postseason with the Cape Breton Oilers.

Four men share the honor of having won the most Calder Cups during their playing careers: Bob Solinger, Les Duff, Fred Glover and Mike Busniuk each skated to five titles.

Calder Cup-winning teams have impacted significantly on the success of their NHL parent clubs. On three occasions an AHL club and its NHL affiliate won their league championships in the same year: In 1976 and 1977, the Montreal Canadiens won the Stanley Cup while their AHL affiliate, the Nova Scotia Voyageurs, won the Calder Cup, and in 1995, the Stanley Cup champion New Jersey Devils saw their AHL affiliate, the Albany River Rats, win a title as well. In 2008, the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins and their parent club in Pittsburgh both reached their respective league Finals, and in 2019, the Charlotte Checkers won the Calder Cup while the Carolina Hurricanes reached the NHL's Eastern Conference Final.

Only one team in 88 years has been able to win the Calder Cup in three consecutive seasons: the Springfield Indians, under the leadership of AHL and Hockey Hall of Famer Eddie Shore and Jack Butterfield, skated to Calder Cup championships in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Joey Daccord

Fan favorite Joey Daccord achieved cult-hero status in Coachella Valley during the Firebirds' storybook run to the Calder Cup Finals, playing all 26 games and registering a 2.22 GAA, a .926 save percentage and three shutouts. Daccord blanked Hershey in Games 1 and 2 of the Finals, becoming the first AHL goaltender in 84 years to accomplish that feat.
